Proclamations Will Call Men To Service In Active Army

To Be Read From City Hall Steps

OTTAWA, July 2.—(CP)—Proclamations urging men of military age to enlist in the Canadian Active Army will be read from the steps of city and town halls across Canada Thursday and Friday, national defence headquarters announced today.

The proclamation will be delivered by military couriers to civic officials throughout the Dominion "In an up-to-date adaptation of an old-time custom," the announcement from defence headquarters said.

Military dispatch riders mounted on motorcycles will deliver the proclamations to mayors and reeves of all cities, towns and villages in Canada.

ANCIENT CUSTOM

"In Canada's early days when freedom was threatened the system of calling the citizenry to the defence of their homes was for a horseman to gallop to the outlying districts with an official proclamation that was to be read to the public from the town hall steps," the announcement said.

"Today, when Canada's freedom is again being threatened, the same system is being used, but with a modern twist."

Terming the proclamations a modern "call to arms," the announcement said great cities had replaced pioneer settlements and modern military vehicles had replaced horses, but the "need for men and the urgency of the situation" remained.

"With that view in mind," it continued, "national defence headquarters has issued a modern proclamation calling Canadians to arms."

The proclamations will be written in old English on parchment paper and will be tied with red ribbons.

First Canadian-Made Gun And Carriage Completed

The first complete gun and carriage to be manufactured in Canada was viewed yesterday by government and army officials. Photo at left shows the 25-pounder just after completion. Photo, right, shows gun barrels waiting to be mounted on carriages. Some of the improved features of this gun over the old 18-pounder are: pneumatic-tired gun carriages; improved sighting arrangements; the fact that when it is in action it is mounted on a firing platform and the angle of elevation has been considerably increased.

British Air Offensive Continues

R.A.F. Downs 17 German Planes

Today's War Moves

By British United Press

BRITAIN'S shift to India of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, her famed commander in the Near East, possibly is a form of insurance against an adverse outcome of Germany's war in Russia.

The German high command has just proclaimed a major victory over an army of some 400,000 Russians north of the Pripet marshes between Bialystok and Minsk. Coming directly from the high command, which usually has been reasonably accurate in important announcements, the news warrants serious consideration.

Even if wholly true, however, it does not signify the cracking up of the Red army. If the Germans are to be victorious, there still are other Russian armies scattered from the Arctic to the Black Sea. There is no main front in this war, but rather a series of fronts which must be reduced separately. It is a war of battle in depth, in some places as much as 200 miles.

NOT BEGINNING OF END

Dies At 105

Edmonton's grand old man, 105-year-old Joseph Haire, who died Monday night after having been in failing health since last winter. He was Alberta's oldest resident and was also believed to be the oldest person in Canada.

Death Claims 105-Year-Old Joseph Haire

On the eve of Canada's Dominion Day celebrations, death came peacefully Monday evening to 105-year-old Joseph Haire, the oldest man in Alberta and believed to be the oldest in Canada.

The patriarch died at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Smith, 12201 88 street.

Irish-born Joseph Haire, whose birthday celebrations on each St. Patrick's Day had become an event in the city and district, and throughout Canada, had been in failing health during the past few months. Even so, he had taken three meals as usual on the day of his death, relatives said, and seemed active until a few hours before 8 p.m. when in the presence of hastily-summoned relatives he passed peacefully away.

CONDOLENCES

Tuesday and Wednesday saw hundreds of condolences reaching the family, including those from Premier Aberhart and Mayor Fry.

General Wavell Transferred To India Command

LONDON, July 2—(CP)—Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, commander in chief in the Middle East, was transferred today to the post of commander in chief in India, exchanging commands with Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck.

At the same time, Capt. Oliver Lyttleton, who Sunday relinquished the post of president of the board of trade, was appointed minister of state and member of the war cabinet to represent the cabinet in the Middle East.

The announcement of both changes came from No. 10 Downing street, official residence of Prime Minister Churchill.

The formal notice said Capt. Lyttleton, as representative of the war cabinet in the Middle East, "will concert on their behalf measures necessary for the prosecution of the war in that theatre other than the conduct of military operations."

Conscription Issue May Force Appeal to People Premier King Intimates

VANCOUVER, July 2.—(CP)—Possibility of an appeal to the people on the issue of conscription "should a situation develop where the people's representatives in parliament believe there should be a reversal of policy," was seen in an address here Monday by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Mr. King speaking to a great gathering of Vancouver men at a combined Board of Trade and service club luncheon, reaffirmed his government's pledge that service of Canadians overseas should be voluntary.

He then commented on urgings of what he said was a small but vocal group, that there should be conscription for a total war effort.

For him to heed those urgings would be to break a pledge solemnly given before and since the war, and accepted by the people who returned his government with an unprecedented majority last year.

Broken promises and bad faith "are the very forces against which Canadians are fighting today," the Prime Minister said.

"That being so I wish the more emphatically to affirm the govern-

Nazis Claim 100,000 Red Soldiers Taken Prisoner, Trapped Armies Destroyed

BERLIN, July 2.—(AP)—The German high command, claiming swift progress into Soviet Russia, asserted today that 100,000 Red army soldiers have been captured and "a large part" of Russia's allegedly trapped armies destroyed in the Bailystok-Minsk area.

Two communiques "from the Fuehrer's headquarters" also claimed portentous quantities of Russian tanks and field guns seized.

A special war bulletin placed the claimed elimination of a huge Red army force "east of Bialystok". This is the area in which the German thrusts have reported two Russian armies pocketed in the tongue of Soviet-occupied territory between East Prussia and German-occupied Poland.

In this battle, it claimed, 400 captured armored cars and 300 cannon have been counted. Just to the south, the regular communique

Soviet Battleships Destroy Rumanian Port Of Constanza

MOSCOW, July 2.—(BUP)—The Rusian naval publication "Red Fleet" reports in Moscow that heavy shelling by Soviet battleships has destroyed the German-Rumanian port of Constanza—on the Black Sea coast.

The Russian newspaper said the shelling was carried out in a surprise raid from the sea. Russian warcraft successfully fought off attempts of German Stukas to cripple them on the trip back to their base.

North France Is Attacked In Daylight Raids

LONDON, July 2.—(CP)—Seventeen German planes were destroyed by the Royal Air Force today in a series of daylight raids on northern France. Three of the enemy craft were bagged by the American Eagle squadron.

Strong forces smashed across the channel late this morning and squadrons of fighters and bombers still were streaking over northern France during the afternoon, following up a night attack in which British bombs straddled the dock of a German battleship at Brest.

The R.A.F. acknowledged that two bombers and seven fighters were lost in the daylight sweeps. The first large scale offensive against occupied France in which the American Eagle Squadron had taken part.

ATTACK IN WAVES

An airdrome at Merville, near Lille, and a railways junction south of Lille were bombed by Blenheims escorted by a strong fighter escort. Bombs burst on runways and buildings and among dispersed aircraft.

"The attacks were pressed home in the face of heavy opposition from ground defences and a large number of enemy fighters were beaten off with heavy losses," it continued.

"Reports so far received show that 17 enemy aircraft were destroyed, of which two were shot down by our bombers. Three of the enemy fighters destroyed were shot down by the Eagle Squadron."

Waves of planes, often so high they could only be heard, swept in and out over the coast and the distant rumbles of explosions indicated that targets were well inland.

The opposite shore could not be seen, however, because of a heat haze which limited visibility to about five miles.

MANY PLANES USED

As the flights continued into the afternoon without let-up, observers said the R.A.F. apparently was sending increasingly large numbers of planes into the aerial offensive

Casualties Heavy For Hun Forces

MOSCOW, July 2—(BUP)—The Red army was officially reported today to have struck back with heavy blows that wiped out advance tank units of the German mechanized forces on the vital central front and to have checked the advance of enemy motorized infantry attempting to consolidate Panzer division gains.

Heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy by counter-attacks and by aerial bombardments, the war communique reported, especially on the central Minsk-Dvinsk front where the Nazi tank thrusts had reached beyond the pre-war frontiers of Russia. A total of 156 German planes were reported destroyed on Monday and Tuesday, including 54 on Tuesday compared to 23 lost by the Soviets.

The number of "enemy vanguard tank units" destroyed by the Red army counter thrusts was not indicated by the communique but importance was attached to a statement that "our air force bombed enemy tank troops in the Dvinsk and Minsk directions . . . checking the advance of enemy infantry."

British Mission To Moscow High-Powered Group

Lt.-General MacFarlane Is Star Of Them All

Hard-Boiled Britisher Knows More About Nazi Army Than Anyone Else

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN

LONDON, July 2.—(CDN)—The combined military, naval, air and economic mission, which the British whisked off to Moscow at the beginning of the German-Russian conflict, is probably the highest powered group of Britishers ever sent on a special mission anywhere—the United States excepted.

Lt.-Gen. Mason MacFarlane, who heads the military mission, is the star of them all and will contribute a high degree of realism to the British representation in Moscow. He is a hard-boiled, steel-eyed man of 51, who probably knows more about the German army than anybody else in the British army. He served for years as military attache in Berlin and was closely acquainted with many of Germany's highest ranking generals. Later he was director of military intelligence of the British expeditionary force in France where he displayed astounding knowledge of German movements and intentions.

EXCLUSIVE

Various visits to Lt.-Gen. MacFarlane's closely guarded map room proved to all corresponds that he knew where practically every German armored division was stationed and his candid prognostications of what those armored divisions would do proved uniformly correct.

DESPERATE EFFORT

When the Germans struck through Flanders in May, 1940, "Mason Mac" made a desperate effort to keep up his intelligence work. When that proved impossible because the Germans were moving so rapidly he collected a gang of bottlewashers, tailors and other human odds and ends and formed the so-called Mac force, which was entrusted with guarding certain things which could not be allowed to fall into German hands.

When he returned from France, Mason Mac got himself into very hot water by telling everybody who would listen to him why things had gone wrong. He was sent to Gibraltar but later returned to England and was given command of a division. The Russians, who have always complained of the people the British have sent to Moscow, can't have any kick coming here.

Air Vice Marshal A. C. Collier, who heads the air mission, was air attache in Moscow from 1936 until the signing of the German-Russian pact in 1939 and is the best possible man to send there. Rear Admiral J. H. D. Miles, head of the naval mission, is a strategist and has a good standing with the admiralty, which will allow him to concentrate the full unconvincible admiralty of certain facts which it ought to know.

HEADS MISSION

Laurence Cadbury, head of the economic mission, is a Liberal-minded capitalist, who has served as the director of the Bank of England and has an interest in the London News-Chronicle.

What remains to be seen is whether the Russians will feel able to co-operate with these people in any useful way and whether their traditional mania for secrecy will even allow them to tell the British what they will have to know.

Consideration Is Given Canadians

OTTAWA, July 2.—(CP)—Canadian troops serving in Newfoundland will get their Christmas parcels, beer and other canteen supplies at new low prices as a result of an arrangement with the Newfoundland government, it was announced Tuesday night by Reven e Minister Colin Gibson.

The new customs arrangement provides that cigarets for the troops may be imported into Newfoundland free of duty and that spirits and beer for use in messes may be bought from the Newfoundland Liquor Commission free of duty. Cigarets made in Newfoundland may be bought by the troops tax-free. Automobiles for use of members of the force may also be imported free of duty.

Individual parcels from private persons for members of the forces will continue to enter free of duty as in the past but in future they must be addressed in care of the officer commanding the unit of the man to whom the parcels are sent.

Orange Lodges' Church Parade For Next Sunday

Church parade of all Orange Lodges in the city will be held at Metropolitan church on Sunday next, it was announced Wednesday by the 12th of July committee. All members are asked to be at the Orange Hall, 84 Avenue, South Side, at 6:45 p.m. sharp.

It is also announced that the annual celebration of the "Glorious Twelfth" will be held at the South Side Athletic Grounds on the afternoon of July 12. All members are asked to bring a basket lunch and all bringing visitors are asked to provide refreshments for them. Ice cream, tea and coffee will be provided at the grounds and sports will be held during the afternoon.

Cabinet Ministers Taking Vacations

Holidays will be commenced for provincial cabinet ministers. Hon. W. F. Chrismer, minister of public mines, has left for Waterton Lakes with his family where they will vacation. Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer, also has left on his annual vacation.

Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, left for a holiday on Tuesday, while Hon. Duncan Marshall, K.C., minister of municipal affairs, will leave next week for a motor trip to Jasper, Banff and other mountain resorts.

Premier William Aberhart and other cabinet ministers will take their holidays later.

F.D.R. Has Hope Nation Will Be Able Avoid War

By DOUGLAS S. CORNELL
HYDE PARK, N.Y., July 2—(AP)—With a firmness undiminished by the latest phases of the war, President Roosevelt voiced once again Tuesday a hope that the United States can keep out of the conflict.

Certainly Americans—and he included himself in his statement—are all against war just as they are all against sin, he said.

Yet, with the conviction with which he always has appraised publicly American chances of keeping out of the fighting, the President did not go so far as to say he believes the United States can remain at peace.

ONLY A HOPE

In fact, he went to some pains, at a press conference, to make it plain that he was voicing only a hope, as he has done many times before.

Even so, his words attained a measure of extra significance from the fact that some critics have been contending the administration's handling the country toward active participation in the war, and some administration officials have been urging greater and more effective aid for foes of the Axis, including use of the navy.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked whether he approved the recommendation of Navy Secretary Frank Knox, in a speech at Boston Monday night, that United States warships be employed to clear the Atlantic for delivery of war aid to Britain.

The president said merely that he did not think there was any comment.

WAR POLLS

He did discuss war polls, being conducted by Representative Hamilton Fish (Rep.-N.Y.), and by the New York Daily News, to determine whether the people think the United States should go to war.

Obviously the president said, anybody could vote only one way. Certainly Americans are all against war, he declared.

The New York Daily News is conducting a poll on this question: "Shall the United States enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler."

First results of the poll, to be published Wednesday, showed 2,100 "no" votes and 861 "yes." The areas polled were in Manhattan borough of New York City, Albany and Ulster counties.

June Warmest For 22 Years

Edmonton had the warmest June in 22 years, according to the monthly totals released by Mrs. W. H. Swaen, supervisor of the Dominion Meteorological Service, Wednesday. Mean temperature for the month was 61.1 degrees above.

Highest temperature during the month was 86 above, as compared with the all-time high of 99 above in 1927. Lowest maximum temperature recorded for June was 49 above in 1940. Lowest temperature recorded during the month was 34 above, as compared with the lowest minimum of 28 above in 1922.

Total precipitation during June for this area was 4.86 inches. Highest total for the same period was 5.97 inches in 1931. Lowest total was recorded in 1919 when only .87 inches of rain fell.

A total of 236.1 hours of sunshine was recorded during June. High year was 1919 when a total of 308.6 hours was listed. During 1931 the low of 143.2 was recorded.

Insurance Act To Be Explained

R. Dawson, F.F.C.S., secretary-manager of the Canadian Society of Cost Accountants and Industrial Engineers, Hamilton, Ontario, will address a public meeting on the workings of the new Unemployment Insurance Act Monday next at 8:15 p.m. in the Macdonald hotel, rooms A, B and C.

This meeting was announced by W. Morawe, inspector in charge for the Edmonton division. The meeting has been arranged owing to the great interest shown by employers and employees in the operation of the Act.

Mr. Dawson, it was stated, has a wide knowledge of the problems of the modern business executive and his employees. At the conclusion of his address the meeting will be thrown open for general discussion. An invitation to all interested in the Act is issued.

It was stated Wednesday that while school boards come under the Act, through a decision of the department of justice, this is for the insuring of all employees other than teachers, superintendents and supervisors.

U.S. Navy Should Help Wipe Out Nazi Menace Knox Says

WASHINGTON, July 2—(BUP)—Monday night the American Navy Secretary Knox came out with a strong statement. He told listeners that he felt the American navy should help wipe out the German menace in the Atlantic ocean. Those were his exact words.

Yesterday and today isolationists in the United States had a field day. They cried that Knox should be thrown out of the cabinet.

They wanted to know if Knox had consulted the President or the cabinet before he made the statement.

Today at a press conference Knox just smiled.

He smiled, and said, "My statement still goes I still feel the United States navy should help clear the Atlantic of the German menace."

for Sir Archibald, hero of the British thrust into Libya which destroyed an Italian army last winter but which was partly nullified by a subsequent German-Italian drive to the Egyptian frontier, it said that "it is hoped that new wartime appointments, the duration of which depends upon the military situation."

Sir Claude, who replaces Sir Archibald, has been commander in chief in Indian since Jan. 27. He served in Egypt, Aden, Iraq and Kurdistan during the First Great War and saw active service on India's northwest frontier in 1923 and 1925.

Sir Claude, despite his direction of the successful attack on Narvik, Norway, last year, and outstanding work in organizing Britain's coastal defences as general officer commanding the southern command, is almost unknown to the public.

UNEXPECTED SHAKEUP

No reason was given in the announcement made at No. 10 Downing street, residence of Prime Minister Churchill. But this unexpected military shake-up was interpreted variously as evidence that:

1—Gen. Wavell had been shelved because of the German breakthrough in Libya and the loss of the Greek island of Crete, or

2—Gen. Wavell is being sent to prepare troops in British India for defence of that vast part of the empire against a possible German attack through Russia and Iran.

Evidence that Mr. Churchill and his advisers consider the middle eastern command all the more vital now that Germany is marching into Russia was seen in the simultaneous appointment of Capt. Lyttleton.

Should the Vichy French forces capitulate in Syria, this 48-year-old comparative political stripling whom Mr. Churchill regards as one of the government's "promising young men" will be on hand to handle armistice terms.

It is understood that Capt. Lyttleton will make his headquarters in Cairo. His appointment creates an historic precedent as he will not be the first member of the war cabinet to be posted in an overseas war zone.

POSSIBLE GERMAN MOVE

In some quarters it was said that the statement of the Middle East command before the German onslaught on Crete that the island could be defended with available R.A.F. support has weighed against Gen. Wavell in consideration of that defeat.

But others said Gen. Wavell's shift to India was further proof of the government's fears of a German stroke toward India through Russia and they recalled Mr. Churchill's broadcast warning June 22 that the Nazis evidently were embarked on a conquest of Asia, including India.

Transfer of Gen. Wavell, who probably is the No. 1 military hero of the war in the eyes of most of the British people, from the Middle East to India caused belief in some quarters that the high command expects the situation in Egypt and the Middle East may remain static for several months and thus feels Gen. Wavell could be used to better advantage elsewhere while little prevails there.

Gen. Auchinleck, a tall 57-year-old Scotsman, has long been an advocate of the new defensive warfare involving mobility and surprise.

FRESH MIND FOR NEAR EAST PROBLEMS

CANBERRA, July 2.—(CP)—Prime Minister R. G. Menzies told the Australian House of Representatives today that the transfer of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell from the Middle East to India "doesn't mean supersession of Gen. Wavell, who has done the noblest work."

"In all circumstances, it was felt the opportunity should be taken to place a fresh mind on the problems of the Middle East," Mr. Menzies said.

Asked if additional responsibility would be given Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, deputy ... der in the could only be in... the Axis."

51 U.S. Marines Arrive In London For Guard Duties

LONDON, July 2—(CP)—Fifty-one American marines were reported authoritatively today to have reached Britain to take over guard duties in the United States embassy and an apartment building across the square where attaches and observers have quarters. The embassy has been guarded by armed London police.

It was said that the contingent, led by two officers, did not include the marine survivors of the former Netherlands steamship Maasdam which was sunk while taking marines and American Red Cross nurses to Britain.

(At least one of the marines aboard the ship and some of the nurses were feared lost. The rescue of others was reported by the U.S. navy).

Britain Continues Finnish Relations

LONDON, July 2.—(CP)—The British government announced today that it still is maintaining diplomatic relations with Finland and that relations with Sweden "remain normal."

Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons that Sweden had declared its intention to remain neutral despite granting passage of one German division across Sweden to Finland.

Mr. Eden's statement that relations with Finland were being maintained was his only answer to a question on whether the government regarded Finland as neutral or enemy country into the Russian-German war.

The post office said that postal service between Britain, Sweden and Finland had been suspended because of interruption in communications.

Minister Urges Conservation Of Shipping Space

LONDON, July 2—(CP)—Lord Leathers, minister of war transport, declared Tuesday that although control of the world's shipping flies the British flag and Great Britain has 17,000,000 tons of tramp and cargo ships, the weekly average loss of 63,000 tons of shipping since the start of the war necessitates rigorous economy on imported food and other commodities.

Opening an exhibition of photographs showing the dangers to which British merchant seamen are subject, the minister said "half a slice of bread a day saved by every man, woman and child would provide in the course of a year shipping space for sufficient steel to make 10,000 25-ton tanks."

Tanker Is Sunk

NEW YORK, July 2—(AP)—Maritime circles said Tuesday the Norwegian motorship tanker Regina, a vessel used in carrying oil from North America to Britain, has been sunk in the Atlantic. The 9,546-ton vessel, built in 1937, sailed under British orders after the conquest of Norway. The fate of her crew was unknown here and in Oslo.

Middle East, Mr. Menzies said "Gen. Blamey has the greatest knowledge of the Middle East. . . . He will no doubt advise (Gen. Sir Claude) Auchinleck."

CAIRO, July 2.—(AP)—First reaction here to the sir Archibald Wavell's transfer to India was of regret since he enjoys in Egypt respect and affection that no other personality has possessed in recent times.

He is credited with a big part in influencing public opinion in the Middle East in favor of the Allies.

BERLIN, July 2.—(AP)—A Nazi propaganda spokesman asserted today the transfer of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell to India entrusts India's fate to "a man who has made more mistakes than one can count off on one's 10 fingers."

This spokesman said he hoped Wavell would put his fingers into the machinery of India, as this ... could only be in... the Axis."

$1.93 Per Week Cost Of Living Bonus Favored

OTTAWA, July 2.—(CP)—The Dominion government takes the view all railway workers in Canada should receive a cost of living bonus of $1.93 a week, Labor Minister McLarty announced at a press conference today.

The minister expressed the hope that cost of living bonuses would be general and not only apply to the railway workers and those in war industry but to all the workers in Canada, totalling some 3,000,000.

UNIFORM BASIS

The minister also announced the government has amended its cost of living bonus order in council (No. 7440) to make it certain that when a bonus is decided upon for the employees of a company or industry the bonus shall apply to all the employees concerned regardless of their wages or salaries.

Thus the bonus must be the same for workers with low wages as for those with higher scales.

The order-in-council is an instruction to boards of conciliation to which are set up where disputes occur between employers and employees. When an application for a bonus is made by employees it is usually made by a union representing or claiming to represent all workers in the industry or the trade concerned.

The changed order in council does not automatically bring the cost of living bonus to workers. They may ask their employers for a bonus and if it is refused, may apply for a board of conciliation. This board will be governed by the order in council and will be required, if it grants a bonus, to make it apply uniformly to all persons in the group that asked for the board.

The minister anticipated there would be only "remote" cases where the employer would not co-operate on the bonus policy.

EXPECTS CO-OPERATION

The bonus, effective when the Dominion Bureau of Statistics cost of living index shows a gain of five per cent, is based on the essential necessities of life. The index at present is up 7.7 per cent above the level of August, 1939, and on this basis the bonus payable is $1.93 a week to all workers.

Mr. McLarty said it was anticipated the provinces would co-operate in the policy and thus make the bonus payable in industries under their control.

U.S. War Supplies Will Be Rushed To Aid Russians

WASHINGTON, July 2—(AP)—The United States prepared to do its utmost Tuesday to comply with an official Russian request for help in rushing supplies to the Soviet Union.

Sumner Welles, the acting secretary of state, disclosed that the Russian ambassador, Constin Oumansky, presented the request Monday, and Finding that it had been transmitted governmental departmentally.

Welles declined to say what weapons or other articles were on Oumansky's list.

Big Flying Boats Used By Australia On Patrol Flights

CANBERRA, July 2—(AP)—Air Minister John McEwen said today that the Royal Australian Air Force is using giant Catalina flying boats on daily reconnaissance flights of the shipping routes.

Mr. McEwen said the planes were purchased from the United States and ferried to Australia by Australian pilots. He said they maintain a constant watch for enemy raiders, aircraft and mines.

EXPERTS DOUBT HITLER TO TRY INVADE BRITAIN

WASHINGTON, July 2—(BUP)—American experts went over Hitler's chances of invading Great Britain again today—and have declared Hitler won't try it unless he has a 90 per cent chance of winning.

And they expressed doubt that Hitler ever will be able to muster those odds.

As these American military experts see it, Hitler will not try to invade Britain by air unless the Nazis can win absolute control of the skies—reduce strongholds and force the British fleet out to sea.

If the invasion occurs, or so these military men in Washington believe, the German forces will consist of selected men, carefully conditioned and trained.

36 Persons Die In Sea Disaster

HARPSWELL, Me., July 2—(AP)—Eleven bodies, seven women and two men and two unidentified were pulled from the icy waters of lower Casco Bay, Tuesday, and a grim search continued for others of a gay party of 38 men, women and boys—a picnic which turned into Maine's worst marine disaster in more than a generation.

Evidence piled up that an explosion and fire swept the heavily-loaded 44-foot cabin cruiser Don some time last Sunday. Those on search craft expressed little hope that any aboard the Don would be found alive.

Five Are Killed In U.K. Train Wreck

LONDON, July 2—(CP)—Five persons were killed and 23 injured today when the Plymouth express of the Great Western Railway crashed into a freight train outside Slough, 20 miles from London.

Three sailors were among those killed. Most of the injured were navy men on leave.

Rescue squads required more than five hours to extricate the victims from the wreckage of the first two coaches of the express.

A Canadian petty officer, A. A. Chambers, escaped when a compartment he occupied with two free Belgian ratings was crushed.

Churchill Refuses To Make Statement On Wavell Transfer

LONDON, July 2.—(BUP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill clashed with Leslie Hore-Belisha in the House of Commons today, and bluntly refused to make any statement on the transfer to India of General Archibald Wavell.

Mr. Hore-Belisha declared, however, that Wavell's successor in Cairo, General Sir Claude Auchinleck, already has reached Cairo.

Churchill told Belisha, former war secretary, that he saw absolutely no advantage in giving out the government's reason for making the change in commands.

Australia Plans To Build Largest Fighting Planes

CANBERRA, July 2.—(AP)—The Australian minister of aircraft production, Senator J. W. Leckie, announced today that Australia intends to build the world's largest and best fighter planes. He said the new planes will be better than Hurricanes or Spitfires but that exact type has not been definitely decided.

It is understood that a new aircraft factory will be built, permitting production next year.

Since the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, it has been the custom for the president and vice-president of the United States never to appear themselves at the same time, if possible. They never ride the same train together, for instance.

Escaped German Prisoner Slain By Camp Guards

SCHREIBER, Ont., July 2—(CP)—Two bullets from the service revolvers of internment camp guards killed Lieut. Martin Moeller, a German airman, when he resisted capture after escaping from a camp in this northwestern Ontario area, it was learned here Tuesday night.

Mueller, fourth prisoner to die under gunfire in Canada while resisting recapture, escaped Sunday night and was shot down about 11 miles away from the camp.

Immediately after his escape guards started a search of the surrounding rock and bush country along the shore of Lake Superior and Monday a guard and a Lieut. Leary came on a man crouched down in a rock cut.

When they asked his identity the Nazi airman, armed with a three-foot, two-inch thick club, pounced at them.

Both servicemen pulled their revolvers and fired. Mueller crumpled to the rocks and died instantly.

As the escaped prisoner brandished his club one bullet ripped into his left arm and went on through his right breast. The other bullet struck the airman in the neck.

Mueller was one of 1,500 internment authorities as a resourceful, cool-thinking prisoner who tried previous attempts to gain his freedom, was just 50 feet from the shore of Lake Superior when the guards discovered him.

A rowboat which he stole from a watchman near the internment camp was discovered on the shore.

Men Of Military Age Barred From Federal Service

OTTAWA, July 2.—(CP)—The government by order-in-council, has ordered that no more men of military age be employed in the civil service until the war is over, it became known today.

The order directs that during the continuance of the present war and until it is otherwise ordered, no male persons of military age shall be appointed to the public service unless he is ineligible for service in the forces, or unless the minister in charge certifies that his appointment is necessary in the public interest."

Senator Is Made Privy Councillor

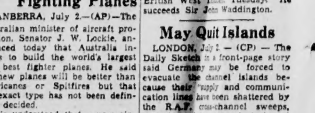

MONTREAL, July 2.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King sent congratulations of congratulations Tuesday to Senator Raoul Dandurand, and minister without portfolio and government leader in the senate, who was appointed to the privy council by King George.

Appointed Governor

LONDON, July 2.—(CP)—Sir Henry Grattan Bushe, legal adviser to the Colonial and Dominions' office, was appointed Governor and Commander in Chief of Barbados, British West Indies Tuesday. He succeeds Sir Jon Waddington.

May Quit Islands

LONDON, July 2.—(CP)—The Daily Sketch in a front-page story said Germany may be forced to evacuate the channel islands because their supply and communication lines have been shattered by the R.A.F. which has swept, battering airdromes and docks of the French coast.

FOURTEEN MONTHS IN DOVER PATROL

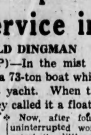

Former Millionaire's Yacht Now Envy Of Dover Seamen

Skipper "Bomb-Proof" Mason Gave Up Oxford For Service in Navy

By HAROLD DINGMAN

DOVER, July 2.—(BUP)—In the mist and fog of early dawn, we put to sea in a 73-ton boat which, in the days of peace, was a millionaire's yacht. When the men of the British navy took it over, they called it a floating gin palace.

Now, after fourteen months of uninterrupted work on the Dover patrol, the little ship has the envy and respect of all seamen of this south coast town. It has been bombed, I believe, more times than any other single ship in U. S. entire navy. Its skipper, because of his uncanny skill and luck in fighting German stukas, is called "bombproof."

H. Dingman

Lt. "Bombproof" Mason is a blond, smiling young man who gave up Oxford for the sea and loves the seafaring way of life. There's little of the traditional Oxford attitude about him, when things go wrong he's got a blistering, scorching tongue that would delight an ancient mariner; and when things go right he's sleepy-eyed, confident, half-reclining on the foredeck—drinking in the fresh salt air.

EXCLUSIVE

EXPLODED IN MID-AIR

Mason actually welcomes the bombers. "I wouldn't mind a nice, slow moving Heinkel up there right now," he said, caressing an anti-aircraft cannon mounted forward. Just a short time ago he got one in range and it exploded in mid-air.

"I thought sure she would fall right on our deck. The engine broke loose with a roar of flame and fell into the sea, just over our stern. The fuselage crashed onto a ship a couple of hundred yards ahead of us," said Mason.

As the chalk cliffs of Dover faded far astern and we bucked through an extraordinary swell which smashed and shuddered the little vessel, Mason turned to me on the deck:

"Feeling alright?"

"Yes, sure."

GETTING UNHEALTHY

We were getting far off the English coast when I suddenly discovered we were within eight miles of German France. I thought it was getting unhealthy, but Mason had his sleepy look about him, and the wheelsman, a young Englishman with a shock of windblown hair, was whistling "Dark Town Strutters' Ball."

"How many times have you been bombed," I asked the skipper.

"Sounds cock-eyed but we've actually lost count. The first direct attack on this ship was at Dunkirk. And then it was shells, not bombs. We had 217 British soldiers aboard and they whistled nine shells around us. But we didn't get even a splinter. The Dunkirk evacuees were put in the engine room, the wheel-house, the cabins, on the decks, and some clung to the masts.

NOT ONE CASUALTY

After that, Mason's ship got bombed and shelled regularly but in all his fourteen months of steady patrolling in these unsafe waters, there's not been a casualty. Nor is there a scar anywhere on the ship from machine-gun bullets, although the water has been churned a boiling greenish-white scores of times by low-flying Huns.

Far off, suddenly, we could hear terrific explosions. We could see no planes nor flashes from the shore guns. "I don't know what in hell's going on," growled "Bomb Proof"—"but we're in the wrong end of the channel for any action today."

That was the morning when the Germans tried to shell and bomb a British coastwise convoy. The merchant ships proceeded safely but two destroyers stayed behind to return the fire of the Nazi planes and brought down two dive bombers in flames.

DUEL ALL DAY

"Just our luck. We're either twenty miles from a good fight, or else we get the stray bombers knocking around us. It's going to be dull all day," said the skipper.

Throughout the day, black Hurricanes roared out of the clouds and dived on us to within perhaps fifty feet as soon as they identified us; they packed off again. They, too, were on channel patrol.

As they came hurtling at us, Mason gazed at them with hardly a flicker of interest, unless it was disappointment. He complains that England "has too many fighters now" and that excitement for him is getting less and less.

Kingly Exile In England

King Peter of Yugoslavia, right, who lost his throne when the Nazis steam-rollered through the Balkans, walks with the Duke of Kent after his arrival in England. The duke met the young king on his arrival in England on behalf of King George.

effort to hold the gains. The Russian counter-blitz operations have been designed to let the tanks through and then attempt to destroy them behind the defence lines, at the same time closing the hole to the motorized infantry. The communique gave no details that would indicate whether these tactics had been entirely successful, but both London and Moscow appeared to be slightly more optimistic today and the communique stated that the vanguard of the tanks had been destroyed.)

An official spokesman said the "Soviet Union could guarantee that Adolf Hitler will never win the war."

The spokesman emphasized that the important factor in war operations was not any temporary advance or retirement of the forces keeping intact the main strength of the Red army.

(It was implied that far from being trapped, big Russian forces in the area, which, according to the Germans, faced surrender or death, were actually engaging in approved anti-blitzkrieg technique—permitting advance columns in pass and challenging the necessary supporting forces.)

On the Ukrainian front south of the Pripet marshes the communique said, Russian troops were inflicting heavy losses on German motorized and mechanized units which, like those on the White Russian front, were trying to get up to their advanced steel-tipped rapid troops.

RESIST NEW DRIVE

Russian forces are resisting a new German offensive in the Murmansk area of the Arctic coast, it was said. Again, the communique said, the Russians were fighting stubbornly and inflicting heavy losses on the Germans who had moved over to Finland from Arctic Norway.

The communique noted battles on three main fronts—Murmansk, Dvinsk, Minsk and Luck.

Revising figures cited in its earlier communique, the Russian high command said that 102 German planes, not 36, were shot down Monday, against the revised loss of 22 instead of 17 Russian planes.

(The afternoon communique gave a more vigorous picture of Russian positive tactics than had an earlier one which said that on the Minsk front the Russians by alternating artillery barrages and tank and infantry attacks were inflicting heavy losses on the Germans.)

Yesterday the Germans lost 33 planes, and 22 Soviet planes failed to return to their base, the communique added.

SMASHING AT TANKS

In the Minsk-Dvinsk directions, Russian troops were smashing into advance German tank formations, the communique said. Soviet aviation also was reported active in this area, blasting at German air bases and bombing transport, fuel supplies and war materials.

The advance of German motorized infantry in this area was halted, the communique said.

Damage Is Heavy In South Storm

CALGARY, July 2—(CP)—Drumheller and Lethbridge counted heavy property losses Tuesday evening as the result of severe thunderstorms and hail storms which swept Alberta at various times during Dominion Day. At Lethbridge, where a violent thunderstorm poured down 1.60 inches of rain in less than four hours, huge hailstones whipped garden crops and caused unestimated losses to growing wheat in the fields.

The Canadian National Railways stores building in Drumheller was hit by lightning and badly damaged and while heavy damage was done to streets in the town, several cave-ins occurring. Near Newcastle, part of the C.N.R. tracks were washed away.

Trans-Canada Air Lines in Calgary reported a terrific hailstorm had swept the whole Lethbridge area.

A 44 miles an hour northeast wind hurled the hail and rain before it and some reports indicate crops beaten to the ground.

Ahead Of Schedule

MONTREAL, July 2—(CP)—The first "pilot" model of Canadian industry's latest war baby—the 42 medium-weight tank—was christened Monday at the Montreal locomotive works in a ceremony attended by workers, industrialists and government officials. The brown giant of welded steel was making its first official appearance two months ahead of schedule.

Warm Weather Is Forecast Today

Official forecast for Wednesday and Thursday calls for more "fair and warm" weather. At 8:30 a.m. Wednesday the thermometer read 66 above, while the barometric pressure was 27.76, increasing.

High temperature Tuesday was 71 above at 1 p.m. Overnight low of 56 above was recorded at 1:30 a.m. Precipitation in the city Tuesday amounted to .02 inches.

Rain was falling at Beaverlodge Wednesday morning. All other points in the near north reported partly cloudy, with breezes.

Today's War Moves

an encircling movement possible. Conversely the Russians have advanced along the German flanks, making it possible for them to cut off advanced German forces if they have the striking power.

Hence, even such a blow as the Russians seem to have suffered in the Bialystok area by no means implies the beginning of the end for Russia. The Red armies can retreat even beyond Moscow, leaving a vast stretch of communications for the Germans to overcome.

Hence London has not given up hope of successful Russian resistance. But it has an uneasy eye on southwest Russia, the Ukraine, where the full force of the German attack has not yet been felt. If Germany takes and holds southwest Russia, British interests in the Near East and in India will be directly menaced.

IS NOT REMOTION

The transfer of Wavell, therefore, cannot be set down as a demotion. It is quite likely a forward-looking move to prepare for future eventualities. Wavell is recognized in England as an organizing and tactical genius.

It was he who supervised the overthrow of the Italians in all East Africa. He stopped the Axis drive from Libya into Egypt and made steady, if slow progress toward cleaning up Syria. The slowness was due to orders from London. His expedition to aid the Greeks was recognized as a military sacrifice to political necessity.

Wavell's assignment in India, it is not unreasonable to surmise, is to do the same job of organizing that he did in the Eastern Mediterranean and Africa.

London obviously fears, as the Daily Express bluntly put it, that "the threat to India is getting nearer." Once established in the Ukraine and Caucasuses, Hitler would be able to sweep through Iran and Afghanistan against rich India.

GENIUS IS NEEDED

Such a campaign would call for a man of military genius to organize the Indian army and the British army in India for defense. India is a land of more than 350,000,000 population and of vast resources. It has always been the most profitable of Britain's overseas possessions. Its army, both British and native, has been depleted in the last two years by calls to service in the Mediterranean, but there is a large reserve trained and partly trained, which can be whipped into shape by energetic measures.

Interpreting War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

THE first great crisis of the Russo-German war is developing in the vital centre of the 2,000-mile front. Both Moscow and Berlin indicate that this is the case, although their claims are otherwise utterly conflicting.

If the Nazi version, recounting new but unspecified victories both north and south of the Pripet marshlands, is accepted at face value, Red army resistance is already demoralized. A swift German sweep is and beyond the line reached by German - Austrian allies in the first Great War is impending.

Moscow paints a different picture although admitting retirements. The reports from the Soviet capital suggest that the Russians are withdrawing according to plan and in orderly fashion, leaving behind a as hopeless or irretrievable.

expected to proceed immediately to the Macdonald hotel, where he will be a guest during his stay here.

PUBLIC LUNCHEON

On Wednesday, official circles here discussing Mr. King's visit and details were incomplete. The one public function scheduled is a luncheon under the auspices of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce at the Macdonald hotel on Friday.

Other plans for Mr. King include an inspectional visit to the airport and Edmonton Garrison headquarters. It is also expected he will visit the exhibition grounds to see progress made in preparing for the housing of the manning pool for the R.C.A.F. A visit also will be made to the University of Alberta and the normal school, which are being used in connection with the initial training school.

Mr. King will leave here Friday night on his way back to Ottawa.

Rudolf Hess Had Nazi Peace Plan

GLASGOW, July 2—(CP)—Sir Patrick Dollan, Socialist Lord Provost of Glasgow, claims that Rudolf Hess came here to suggest that Britain abandon all connections with Europe because a Nazi victory was assured.

Sir Patrick told an audience at Kirkcaldy Monday he wanted to contradict the general impression that Hitler's aide had flown to Scotland to help Britain. Instead Hess' plans would have led Hitler's launching of a peace campaign.

Hess came convinced of victory of the Nazi regime and his suggestions were that Britain should abandon all connection with Europe—in trade, politics, finance, army, navy and aerial matters, Sir Patrick said.

Patrol Sloop Lost

LONDON, July 2—(CP)—The Admiralty Tuesday announced the loss of the 580-ton patrol sloop, H.M.S. Pintail, commanded by Lieut. G. L. E. McClintoch. The announcement said next of kin of casualties have been informed but did not indicate where or how the loss took place. Number of casualties also was not given. The Pintail was launched in 1939.

Matsuoka Says Emergency Is Now Developing

TOKYO, July 2.—(AP)—The Japanese government announced today it had chosen a policy for coping with the situation arising from the Russian-German war and Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka told the nation that "a super-emergency of a very grave nature is developing before our eyes in East Asia."

The nature of the governments decision, even its general trend, remained undisclosed despite statements issued by the cabinet and Matsuoka after a morning conference at the Imperial Palace in which generals and admirals of the high command met with key members of the cabinet in the presence of Emperor Hirohito.

Domei, Japanese news agency, declared that "quarters close to the government" indicated Japan's empire course would be disclosed by action rather than words.

"While maintaining secrecy externally the government intends to pursue its policy internally to translate into action whatever decisions were taken at the imperial conference," Domei said.

The cabinet statement said merely that "a decision was taken at an imperial conference held this morning on important national policies to meet the current international situation."

Matsuoka offered this amplification:

"It goes without saying that the situation arising from the German-Soviet war can not be met with such a simple idea as to think of it merely as the outbreak of war between Germany and the Soviet.

"We therefore intend to watch the development of the situation with the greatest care and preparations in which we can place every confidence as well as with firm determination. We must at the same time pay constant attention not only to developments surrounding the war but to the situation over the world as well as the trend of individual powers and the state of affairs among them.

"I feel that a really grave state of emergency is developing before our eyes throughout the world, particularly in East Asia, with direct concern to our country.

"The more serious the situation the more calm and composed must our nation be and with the unity of all classes they must, in response to the august will of His Majesty, endeavor not to make even the slightest mistake in the direction of the path of our country."

SEEK CLARIFICATION

Both Russia and Japan's Axis partners sought clarification of the government announcement. German ambassador Eugen Ott and Italian ambassador Mario Indelli called on Matsuoka immediately after the statement was issued. They were followed by Russian ambassador Constantin Ematanin.

In an authoritative outline of what some sources said may be regarded as Japan's course, the Diplomatic Review today stressed efforts to settle the conflict with China, the strengthening of an East Asia "sphere of co-prosperity," and observance of both Japan's Axis alliance and her neutrality pact with Soviet Russia.

Nazis Claim 100,000 Reds Are Captured

claimed, 220 more Red army tanks were put out of action by capture or destruction in two other battles.

Besides the old Latvian capital of Riga, which previously had been reported occupied, the Germans claimed Windau in Latvia also had been captured yesterday.

Still farther north on the German front pointed toward Leningrad, Russia's second largest city, the high command said allied German - Finnish forces had launched attacks across the frontier into Russia from central and northern Finland. No details in this apparently developing battle were given, however.

Heavy losses through air attacks on Russian forces retreating eastward from Lwow, Minsk and into Estonia were claimed by the high command. On the Galician front, at the other end of the main thrust into Russia through the Bialystok-Minsk sector, it said Hungarian forces attacking through Carpathian mountain passes had "joined the German attack on schedule."

Almost 200 miles beyond the White Russian capital of Minsk on the road to Moscow, the Germans claimed, the rail junction town of Smolensk was under heavy aerial bombardment.

To the south, between the Pinsk marshes and the Carpathians, the German army, aided by Slovak forces, was following up a Russian retreat into the Ukraine, the high command claimed. It reported advances into the Soviet breadbasket by columns north and south of captured Lwow.

The high command claimed Nazi forces, striking northeast through the Baltic states moved into Riga Monday after rushing up from Libau, 40 miles southeast, and crossing the Dvina river at many places from Riga Bay to Dvinsk.

Advance forces were said to have thrust on from the north bank of the river, while the air force hammered at the Russian town of Pskov and positions near Peipsu Lake, between Estonia and Russia. The Germans claimed the Reds were falling back to this area for another stand in defence of Leningrad.

Three Injured In Collision At Coronation

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

CORONATION, Alta., July 2.—L. W. Clarke, Wheat Pool agent here, and Cecil English, Bulwark farmer, were both injured Sunday night when their cars collided near Federal, Alta., near Coronation. Mr. Clarke received painful cuts and his car was badly wrecked. Mrs. English, wife of the driver of the other car was admitted to the Coronation hospital.

Victim of a plane crash in the south last week, LAC. Donald Hugh Ross, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Ross, Duffield, Alta., will be buried Thursday following services at 9:45 a.m. from Howard and McBride's chapel to St. Joseph's cathedral, where requiem high mass will be solemnized at 10 a.m. Interment will be made in the Edmonton Roman Catholic cemetery.

No Time For U. S. To Declare War

Would Give Japanese Pretext For Supporting Nazis

Action Of Another Sort By America Foreshadowed In The Immediate Future

By EDGAR ANSEL MOWRER

WASHINGTON, July 2.—An American declaration of war on Germany would force a decision upon Japan at a most inopportune moment and must therefore be avoided for the present, according to Washington sources. These sources admit that "in theory" this is the time for the United States to join Britain in taking advantage of the campaign against Russia to sweep the Germans out of the Atlantic. They are fully aware of the magnificent effect upon the British and the conquered peoples, the crushing effect upon the Germans and the Italians, of an American declaration of war. But since Japan is committed to enter the war only if the United States enters the war against the Axis, American leaders feel that no such decision should be forced upon the Japanese at the present time.

Action of another sort is, however, foreshadowed. For obvious reasons, no indication will be given in advance but it seems that something important can be expected from the Americans in a immediate future.

American refusal to give the Japanese a pretext for supporting Germany has not been taken to mean that the United States will sit by passively and watch the Japanese try to get out of their present embarrassment by bringing the China War to a quick end.

EXCLUSIVE

FURTHER HOBBLING

The same source mentioned above stated specifically: "If the Japanese go all out against China, more American aid will be sent to China and that will be the time for further hobbling of the Japanese by new restrictions on American exports. You may be sure that we shall not hesitate. The only way for Japan to make peace with China is to quit fighting China and get out of China. It is not our fault that Japan finds itself still bogged down at the moment it would like best to be free to profit by the present complicated situation either by attacking the Soviet maritime provinces or the British and Dutch possessions to the south.

Concerning Russia, it can be said authoritatively that American war material will be sent to Russia both by cash and under the lend-lease bill, that is, for nothing, if Russia needs such material and if Russia comes and asks for it. Russian resources in this country still amount to at least forty million dollars, perhaps more. Until Thursday afternoon, the Russians had given no indication of a particular desire for American assistance. In the past they have always sturdily maintained that they were quite capable of handling the Germans without any assistance.

One of the things that will be urged upon the Russians by the American will be acceptance of the Polish offer of military co-operation on condition Russia consents to restore Polish independent land within the limits of the treaty of Riga. Polish circles in America were too sanguine at the beginning of last week when they let it be known that such an agreement had already been reached.

RUSSIANS MISLED

The attack that was made by Gen. Wladislaw Sikorski for the Poles, the Russians had nibbled at the hook but up to the time of this writing it is not sure that the Russians have accepted, nor will they, in all likelihood, until the tide of war begins definitely to run against them. American authorities feel that the Bolsheviks would make matters very far up by accepting the Polish offer. A definite promise of the Soviets to restore Poland at the end of the war would do much to overcome American reluctance to aid the Soviets, since it would limit the war aims to such as can be achieved by the defeat of the Nazis alone.

Stampede Pulls 10,000 Visitors

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

PONOKA, July 2 — Somewhere around 10,000 people swarmed into Ponoka yesterday for the opening day of the annual stampede, a crowd which rodeo officials estimated to be slightly larger than the opening day crowd a year ago.

The big show started off in the morning with an impressive parade led by town and government officials and comprising the Ponoka unit of the 17th Cavalry Field Ambulance, the Elks' Boys Bugle Band, floats, Indians and cowboys.

Finals in the stampede events will be ridden today and are expected to produce some fine saddle work.

Although a severe looking storm passed over this area Tuesday afternoon, only a light shower fell for a short time and did not interfere with the program.

Defence Council Is Now Organized By Soviet Russia

LONDON, July 2.—(CP)—Reuters News Agency yesterday quoted the Soviet Russian information bureau as announcing it has been decided to create a defence council with Premier Joseph Stalin as president.

Reuters said the bureau's report, as broadcast on the Moscow radio, declared the step was taken because of the seriousness of the war situation.

Five Bushels An Acre Set Wheat Quota

panied by his secretary, A. C. L. Adams.

Mrs. MacKinnon and their daughter Keltie are with him and they will spend the summer in Edmonton.

"As a result of the establishment of the manning depot and the initial training school for airmen," Mr. MacKinnon said, "about 1,000 airmen will be stationed in Edmonton, in addition to those now at No. 2 observers' school and No. 16 elementary flying training school.

"There will also be a large expansion of facilities for aircraft overhaul and repair, which will call for additional construction and will greatly increase employment. This work will proceed immediately."

He stated that the present overhaul plant at the Edmonton airport, operated by Aircraft Repairs Ltd., now has machinery for 52,000 words of work to be done between now and next March. "This is a large volume of work and means large employment," he said.

INSPECTS ELEVATORS

On his way west Mr. MacKinnon stopped off at the head of the lakes and at Winnipeg. Members of the Board of Grain Commissioners and officials of that department met him at Port Arthur and accompanied him on inspection tour of the government elevators and some of the tremendous new temporary grain storage plants there and at Fort William.

"I was much impressed with the substantial type of these new elevators when being built entirely only for temporary storage," Mr. MacKinnon stated. "In all new accommodation for some $1,000,000 bushels will be provided and wheat is already being conveyed to one or two of these buildings. The remainder will all be ready not later than August 15."

INITIAL CROP QUOTA

In Winnipeg Mr. MacKinnon conferred with officials of the Wheat Board on policies for the coming crop year. "Plans are already well in hand for the 1941 crop," he said, "and I am confident that the initial quota for the 1941 crop will be at least five bushels an acre, with other quotas following as space becomes available."

The position in respect to the wheat situation at the end of July will be better than estimated earlier in the year, he said. The main factor in bringing about this improvement has been the sharp increase in exports of Canadian wheat during the past four months. Earlier in the 1940-41 crop year it had been estimated that wheat exports for this year would amount to from 140 to 150 million bushels. It now appears that the exports are to run to 225,000,000 bushels. "We have done much better than we expected as far as exports are concerned," Mr. MacKinnon commented.

REDUCE CARRYOVER

These larger exports, he stated, will reduce the prospective carryover at the end of July to from 475 to 500 million bushels, as compared to an earlier estimate of about 550 million bushels.

"This improvement in the statistical position does not lessen the seriousness of the wheat problem," Mr. MacKinnon added as a note of warning, "which we have with upwards of 500 million bushels of wheat on hand at the end of this month and harvesting of the 1941 crop not far away."

Mr. MacKinnon expects to leave about August 15 to resume his trade mission to South America. He plans to visit Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Brazil, Montevideo, Trinidad, Haiti and possibly Cuba. The trip will take about two and a half months.

During his visit here the minister said he hoped to get a little relaxation at his summer camp at Cooking Lake before returning to Ottawa about the middle of this month.

Fatal Accident

ASHCROFT, B.C., July 2.—(CP)—Mrs. Cleo Ewing Miller, 34, of Yarmouth, N.S., was killed almost instantly Monday when a horse she was riding reared up and fell backwards pinning her beneath the saddle at a "dude" ranch near this interior town where she was holidaying with her husband, Hugh S. Miller.

Immediate Use Of U.S. Navy Is Urged By Knox

BOSTON, July 2—(AP)—Navy Secretary Frank Knox declared flatly Monday night that "the time is now for us to make it clear the Atlantic is of the German menace is at hand."

"Now is the time to strike," he said in an address before the 33rd annual conference of governors of the United States.

Contending that Russia could hold Germany's war machine for "vital months in this crucial year," the navy secretary said that "for the first time since Hitler loosed the dogs of war on the world, we are provided with a God-given chance to determine the outcome of this world-wide struggle."

"DEFEAT PAGAN FORCE"

At one point in his address, Knox said the United States' opportunity to "vitally aid Britain" had been presented "while Hitler is busy crushing Russia." He declined to amplify the statement that Hitler is "busy crushing" Russia.

"Now is the time to put in motion the huge machine that have been building since the war began," he continued. "We can assure, beyond a shadow of doubt, the defeat of that pagan force, and insure a victory for a Christian civilization.

"I would be derelict if I did not add that all of this involves risk and danger. It may involve sacrifice to the extreme."

Knox urged use of the United States navy to clear the Atlantic for delivery of war materials to Britain while "Hitler has turned his back upon us."

"ONLY ONE END"

The navy secretary asserted continuance of the present rate of shipping losses must bring victory and world domination to Hitler.

"We must remember," he said, "that for every ship that we, and the British now have building, three are being sunk, and not only the sunken ship is lost, but also the plans, the guns, the ammunition and food which it carries.

"There is only one end to this rate of sinking—victory for Hitler which will give him ultimate domination over the world.

"We cannot cling to any formula of 'business as usual' and profits as usual when our business has become the halting of the Hun in his triumphant march toward dominion over an enslaved world in which the light of liberty will be snuffed out, and darkness where we must bend a pliant knee to a pagan tyrant."

Conscription Issue May Be Left To People

ment's intention to keep the pledge repeatedly given to the people of Canada.

"How best the voice of the people may again be heard, should a situation develop where the people's representatives in parliament believe there should be a reversal of policy, there will be time enough to consider when parliament itself has ascertained its views.

"I hope, however, that no one will expect me to go behind the back of parliament itself by adopting any course of political action which, by one stroke, would sabotage our free political institutions at a time when we are fighting to preserve their very existence."

WAR EFFORT BELITTLED

Referring to recruiting Mr. King said:

"I am sorry to say that in our country there is a minority which, though small, is exceedingly vocal, which has let no chance pass to belittle Canada's war effort and to discredit the splendid achievements of their fellow-countrymen . .

"There are evidences that, in certain quarters, the recruiting campaign is being made, not so much a campaign to see what more can be accomplished by voluntary effort, as a deliberate effort to force the hand of the government and to effect a change in its policies.

The policy of the government regarding conscription has been made abundantly clear. We have taken the position that every young man who is physically fit should be liable for military training and service in Canada for the defence of Canada. This policy is designed to provide our country with a second line of defence should the country be subject to direct attack. In the same way parliament has put at the disposal of the nation, all the material resources of the country.

PEOPLE'S EXPRESSED WILL

"My colleagues and I, expressing, as we believe, the will of the Canadian people, have committed ourselves in a war-time election, have made it equally clear that service outside Canada in the armed forces of Canada at sea, on land and in the air—service undertaken in the cause of freedom—shall be freely undertaken."

Discussing the war's progress in his luncheon address, the Prime Minister said that unless the Nazis could be stopped "we face tomorrow a battle of hemispheres."

If that came about, he forecast that "the whole western hemisphere will soon be an armed camp."

Herridge Asks Vote On Issue Conscription

OTTAWA, July 2—(CP)—Hon. W. D. Herridge, originator of the New Democracy movement and former Canadian minister to Washington in a statement last night called for a general election on the issue of conscription.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King has renewed his pledge against conscription, Mr. Herridge said in his statement and added: "We must compel the prime minister to submit this issue to the people."

Text of Mr. Herridge's statement follows:

The prime minister's renewed pledge against conscription, given at Vancouver on June 30, is in effect a pledge that Canada will not make its maximum contribution to the war. Are Canadians going to stand for that?

CAUSE DISMAY

This pledge will cause dismay in Britain and disgust in America. For it is given at a time when our imperilled Empire is calling urgently to Canada for total war. This is Canada's official answer to that call.

If there is any manhood in this country we will reverse this answer. The time for a showdown has come. The issue is Mackenzie King and his policy on conscription against the honor of Canada and the security of the Empire. The first of July is a good day on which to raise this issue. We must compel the prime minister to submit this issue to the people. We must have a general election without delay. The Mackenzie King government must be opposed in every constituency in Canada by a candidate who stands for total war. We must constitutionally purge the man and the government who have brought discredit and disunity to our country.

Canucks Observe Wartime Holiday

By The Canadian Press

Canadian holidayers got back to usual business routine today after Dominion Day celebrations. It was the second wartime Dominion Day of the Second Great War.

Vacationers were blessed with fine weather throughout Canada, except in parts of New Brunswick where showers curtailed activities.

The hot-spot of Canada was at Hamilton where the mercury climbed to 86 degrees. Kamloops, B.C., registered 85 degrees in the dry west with the temperature standing at 84.

The number of violent deaths, compared with those of other years, was exceptionally small everywhere. Only nine were reported, five in Quebec and four in Ontario.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King celebrated Dominion Day at Victoria, B.C., among men of Canada's armed forces.

At Sorel, Que., the first 25-pound field gun and carriage to be produced in Canada was formally dedicated to the country by Justice Minister Lapointe.

Edmonton Boy Is Drowned In B.C.

VICTORIA, July 2.—(CP)—Arthur Ault, 17, who came here from Edmonton a year ago, was drowned in Esquimalt Lagoon Tuesday while attempting to retrieve his boat which had slipped its moorings.

The boy swam for 100 yards and was within a foot of the boat when he sank in 15 feet of water.

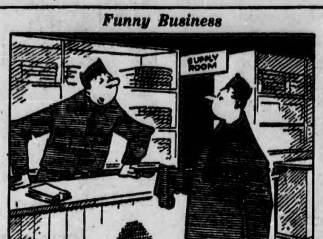

Constable Leslie Harold Ault, employed by the Canadian National Railways, and one sister, Madeleine, live in Edmonton. His mother, Mrs. E. Gibbonng, lives in New Westminster.

Late last night the body had not been recovered.

Relatives of the father, Harold Ault, said Wednesday that the youth was born in Edmonton and had received his education here. His father, a former employee of the C.N.R. here, is resident at the Bushy Rooms.

Greenland, and was later herself destroyed, and now "indeed the very waters which hitherto we have looked upon as the surest protection of our eastern coasts," he said.

Victory Torch Handed British Prime Minister

By HAROLD FAIR

LONDON, July 2. (CP) — Pensions Minister Ian Mackenzie Tuesday presented to Prime Minister Churchill Canada's golden "Torch of Victory" in a brief Dominion Day ceremony in the little garden of historic No. 10 Downing street.

Mr. Mackenzie presented the torch as a symbol of Canada's "unrelenting determination that never shall we flag—or falter in this conflict." The prime minister accepted it as an "impulse of the great effort Canada is making."

CANADA'S DETERMINATION

The minister made the presentation speech as Air Minister C. G. "Chubby" Power, elegant in tails, looked on a flight from Canada Monday. High Commissioner Vincent Massey, Col. C. H. Scott of the Canadian department of national defence and Canadian Trade Commissioner Frederic Hudd looked on.

The torch was standing on the lawn when Mr. Churchill, accompanied by his secretary, Brendan Bracken, and carrying the inevitable cigar, approached from a ground floor door. Mr. Massey introduced the Canadians.

Mr. Mackenzie, towering over Mr. Churchill, told of the torch's long journey from Victoria, B.C., to Canada, and consigned it to Mr. Churchill's keeping as signifying Canada's determination "to be with you hand in hand and to the very end of the road."

"To your strong hands we give it now," the Canadian minister said. "With it is the united pride of our Canadian people in you and in your strong, illustrious leadership."

CHURCHILL AFFECTED

Mr. Churchill, in accepting the torch, said he was much affected by the kindness and messages you bring me and by the emblem which has been carried so far over land, through the air and over the sea.

"It is come here to present an object impulse of the great effort Canada is making in all these months and years of storm.

"I cannot thank you enough for all you have said about me, which I shall labor to deserve without any expectation of achieving such high results.

"The end may be far off. We cannot tell. It depends on the enemy. How long he will resist we cannot tell. But I say that wicked man will torture and afflict nations, how often or in what directions he will not know, until machine in motion we cannot tell.

"One thing we are assured. He and his villainous crew will be delivered to their doom and shame which is their due, and we ourselves shall have the honor of having had something to do with it."

Scottish Sweeps Divisional Meet

DESERT CAMP, N.S., July 2—(CP)—The 1st Canadian Scottish regiment from Victoria, B.C., won the track and field championship of the 3rd division Tuesday in a Dominion day meet at this big camp.

Piling up 54 points, the Scottish just doubled the total of their nearest competitors, the Regina Rifle Regiment. The coast unit captured five firsts, four seconds and three thirds.

Third place went to the Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars from Montreal, with 24 points.

After the meet, Brig. E. W. Heldenby, M.C., presented the winning team with the aggregate trophy.

George Wall, 19-year-old star from the 3rd Anti-tank Regiment, R.C.A., who has held high school jumping records in Quebec City, was the individual star of the tournament. He captured three firsts, taking the 220-yard hurdles, the pole-and-jump and running broad.

Durand McAlaster of Kisbey, Sask., member of the Regina Rifles, took first in the 220-yard dash and the pole vault.

More than 600 contestants from 3rd division units stationed here and at Sussex, N.B. participated. Eighteen of the 22 events in the meet counted for championship points.

Alberta Regt. Presented With Colors By King

By DOUGLAS AMARON

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, July 2—(CP)—Canadian soldiers overseas Tuesday celebrated the Dominion's 74th birthday in traditional style with a visit of the King to the 1st Division highlighting a program of sports events and regimental parties.

His Majesty presented colors to Alberta "and New Brunswick 1st Division regiments in a colorful and historic ceremony at the tree-encircled parade ground of a famous British guards unit.

For the first time in history the sovereign presented colors to Canadian regiments in this country.

DAY WITH TROOPS

His Majesty, expressing pleasure at spending the day "among my Canadian troops," told the men:

"Your two regiments perpetuate no less than seven battle honors of the Canadian Expeditionary force which a quarter of a century ago went out to win immortal fame under the inspired leadership of Byng and Currie.

"The tradition then established and the high honor which that day was won are perpetuated in the colors I have presented to you. I am very proud to do so, for I know you will ever hold them safe and will sustain the great ideals of which they are the symbol."

The presentation ceremony and the 1st Division field day were the chief events of the Dominion Day holiday which was observed generally throughout the corps.

Their Majesties had lunch with Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander-in-chief of the Canadian Corps, and Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, 1st Division headquarters.

WITNESS SPORTS

They also witnessed some of the sports before leaving amid cheers of thousands of Canadians and townsfolk who decorated the streets, their homes and the stadium with bunting for the occasion.

Mrs. Pearkes presented prizes to winners of sporting events. Feur went to Pte. Tony Williams of Winnipeg who won the 440, 880 and the broad jump and captained the one-mile relay team.

Mrs. McNaughton presented the corps soccer championship trophy, won earlier in the year by Albertans from the First Ammunition Company of the R.A.S.C.

Guests at the flag-bedecked stands included the Earl of Bessborough, former Governor-General of Canada, and the Countess of Bessborough. They also attended the morning ceremony.

Moscow Able To "Take It" Is Writer's Belief

KNOW HARDSHIPS

This, of course, is a far different war from the war of Napoleon's day. It is possible that Moscow might be laid in ashes by Nazi bombing squadrons long before any armored columns could penetrate within 100 miles of the city.

Moscow's people, however, are no strangers to hardship and danger. They have seen worse than war. They have survived civil strife and famine and endured the nerve-gnawing strain of successive political purges in which high and low were liquidated and no man could feel exempt from the peril of death or imprisonment or exile.

It would be most astonishing if these stolid inhabitants of Moscow, with their background of endurance through years of revolution, civil war and famine, suddenly should mill around in panic under the stress of this new war.

If the government should decide to evacuate Moscow, or at least evacuate most of its civilian inhabitants, it is quite conceivable it would trudge away in the assigned direction with little more excitement than if they were parading on a big day in November.

FACTORIES IN EAST

If, under air bombardment, they do not put up as brave a show, in their own way, as the inhabitants of indomitable London, they will certainly surprise many foreigners who have lived in their city at one time or other.

Many years ago Soviet leaders began preparing for the possibility that their outer defences might be broken. Many of the new strategic factories designed to keep the armed forces supplied with tanks and planes and ammunition were built 700 miles or more east of Moscow, some of them behind the mountain barrier of the Urals.

Near these mountains, too, Soviet engineers have been developing new oil fields and refineries to insure a fuel supply for the army and air force in case the oil fields of the Caucasus have to be abandoned.

Prince Bernhard Is Grateful To Canadian People

OTTAWA, July 2.—(CP)—Warm thanks to the people of Canada for kindness shown himself and his family were expressed by Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands in a message prepared before his departure and released Tuesday on his arrival in the United Kingdom.

The Prince spent a few weeks in Canada visiting his wife, Crown Princess Juliana, and their two small daughters. He flew across the Atlantic in the same bomber which carried Air Minister Power.

years ago, when it was believed that death was unavoidable, he told relatives that "I just told the Lord to do whatever He wanted to . . I was ready to die. But he told me to get better, so I did." As on that occasion, Grandpa Haire Monday was ready for the call.

Honorary president of the Alberta Pensioners' Society and honorary member of the Edmonton post of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., Mr. Haire counted among his birthday celebrations a flight with a Yukon Southern airliner on his 103rd birthday. A regular feature of his birthday was the visit by Ex-Ald. D. A. "Dour" Grant to the Haire home, along with many children of the district, with whom Grandpa Haire was a constant favorite.

Born in Ireland, the grand old man came to Quebec in 1862 from County Armagh. He later moved to Ontario where he was married to Martha Hume, who predeceased him in 1936, two weeks before they were to celebrate their wedding anniversary. He was a member of the Canadian voluntary force that repulsed Fenian raiders 71 years ago. He moved to Stony Plain, Alta., in 1902.

LIVED IN SOD SHACK

For years Mr. and Mrs. Haire lived in a sod shack on their Alberta farm. The old man cut his grain with a scrade and hauled it 25 miles to be sold.

In all his life he never saw a motion picture, or watched the considerably modern radios, automobiles, even airplanes, a sign of racial decadence and firmly believed that progress ago was were much happier than they are today. In his 105 years he neither smoked or drank alcoholic beverages of any nature to excess, but he often told visitors that probably his good habits had little to do with his long life.

Presented to Their Majesties the King and Queen on their visit to the city in 1937, Joseph Haire was much deeply moved by the occasion. Intensely patriotic, he once described the present international condition as a "bad, bad war, worse than any other wars have been."

Surviving are four sons: Thomas of Ranfurly, William of Oakland, Calif., and David and Sanford of Edmonton; four daughters: Mrs. W. H. Empey of Viking, Alta., Mrs. R. C. Spice of Yorkton, Sask., and Mrs. Percy Smith and Mrs. H. Doherty of Edmonton. In addition there are 35 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2:30 p.m. from Howard and McBride's funeral chapel by Rev. A. B. Argue. Interment will be made in the Beechmount cemetery.

All Single Men Up To 24 Years Placed On Call

OTTAWA, July 2—(CP)—The 21-year-old class of single men is expected to provide sufficient men so that few 22-year-olds will be called to start compulsory military training in Canada during July, it was said here Tuesday night.

But the government has made provision for adequate reserves for future call-ups by notifying, through a proclamation, all single men of 21, 22, 23 and 24 years inclusive, that they are subject to the reserve army call.

In August it is expected the number of men called above the age of 21 will be greater and it will increase as time goes on.

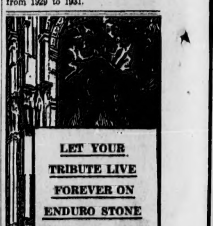

The proclamation calling up men of 21, 22, 23 and 24 years for four months' compulsory military training was issued Monday night. Those 21-year-olds who already have served one month in a militia camp under the old 30-day training system will be required to serve three months more.

For this call-up the basis of determining age is July 1, 1940 as was the case when compulsory training was inaugurated last year.

It is anticipated that some 227,500 men in the 21, 22, 23 and 24 year classes will rate as physically fit under army standards. Of these 104,500 already have been called for training.

With Malice Toward Some — If They Attack East Indies ... An Army "Admiral" ... 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14

Javanese welders are shown working on sea mines which will be sown in the waters of the Dutch East Indies at the first sign of attack. The islands, incredibly rich in raw materials which certain "have-not" nations would like to own, are working overtime on defence preparations. Don't think these mines are dummies—they are being readied as part of the East Indies defence plans which call for an all-out defence against any kind of attack.

Graduated as No. 1 man at the U.S. Naval Academy in 1940, Joseph D'Arezzo did not get his naval commission because of a minor eye strain. Undaunted he set out to try his luck with the army and today is lieutenant with the coast artillery in the Panama Canal zone. He is shown aboard the flagship of the coast artillery's Gatun Lake fleet, where he is known as "Admiral" of the army's "third ocean navy."

They Passed Mighty Bomber 'O.K.'

Demonstrating New R.A.F. Life-Jacket For Airmen

To save the lives of airmen who are shot down or forced to bail out of their planes at sea, a new R.A.F. life-jacket is demonstrated here. At the left the outfit is shown as it looks on an airman. The jacket and trousers will keep the airman afloat until he inflates the small rubber boat carried in a flat container attached to the jacket. The inflation is done with a tiny compressed air bottle. At right, the tiny boat has been inflated and the airman is aboard. The gadget fastened to the left side of the raft is a torch which lights automatically on immersion to show position of downed flier to rescuers.

New York Harbor Mined - But Only In Practice

Most intensive mine-planting exercises since World War days are now being held at Fort Hancock, N.J., where men of the special mine command have started intensive drills to prepare them for their part in protecting New York horbor and its approaches from enemy shipping. The mines used are of the fixed type, controlled from shore. A mine and its anchor are pictured, left, ready to be dropped. The soldier in the foreground is on board a tug ready to catch the electrical cable attached to the mine. After he has secured the cable it will be connected with a control box which, in turn, will be hooked up with shore observation point, and then the mine can be fired at will, preferably when an enemy ship is sailing over it. At right is shown a scene aboard a mine-layer as the mine is dropped.

The Reflections Of Rudolf

If Hess flew to Scotland to ask the British to lay off while Hitler smashed his wicked Soviet partner, he too might write a book on "The Failure of a Mission". For it is evident from word and deed that this is precisely what Britain and her Allies are not going to do. Mr. Churchill gave Berlin the reply in set terms, and the R.A.F. is explaining what he meant.

After seventeen successive nights of unprecedented attacks on German military objectives, the bombers varied the program Monday by going across in daytime to smash ports and munitions centres. They met comparatively few Nazi planes, from which two inferences may be drawn. One is that the luftwaffe is not strong enough in machines and men to carry on full-scale fighting on both fronts. The other is that the R.A.F. night-raiding is likely to evolve quickly into an around-the-clock offensive.

So much for the notion, if there was such a notion, that Britain could be hoodwinked into an undeclared truce and thus give Hitler a chance to make himself master of the Russian wheat lands and oil fields. It would be interesting to know what Hess thinks now about Goering's idea of British gullibility.

A Senator Confesses

Senator Gerald Nye of North Dakota is at least candid about his motive. He says he hopes Britain will be defeated because that might improve the foreign trade of the United States "by removing our chief competitor". It is not often that a man so openly exposes himself to the contempt of decent-minded people.

The reasoning of the Senator is no better than his morals. Has the foreign trade of the United States been improved by the Nazi conquest of Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, France, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Yugoslavia, Greece, Rumania, Bulgaria, Greece? The Senator should write to people in some of these countries and find out what he can sell them, or what they have the means to buy.

The Senator apparently has neither heard nor read any of Herr Hitler's speeches—nor his book. He should take time out and inform himself on the subject of how much business the United States is going to be allowed to do abroad if Herr Hitler can bring his "new order" into operation in the world. He would find it interesting to speculate how much salary a Senator would be able to draw in an economic system in which the value of the United States dollar abroad would be set by Hitler in terms of German paper marks.

He Said It, But ?

For once Herr Goebbels kept a promise. He announced on Sunday, as he had promised, that the Nazi forces had been winning "great successes" on the Russian front. How much of the announcement was true is another matter. Moscow said it consisted of one big lie and ninety-nine of assorted sizes; and gave its own version of the week's events to prove the point.

Taking both accounts at face value, or subjecting both to the same rate of discount, the net result is that both sides suffered tremendous losses of planes, tanks and men, and neither made decisive gains or disorganized the other. The Russians were still fighting at the week-end on ground they took from Poland and Rumania. Maybe this is in line with the "schedule" the Nazi high command had charted, but that is doubtful, for at the same rate of going they would not get to Moscow for a month.

If the destruction of planes, tanks and other mechanized equipment has been on a scale at all approximating that claimed by Moscow, the striking power of the Axis is being weakened ten times faster than it ever has been. Even assuming that much of the air and ground equipment used on the eastern front is of the older patterns, this means a depletion of reserves serious in itself and certain to have effect upon the morale of soldiers taught to always expect overwhelming support by air and motorized ground fighting machines.

The general language employed in Herr Goebbels' announcement suggests a build-up for effect, rather than a recital of objectives attained.

Fill Up The Ranks

Canada's army needs men, enlisted for active service wherever there is or may occur in future a chance to deal the enemy a blow. Immediately the call is for 32,000, of whom about two-thirds have enlisted. In addition there will be required month by month the quota of about 6,000 necessary to carry out the systematic army expansion that has been planned and keep reinforcements moving overseas on schedule.

This need is more apparent now to the public than it was two weeks ago. The Axis dictators have staked their fortunes on the attack on Russia. If the attack succeeds, the Fuehrer will get control of Russian wheat, oil, minerals, and whatever other material — or human-resources he can make use of; and will draw upon those for his long-planned invasion of Great Britain. Should the attack fail, Britain and its Allies will have an opportunity to deal him a knockout blow if they have the men and equipment ready.

Whichever way the eastern campaign may go, the ranks of Canada's army overseas must be kept full, and the ranks of the units training in Canada also full.

Recruiting in Edmonton has gone along better than anywhere else in Alberta, perhaps even better than anywhere else in Canada, certainly far better than the average. Had other districts done as well, the 32,000 new recruits would now be in uniform and starting to train. As they did in the last war, Edmonton men are showing there is nothing the matter with their patriotism, their courage, or their understanding of the issues which are at stake. Frantic calls for conscription may be appropriate in some parts of Canada. Conscription is not needed in Edmonton and never has been.

The world outside Germany and Italy, and millions in those countries, will mourn the death of Paderewsky. To his countrymen it will be a particularly bitter reflection that he was not spared to see his beloved Poland again free.

Lord Beaverbrook has been made Britain's minister of supply. This is the direct result of his success in stepping up airplane production 50 per cent. and building a producing organization that keeps going all-out. Sir Max is the Lloyd George of former wartime industry, and bids fair to beat the record of his great predecessor of other war days.

In two months Albertans have taken out more licenses for pleasure cars than they took out in the whole fiscal year ending with March; and the figures for that year made a new all-time record. This is not a heavy munitions-producing province, and the price of wheat has not gone up, the influence of war spending and war-stimulated employment is making itself felt here. This will be more apparent as time passes.

Looking Backward

The Free Press mentions the arrival of a flight of potato bugs in Manitoba on recent south winds. The Free Press says that such bugs have come to Manitoba before but never appeared the second year, apparently being killed off by the cold winter.

The near approach to completion of the C. and E. railway renders it advisable that the question of its effect upon this settlement should be considered in all its bearings. It is a general complaint that the advent of a railway into an old and previously isolated settlement does not always fulfil the promises of the promoters or the expectations of the pioneers as to the benefits to be derived from its existence and services. . . . The main point is how is this district of greatly increased population and production going to get the cash to pay its bills to the outside world for the groceries, clothing, implements, etc., which it will require. . . . There are now no surplus of home products this year owing to the increase of population, but with the increased production of next year a market must be found.

America Must Act At Once

U.S. Will Never Have a Better Chance to Smash Hitler Than Right Now

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

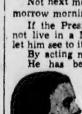

The time to act is now.

Not next month, not next week, but tomorrow morning.

If the President intends that we shall not live in a Nazi dominated world, then let him see to it that we don't.

By acting now.

He has been waiting, they say, for American opinion.

Dorothy Thompson

But he is not running a race with American public opinion.

He is running a race with Hitler.

And this is the moment for a powerful sprint.

For the first time there is a more than equal chance that this war can be concluded and the Hitler regime broken in eighteen months. But not unless we act now.

The alternative to acting now is either the possible defeat of the British Isles before this year is over, and, in that case, the certainty of a terribly disadvantageous war for the United States, or a very long and exhausting war of attrition, with unforeseeable revolutionary consequences arising out of the chaos and starvation.

Acting now means putting our navy and air force at the disposal of the British, for the purpose of putting out of commission the ports, airfields, docks and munition factories of the Nazis, while their air forces are engaged against Russia, and before they can turn around with their new protected and hurl their entire strength at the British Isles.

Acting now means clearing the Atlantic airways and seaways.

Germany Confused

Acting now means taking advantage of the psychological confusion that must exist in Nazi Germany, by making it clear that the attack on Russia has not changed that that fifty per cent. of the objectives still counts on it: namely, the demoralization of the public mind in the democracies.

This is the moment when prudence and audacity converge, and are the same.

Prudence says: Use the moment! The moment may be thirty days; the moment may be sixty days; but one thing is certain—the moment will never come again.

Never again will Hitler be engaged in a two-front war.

Never again will his air force be pitted in the east against a power that however weak is that of a huge nation, and is no tiny Balkan state.

Never again will there be a moment of shock in German public opinion as a whole policy is scrapped and reversed.

Now is the time for the west, the last refuge of civilization—for Great Britain and America—to gather up their forces and finish any possible future further attack by Hitler against the west this year.

After that it will be too late.

And he will not wait too long. Too late. Details are not important and ideologies are not important in this moment.

The ideology that wins the war will rule the world.

If the nations with intact institutions, popular governments, free universities, free criticism, private property, social conscience, break Hitler's chance against them now, their way of life will perish in Europe and America.

The President has said: "We will keep the war from these shores."

About Titles

From the Kingston Whig-Standard

We thoroughly agree with the viewpoint on titles expressed by the Ottawa Journal, in an article recently republished in this paper yesterday. Our whole Canadian democracy is full of inconsistencies.

Who is known as Bill or Tom to most of us, to a position as a police magistrate, and he immediately becomes, for all purposes of his office, "Your Worship". We appoint another lawyer to be a country judge and he becomes "Your Honor". Perhaps eventually he goes to the Supreme Court, in which case he becomes "My Lord", and loves it.

Then, the universities look around ever and anon for good-natured people with a bit of surplus wealth and not, of course, with any intellectual claims of annexing a slice for educational purposes, an LL.D is offered and plain John Jones, who often has no educational qualifications at all, becomes "Dr." Jones. A man can also become an "Hon. Lt.-Col." and if a lawyer has sufficient political influence he can become a King's Counsel, which entitles him to use K.C. after his name.

Why then should we not be consistent and reward those men who have given freely of their time and ability in the interests of the state, by wiping off the record the restrictions barring titles and other honors and adopting the traditional British attitude in the matter?

The granting of honorary titles to Canadians was the result of a temporary revulsion against them after the last war. This was not a revulsion against titles themselves, but against abuses in the conferring of a certain few of them. On one point we are all agreed—there should be no more hereditary titles in this country. Let honors go only to those who earn them. The resolution barring titles does not properly represent Canadian opinion today.

Lord Bennett of Calgary took the attitude when he was Prime Minister of Canada that the resolution passed in 1919 was not binding on the Parliament of Canada in 1930-39. He recommended that the public service of Canada Canadians be recognized by the King, and this was done. If, when the Conservatives return to power in Ottawa, the Prime Minister takes the same attitude more will be honored. The logical development of such a Conservative policy will eventually result in a Tory aristocracy being built up in Canada consisting of knights and their ladies, while dominion liberals will still be plain Mr. Jones and Mr. Smith, and will find their places at state functions somewhat embarrassing at all.

Canada seems to be British in everything else. Why can we not share in the King's honors? We are no longer all in it. Canadians being honored by the King if the honors are deserved. We do see quite a lot of harm in making all Canadians Commoners by law while our sister Dominions of South Africa and New Zealand continue to share in Honors lists.

"Your guns will hold the forts; your aircraft will hold the skies; your ships will keep the seas and you, for your part, have the right to hold on high the banner of pride and the banner of faith in your English brothers."—Lord Beaverbrook in a message to Canadians.

But now there's an even better chance. Namely, to keep the war from the British Isles, the fortress and outpost of the Americas in the Atlantic.

American Opportunity

If we miss this opportunity we will pay for it in sweat, blood and tear.

No declaration of war!

Keep rather a shred of neutrality, for with it we may be able better to act, for peace one of these days.

No declaration of war, but intervention—Intervention on the pattern of the Germans, Italians and Russians in Spain. But intervention this time for democracy, civilization, security, victory.

Intervention in every way and in every form that will make it impossible ever again for Hitler to turn his Luftwaffe against Westminister Abbey, the British Museum, the House of Commons, the ships of the Atlantic.

Minor details are unimportant. It is of no account, for instance, that at this moment Finland is of aid to Germany. That is inevitable. A victorious west will save Finland and Finland knows it. Neither a Nazi nor a Russian country is in the interest of a single people of Europe. They all know it.

The west—the people of the west—they alone can save Europe.

If we act now.

Suddenly, dazzlingly, swiftly, without warning, without explanation.

We must live in the times in which we live. The times in which we live preclude formalities.

Does anyone think any longer that treaties are worth the slightest value, or that anything is determinant except force—anywhere on this globe?

But force employed one moment may mean rapid peace. Delayed, disastrous war.

Now is the accepted time.

Hun Submarines Are Less Effective Now

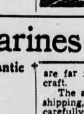

Nature of Battle of Atlantic Rapidly Changing As Methods Alter

By HAROLD L. WEIR

Throughout Germany, we are told, intense enthusiasm is still being whipped up about the exploits of Nazi U-boats.

In Berlin, a week ago, the first showing of a new film called "U-Boat Westward" was accompanied by a great naval display. Admirals attended under heavy guard and were cheered loudly. A naval chorus bellowed German sea-songs, each one dedicated to Hitler. Speculation that the Nazi submarines would soon sweep British shipping off the seas.

The facts do not seem to justify all this exuberance.

Harold L. Weir

The German high command announcements in spite of Hitler's orders to the contrary, which has been built around these undersea craft, tell a slightly different story.

Submarine sinkings of merchantmen are still enormous, but they appear to be declining relatively, compared with the damage the Luftwaffe has been inflicting on the British supply lines.

This comparative decline in the effective use of U-boats is far-reaching implications. Convoys proceeding under armed escort, for instance, are fairly secure against submarine attack. But they are easy game for Nazi hunting, patrolling airplanes, on the other hand, provide some protection against submarines but are far more effective against other aircraft.

The actual figures in these assaults on shipping, as can be well understood, are carefully disguised by the Germans. Not since last November have the German tonnage totals been accompanied by an analysis showing the number of victims credited to the various offensive branches.

At that time, the total was 7,200,000 tons of which the Nazis said the U-boats had sunk 52 percent, the surface raiders 25.3 percent and the air force 22.7 percent.

When monthly or quarterly figures that have been announced or can be calculated from the Germans' own claims show that on a tonnage basis the submarines reached maximum effectiveness in the period between August and November, 1940, when they were credited with two-thirds of the total sinkings.

In March of this year it was only 46 percent; in April, during the retreat from Greece, it was only about 28 percent; in May, it rose again to 40.

However, as has been clearly shown, the number of individual sinkings listed in the daily communiques, rather than the monthly or quarterly tonnage totals which the Germans claim, appear to provide a more accurate picture of the Battle of the Atlantic.

Thus, in the interval since last September, when the daily communiques have been more compete, these show some interesting peculiarities.

Queer Fluctuation

Month for month, and with a regularity too great to be mere coincidence, submarines and aircraft have alternately been credited with the lion's share of the number of sinkings. Thus, of the 107 merchantmen listed as sunk last October, 78 percent were credited to submarines and 5.6 to aircraft. In November, the situation was reversed. Of 86 vessels listed as sunk, submarines were credited with 23.5 percent and the Luftwaffe with 66. December changed again with 71.5 for the U.boats and 18.6 for the aircraft.

January and February, on this basis, were relatively poor months for the submarines. They were credited with only 22.2 and 23.3 respectively, while the Luftwaffe got the call with 44.4 and 43.4. In March, submarines were back to 45 percent of the 109 vessels listed as sunk, while the aircraft's share was given as 40.5.

In April, the submarines were credited with only 25 percent of the listed sinkings and the Luftwaffe with 68. More of a balance was reached in May when it was 42 percent for the submarines and 54 for the aircraft.

From the German statements there is no way of telling what has happened. Unofficially, the Germans disclosed that innovations in technique had been developed so that the undersea raiders now were hunting in packs of five or six, like wolves.

Two of them probably would be lost in an attack on a well-guarded convoy, in the belief of neutral experts, but the Germans have admitted only a few.

All this is mysterious enough to show that something queer is going on with regard to the record of submarine successes—as issued by the Germans.

Commanders Rare

Then there is the matter of leaders.

The commander of a submarine command requires a combination of skill and daring that is given to few men. It runs up big totals, but takes big risks.

Only three of the German commanders, Prien, Kretschmer and Schepke, have been credited with more than 200,000 tons each. Their combined tonnage is presented about 15 percent of the total sinkings credited to the entire submarine force.

Two of these have been lost and the third is a prisoner. It will be difficult to replace them.

A similar situation occurred in the last war when only 20 of the hundreds of German sub commanders were responsible for more than a third of all the allied shipping losses.

An effective submarine commander is even more rare than a great destructive airplane pilot. Aces of the latter war are infinitely more difficult to find than aces of the air.

Just how many submarines Germany actually has is one of Hitler's most closely guarded secrets. Like everything else, submarine production has been speeded up, "rationalized", and put on assembly line methods, until the output may now have reached almost one a day.

It is possible that Hitler is actually using something more than 300 of these craft.

This sounds dangerous and it is dangerous. But the submarines are definitely not fulfilling the awesome predictions made for them during the winter months by Hitler and Goebbels.

If even the submarine menace is partly froth and foam, the same thing might be said with justice of Hitler's other invincible fighting arms.

The Germans are not half so terrible as they try to appear.

Social Rules Are Stuffy

Washington Etiquet Very Rigid, Says Visitor; Regulation for Almost Everything

By HENRY McLEMORE

WASHINGTON.—With the easy confidence of a man who can trace his lineage back to the first Georgia sharecropper, I came to Washington expecting to step out a little socially.

I didn't plan on being a social lion exactly, but I had hopes of being at least a social chipmunk, and getting around among people who had the lapels of my dinner jacket re-faced. In a city that is the chief stronghold of democracy, I reasoned, neighborliness and informality would be abroad.

My awakening came when a friend sent me a copy of "Social Washington," a little book that tells you exactly what to do and what not to do in this capital of the country where all men are created free and equal. Its pages are as full of fear as if they had been torn from the diary of an Arctic explorer, and I hadn't read more than three chapters before I knew I would be lucky if I ever even got invited to a Dutch treat luncheon at the Automat.

"We have come to rely on certain fixed customs," the foreword explained, "which are rules in everything but name, the knowledge of which simplifies life for every one of us, and of which unhappily often brings upon the innocent newcomer very humiliating rebuffs, and indifference to which calls down stern criticism upon the offender."

Rules for Everybody

After this cheering warm-up come chapters on who sits next to whom at dinner, who mustn't sit next to whom when the dinner gong rings, who can fidget first when the meal is over, the order in which guests are supposed to leave, how long you must leave, the proper day and hour to call on folks, the correct way to arrive, what to say on a visit, how long you must stay when you call, and a list of the persons upon whom you must call but never with the expectation of seeing them.

No one knows what you do in Washington, or who you are, there is a certain place for you to sit at a dining table. That is unless you are an ambassador or a chief justice. No one has ever figured out, Social Washington explains with regret, which one of these dignitaries is entitled to sit closest to the carving set. Even if you roomed with both of them at school, you couldn't have them to dinner at the same time unless they agreed in advance to sit in one another's laps. One reading of this chapter and I was afraid to go down to the corner dogwagon for a hamburger lest I take a stool that belonged to some one who outranked me. Just one single breach of deportment, Social Washington makes clear, and a fellow is as much an outcast as if he were a typhoid carrier who ate with his knife.

Visiting a friend or acquaintance in Washington is a procedure only slightly less complicated than taking a submarine down for a drive. You just don't go and ring the doorbell, say hello, and sit down on the porch for a chat. This paragraph in Washington Baedeker of behavior will give you an idea of how it works:

How to Visit

"The question of what to do about out-of-town friends visiting in Washington is often perplexing. Let us suppose that Mrs. A. wishes to return the call of a friend visiting Mrs. B. and Mrs. B. owes Mrs. A. an official first call that she has never paid. It is not well bred to ignore Mrs. B. in her own house. So, Mrs. A. leaves the cards on Mrs. B. as well as on her visitor. Mrs. B. returns them, of course, and the incident is closed."

I don't know who has the calling card racket in Washington, but some one must make a fortune out of it. You never leave one card in Washington on a call I gather but scatter them around until a maid starts sweeping them up. Here is a paragraph that illustrates how they must be thrown about like confetti:

"Mrs. A., calling on the B's, leaves one of her own and two of her husband's cards, and one extra of both for every additional member of the family except young, unmarried daughters. If Mrs. A. is calling on Mrs. X. she will leave one of her own, and two of her husband's, or if the cards read 'Mr. and Mrs. A.,' she will leave one of these and one extra of her husband's. If there is a Miss X and a married daughter with her husband at the X's, Mrs. A. will leave three of her own cards and four of her husband's, or if she has a double card she will leave two of these for Mrs. X. and the married daughter and two extra of Mr. A's for the women."

I hate to spoil the reading of Social Washington for you by telling you how it ends but I must quote a few "don'ts" from the last two pages.

"Don't bring prejudices to other people's houses. Remember enemy must be treated with special courtesy when you meet him or her at dinner. It will be all the more fun to cut him the next day."

"Don't use the word 'house guest;' it is an unpardonable social lapse. Say 'a visiting friend,' 'some one stopping with me,' or even a 'guest.'"

So in this land of the free I'm going hogie to be brave. I'm going to fill my house with house guests and have fun cutting them all the next day.

Mail For Soldiers In Canada

The incomplete addressing of mail intended for soldiers at training centres in Canada is the cause of numerous delays in delivery. Honourable William P. Mulock, K.C., Postmaster General, to obviate this situation, again requests the full co-operation of the public in writing out in full the correct and complete address on all military mail.

It is essential that the Post Office place-name should always be included in the addresses on mail posted to soldiers still in Canada because their mail is handled by the civil post offices and not by the Army Postal Service. The omission of the "name of place where soldier is located" has resulted in many such letters and parcels being forwarded to the Base Post Office, where it is impossible to find the named in the address are still in Canada. The resultant delay thus caused, and the extra work thrown upon the Canadian Postal Corps in locating the addressees of this mail would be entirely eliminated if the rules of correct addressing are observed.

Mail delivery in Canada should be addressed with the usual complete particulars —Regimental Number, Rank and Name, Name and details of Unit (i.e., Company or section, Squadron, Battery, Holding Unit, etc.) and name of regiment or branch of the service, in full; and the name of the post office where the soldier's unit is located.

Advanced Training Centre Is Visited by Hundreds Army Day

The welcome sign was hung out at the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps (advanced) training centre here Saturday as the centre participated in Canada's first Army Day. Hundreds of people from the city and district visited the camp, saw the buildings and how the soldier of today lives and witnessed some phases of modern warfare. Lt.-Col. J. J. Burton-Willison, V.D., is commandant of the centre, and arrangements for the day's program were under the direction of Major W. Cooper, chief instructor.

The centre was open to the public from 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. and during that time regular army drill was performed, including physical training, games, respirator drill, rifle drill, handling of light machine guns and anti-tank rifles, squad drill and fire control demonstrations. A squad of motor cyclists gave a demonstration outlining advanced training and there was a demonstration of an air attack on a small convoy. Two other interesting demonstrations showed a badly protected convoy being attacked by enemy ground troops and finally captured. Another, a well-protected convoy, when attacked by the enemy, drove them off successfully. Thunder flashes, blank rifle fire and smoke screens and the art of camouflage was used effectively in these demonstrations.

PUBLIC ADDRESS

Lt. D. B. MacKay was in charge of the public address system and outlined the work of the R.C.A.S.C. in wartime and explained the demonstrations to the watchers.

The Red Deer armory also had visitors during the day, and the guests had a chance to see how a reserve unit is administered, maintained and trained. Equipment on hand was explained. The armory is the home of two reserve units of the Canadian army, the 2-78th Field Battery, R.C.A., reserve unit of the 78th Field Battery, R.C.A., now on active service, and No. 1 company, Calgary Regiment (Tank), reserve unit of the 14th Army Tank Battalion, now also on active service. Red Deer (Headquarters) Company, Veterans' Volunteer Reserve, and Red Deer Company, Alberta Women's Service Corps, also use the armory as headquarters.

DRUMHELLER

July 1 Picnic Is Stopped By Storm

Dominion celebrations came to a quick end here when a cloudburst broke over early Tuesday afternoon. It was accompanied by an electrical storm.

A bolt of lightning struck the Canadian National Railway stores building and set the roof alight. The blaze was soon under control as the fire brigade, working in a terrific downpour, stopped it from spreading. The lightning travelled for 30 feet between the roof and ceiling.

Hundreds of basements were flooded in the business section while much damage was done to new installation of a storm sewer system, now under construction. Many homes were flooded in the Newcastle district. The community picnic and sports day was cancelled.

Gleaned From Rural News

NORTH RED DEER — Walter Wiens, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wiens suffered a spine fracture Monday when a stair case, Mr. Wiens was working on, fell on him. He will have to wear a cast for six months.

J. A. Vikman, Edmonton, Bishop of the Canadian Lutheran Church and Rev. C. Bernardson, of Camrose. Dean of the C.L.B.I.

MORRIN — Miss Ethel Doan, bride-elect of July was guest of honor at a shower held for her by the Tinis Club Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. R. O. Perry. On behalf of Tinis members, Miss Mary Morrison presented Miss Doan with a silver basket.

SYLVAN LAKE—C. K. Hay is overseeing the local scrap metal campaign and is hoping to receive about 25 tons. During the past week six tons of metal have been brought to the local dump.

MORRIN—Archie Miles, Morrin, has arranged the sale of his herd of registered Red Poll cattle, to provincial government officials. This herd is a strain from the government registered stock owned by G. Deprose of Morrin, and Mr. Wise of Galahad.

FERINTOSH—Hans Erickson, 79, Ferintosh pioneer, died Saturday at his Ferintosh home. His activities have included farming, mail-carrier and sheep repairing.

CROSSFIELD — Final figures show that the Crossfield Unit exceeded its quota in the Victory Loan campaign by more than 225 per cent. Of the $93,500 total, $83,000 was in cash subscriptions with the remainder in conversions. Frank Laut, M.L.A., was unit organizer, G. A. C. Dougan, chairman, and Mrs. Stevens, secretary.

KILLAM—Members of the Anglican Church gathered at the home of Major J. C. Neely and Mrs. Neely recently to say farewell to Mrs. J. R. Large and two daughters. Beth and Helen, who leave shortly for Winnipeg and Eastern Canada. William Halsall, on behalf of the congregation, presented Mrs. Large with a gift.

BASHAW

Banquet Honors Anniversary Of Rev. and Mrs. Otto Eklund

Banquet and celebration was held on Tuesday in the Swedish Lutheran Svea church for Rev. and Mrs. Otto Eklund, in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Dinner was served to about 80 guests after which toasts were made, with Rev. E. Holm of Scandia, president of the Alberta district, acting as toastmaster. Short addresses were given by Rev. J. A. Vikman, Edmonton, bishop of the Canadian Lutheran conference; Rev. C. Bernardson, Camrose, dean of the Canadian Lutheran Bible Institute; Miss Adeline Tennis, superintendent of the Sunday school; Miss Norma Tennis, of the Junior Missionary society; Mrs. C. A. Johnson, of the Ladies' Aid. C. A. Johnson spoke on behalf of the congregation.

10 YEARS AT BASHAW

Rev. Mr. Eklund has been minister of the Swedish Lutheran Svea church here for the past 10 years, and was ordained in 1916 at the Meeting Creek Swedish Lutheran church.

The presentation of a solid gold cross for a watch chain and a purse of money was made by C. A. Johnson on behalf of the congregation.

Presentation of bouquets of roses was made by the Tennis twins, Joyce and Marina, to Mrs. Eklund and Mrs. Johnson, who on this occasion also celebrated her wedding anniversary.

A Lot Of Funny Birds Prevalent In This Alberta

Here's the latest animal monstrosity: a perfectly normal blackbird with only one wing was discovered recently by A. L. Boida of this district. There were no signs of the wing having been torn off, so it is presumed the bird was born that way. The blackbird, a more or less gay young creature of one summer, tries valiantly to fly but so far hasn't done quite so well as he should.

Farmers Say Crops Wilting With Heat

BENTON STATION—Survey of the farmers in this district shows that early wheat is wilting, probably due to high temperatures in the past week and a lack of rain. Hot scorching winds have been prevalent. Wheat sown later has not been damaged.

BASHAW—Crops here are taking on a new appearance since fresh rainfalls and some wheat fields are beginning to head out. Gardens are in excellent shape, regardless of numerous cutworms in the district. On Tuesday evening the Bashaw area received 81 inches of rain. It is understood nearly two inches fell west of town.

RED DEER

Summer Camps Start Tuesday

Two camps of interest to Red Deer boys start this week and a number of boys from this city will be attending them. On July 1 Camp Tuxis, for boys in the province 15 years of age and older, open at Kasota Beach, Sylvan Lake. George Miles, provincial boys' work secretary, will be in charge.

On July 2, the Red Deer District Boys' Camp for Trail Rangers, organized Sunday school groups, etc., opens at Meridian Beach, Gull Lake. John Sorocan, St. Stephen's College, Edmonton, will be in charge, and Rev. H. R. Ross, of Lonard Gaetz Memorial United church, Red Deer, will be one of the leaders assisting him.

The Red Deer Rotary Club's health camp at Sylvan Lake will open for the season on July 3 with 23 boys from the city of Red Deer as guests. J. M. McAfee is in charge of the first camp. Boys from the country will be in camp from July 17 to 28 with Jack Teasdale in charge of arrangements. R. C. Ives is making plans for the third session from July 31 to August 11 when girls from Red Deer will be guests of the Rotarians.

Red Cross DOINGS In the Country

RED DEER—Close to $425 was raised by the Red Deer branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society at a tag day held here recently. Members of the branch were on the job downtown all day and were given good support by citizens, airmen and soldiers.

NEW SAREPTA—With all proceeds going to the Red Cross and other war work, the Moravian Ladies Aid here staged their annual bazaar last week, with a patriotic auction of fancy work. Other kale-raisers at the event included a novelty "Tiddlywink" refreshment booth and sale of chicken dinners.

CROSSFIELD — The Crossfield branch of the Red Cross is sending another shipment to headquarters this week. Included are 109 articles made up of sheets, pillow cases, refugee and soldiers' clothing and a pair of all-wool blankets donated by the Anglican Women's Guild. In order to increase the volume of their work, the women have formed a Sewing Club to meet every Friday afternoon.

CORONATION — At a recent meeting of the Junior Red Cross at Coronation, members decided to make a donation of $25 to the Queen's Canadian Fund for air raid victims. Officials acknowledged the gift of a First Aid kit which the Rev. E. Holm of Scandia, president of the Alberta District; Rev. J. A. Vikman, Edmonton, Bishop of the Canadian Lutheran Church and Rev. C. Bernardson, of Camrose, Dean of the C.L.B.I.

MORRIN — Miss Ethel Doan, bride-elect of July was guest of honor at a shower held for her by the Tinis Club Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. R. O. Perry. On behalf of Tinis members, Miss Mary Morrison presented Miss Doan with a silver basket.

Gleaned From Rural News

NORTH RED DEER — Walter Wiens, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wiens suffered a spine fracture Monday when a stair case, Mr. Wiens was working on, fell on him. He will have to wear a cast for six months.

NORTH RED DEER — Following a short program under the direction of the teachers Miss L. Foster and Miss E. Goetz, pupils of the North school were treated to ice cream, candy and nuts by the North Red Deer Women's Institute Friday.

FERINTOSH—Edgar Smith of the Fredhem district was given a surprise party this week on the occasion of his birthday. A yard full of cars, a house full of guests and a table laden with lunch were the main features.

RED DEER—Fred Turnbull was appointed to the Board of the Red Deer Municipal Hospital at this week's meeting of the City Council. He succeeds M. L. Gordon, former chairman, who resigned when leaving Red Deer to make his home at the Coast. When the next municipal elections are held, two nominations will be asked for by the Hospital Board. Present members are F. Turnbull, Geo. H. Best and P. W. Johnston.

LLOYDMINSTER— District Governor Joe McLean, Lloydminster, of the Association of Kinsmen Clubs of Canada presented a charter to the newly-organized club at Vilkie this week. Attending the ceremony were Kinsmen from Lloydminster, North Battleford and Kerrobert who attended a banquet in the Rex Cafe, Wilkie.

VERMILION.—Rev. Canon G. P. Gower of Christ Church, Edmonton, delivered an address in the Legion hall this week. He gave an interesting account of the conference of North American churches recently held in Toronto and outlined plans discussed for social and economic reconstruction after the war.

DAYSLAND — Dayaland citizens had a thrill at the local theatre recently when Sergeant Eric Marshall's picture appeared on the screen in a news reel. Eric left a short while ago and the pictures were taken on his departure for England.

STETTLER—Miss Lulu Knight, Stettler, has been notified that her application has been accepted at the Wetaskiwin school. Miss Knight has been teaching in the public school in Stettler for some time now. Miss Eleanor Jennejohn, also of Stettler, will take a position in Calgary, teaching intermediate school. Miss Jennejohn has been teaching high school here for several years.

STETTLER—A jitney dance was held here this week on the floor of Ed Hart's new house. Music was supplied with records and all proceeds went to the Soldier's Gift Club fund. A large crowd was in attendance.

BYEMOOR—Byemoor squad of the WVR. fell in at the Stettler armouries Friday and joined the Stettler squad in a parade when the Canadian recruiting unit visited Stettler.

VERMILION.— Board of Trade has announced that the annual community picnic will be held July 7, weather permitting. Robert Clarke and Charles Heckbert, local High school graduates, left the district Monday evening for a cycling trip over the Jasper-Banff highway.

BASHAW. — Missionary meeting was held recently at the Swedish Lutheran Svea church, with the following taking part in the services, Rev. E. Holm of Edmonton, president of the Alberta District; Rev. J. A. Vikman, Edmonton, Bishop of the Canadian Lutheran Church and Rev. C. Bernardson, of Camrose, Dean of the C.L.B.I.

MORRIN — Miss Ethel Doan, bride-elect of July was guest of honor at a shower held for her by the Tinis Club Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. R. O. Perry. On behalf of Tinis members, Miss Mary Morrison presented Miss Doan with a silver basket.

Best Waterfowl Hunting Season On Record Promised This Year

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

Promising one of the best waterfowl hunting seasons on record, young ducks have hatched out in large numbers, and the broods may now be observed swimming on Chip Lake under the watchful eyes of their mothers.

Old-timers here assert that the hatch is one of the best in years. Broods of high as a score of ducklings have been noted along the lakeshore, and observers comment that small hatches appear to be a rarity this year.

Some of the young will fall victims to predators during the course of the summer. This lake swarms with jackfish, and these voracious fish consider a choice young duckling about as tasty a morsel as there is. California gulls are also here in large numbers and these birds are under suspicion of attacking and eating the little ducks.

The large hatches appear to be common to all the species of ducks that use this lake as a breeding ground.

Large hatches of upland game prairie chicken, ruffed grouse and Hungarian partridge, have also been noted in those areas where bush fires had not destroyed the nests.

Aid For War In Asia Described

Stirring account of the work of the North Alberta auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada under present-day conditions was given recently by Rev. H. O. T. Burkwall district secretary of the auxiliary, speaking in the Ferintosh town hall.

Rev. Mr. Burkwall said that in the last 12 months 3,000,000 Scriptures had been printed by the society in London, Eng., under war conditions. Two consignments of these were shipped to China, he said, one of which became the unwitting object of a Japanese bomb. The other was landed in a flood. Rather than waste the second consignment, however, the Bibles were dried out and found a ready market amongst the Chinese.

Stampeders Beat Dodgers By 13-6 Count

Looking them Over

By JACK KELLY

YESTERDAY the public handed it out and we sport writers took it on the chin—one of the heaviest holiday sport programs that Edmonton has had in a long time. Today we will probably seek revenge by getting out of bed about 2:00 p.m. instead of 4:00 for the pleasure of strolling around the city and gloating while you work.

After something like 22 hours on the gallop you get sort of incoherent. For that reason we'll polish off the holiday rush this morning in machine gun rhythm.

The South Side race meet went off very well considering the obstacles that had to be overcome—lack of stables, lack of training and so on. It was a right enjoyable meet for thousands of Edmontonians who are looking forward with no pleasure to the dropping of racing here until after the war.

Scores of fans are wondering if something mightn't be done about working out a longer and better meet for the South Side track when the Exhibition track closes here for the duration of the war after the coming fair.

They tell me that the prairie racing circuit checked over the South Side plant and decided that something in the neighborhood of $200,000 would have to be spent to prepare for big time racing. The oval has to be widened, starting boys constructed, the stand moved back, pari-mutuel facilities revamped and stables built. The prospects are not very bright for such an expenditure being made.

Something may be done, however, in the way of putting over a full week of racing on a modest scale next summer—local horses and those from nearby points, a few improvements in the track and plants—just a war-time stop-gap so that the many thoroughbreds in this area will not entirely forget how to run.

Junior Baseball Tightens Up

Yesterday brought the fifth and sixth games of the Edmonton Junior Baseball League schedule and also a tightening up in play that promises much more interesting games from now on.

Maple Leafs lost two games yesterday by 8-7 scores—one to the Canadians and one to Singer's Clothiers. Canadians are now the only undefeated club in the league—and mighty lucky that the Leafs didn't beat them in the second tilt on the holiday program.

Today brings the advanced deadline on which all junior clubs must cut down to the Season's limit of 15 active players. This trimming is expected to release several boys from the leading clubs who will be a big help to other coaches.

In the Central Alberta League, Ponoka Stampeders have started pounding the ball again—a sure indication that the farmer members of that club have finished their spring work. You aren't in the best of condition to play ball when you are working on a dawn to dark shift trying to get the crop in.

Hornsby Has Been Gold-Plated

Rogers Hornsby is on the loose again, or "at liberty" as they used to say in the theatrical profession. He was dropped by the Oklahoma City club when it found itself unable to produce the $1,000 a month his contract called for.

The Rajah has been rubbing shoulders with big money for a long time now. In 1925 he signed a three-year contract with St. Louis Cardinals calling for a sum estimated at between $20,000 and $25,000 a year. Late in 1926 he received a two-year contract from the Giants at $40,000, believed to have been tops for a National League player up to that time.

He made more than $60,000 profit from the sale of his Cardinal stock, disposing of it for $116,600. He signed a two-year contract as manager of the Browns in 1938 at $20,000 a year. He got $10,000 as manager of Baltimore Orioles.

Those are just a few random figures which indicate that baseball was doing all right by Mr. Hornsby.

South Siders Put Over Another Fine Meet

In the above layout The Edmonton Bulletin cameraman caught some of the highlights of the third and final day of the South Side race and sport meet yesterday afternoon. The upper left-hand panel shows the tense and excited fans watching in the stands as the horses come down the stretch. In the upper right-hand panel you see the horses the folks are watching. The picture shows the first race of the holiday program. Jockey Mulrooney brought Gay Lady down in front—the first of five wins that he chalked up during the afternoon. Lower centre panel shows His Worship Mayor Fry officially opening the meet. Left to right on the platform are Bert Robertson, Chas. Fisher, James McFadyen, Manager Jimmy Smith and Mayor Fry at the microphone. Lower left is a little lady who got caught in the sudden shower of rain and made the best of it with rain cape and ice cream cone. She is Miss Doreen Pienderleith—just three years old. Lower right is the sagie team of Marjorie Pollock and Eric Penfold who were fea tures of the grandstand show.

Ponoka Stretches League Lead to Two Full Games

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

PONOKA, July 2—Ponoka Stampeders lengthened their leadership of the Central Alberta Baseball League to two full games here last night when they went on a hitting spree to trounce the Edmonton Dodgers 13-6.

Stampeders combed Tommy Brant for six runs and six hits in three innings and then smashed Bail's offerings for seven runs and eight hits in the remaining five innings.

The Ponoka club clinched the game with heavy attacks in the third, fifth and sixth frames. Three hits, three bases on balls and one error gave the Stampeders five runs in the third. Two hits, two bases on balls and an error counted three Ponoka tallies in the fifth while five hits scored three more runs in the sixth.

Jimmy Rattleanake and Cecil Ritz were the hurlers who held the Dodgers in check while the Stampeders galloped around the bases. The tall Indian pitcher gave two runs and one hit in three innings, while Ritz yielded seven hits and four runs in six frames.

However it was Skipper Ralph Morgan who got most of the Dodger hits. In four times at bat he hit two doubles and a single. No other Dodger was able to get more than one hit in the game.

Despite the fact that a total of 19 runs were scored, the game was finished in the comparatively fast time of one hou rand 50 minutes under the umpiring of Clarance Gauchee and Clayton Hepburn.

Causgrove, Skitch Capture Division Awards South Side

Competing in the Dominion Day track and field events at South Side Athletic Park on Tuesday afternoon, June Causgrove won the intermediate trophy and Edjth Skitch the junior award presented by the Alberta Women's Athletic Federation. Both are from the city and each collected 12 points.

The meet was sponsored by the South Edmonton Business Men's Association and sanctioned by the Alberta branches of the A.A.U. and W.A.A.F. and in addition to the girls' evenis ten competitions for men were included.

While no new records were set up Gertrude Haggen of Edmonton made an unofficial new mark of 12 1-5 seconds in the 100 metre run clipping 1-5 second off the former Alberta time for the distance.

In the junior 60 metres Edith Skitch defeated Erma Fairhead, of Central high school, Lethbridge, by a scant margin in eight seconds, just over the provincial record of 7 4-5 seconds.

In winning the intermediate trophy June Causgrove took first in the high jump, discus throw and baseball throw and in addition placed second in the 100 metres which was won by Doreen McNeill, of Edmonton, and third in the 80 metres hurdles. In the latter she finished behind Patricia Hagen of the city and Violet Friestad of Ponoka.

Edith Skitch also captured three firsts, a second and a third, winning the 60 metres, 60 metres hurdles and high jump. She was beaten by Erma Hofstetter of Edmonton in the baseball throw and by Dorothy Kuring, of Beach Corner, and Margaret Murray in the broad jump.

Incidentally Dorothy Kuring tossed away her running shoes and made good mark in the running broad jump in her bare feet. This girl shows distinct promise in the jumps.

Another out-side competitor who did well was Violet Friestad of Ponoka who won three seconds and two thirds in the intermediate division.

Edmonton Girls' Athletic Club won the Carlton Brothers Trophy which is awarded to the club having the greatest number of entries and winning the most points of the day.

Roy Lisagor of Hairy Hill won the only junior boys event, the 100 yards, defeating Gordon Mitchell and Lawrence Moreau of Edmonton.

Tom Steele of the Maple Leaf Athletic Club was the big point getter in the senior boys' open events, taking four firsts. He won the 100 yards, 220 yards, 440 and broad jump.

Miss Juanita Lawrence, secretary of the Alberta branch W.A.A.F. was in charge of the girls events.

Weatherly Fined For Not Hustling

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—(AP)—Manager Roger Peckinpaugh of Cleveland Indians announced Tuesday night Outfielder Roy Weatherly has been suspended indefinitely without pay "for not hustling as he should."

The suspension came as a sequel to a $20 fine handed Weatherly by Peckinpaugh, who accused the veteran outfielder of not hustling during the Indians' games with Chicago White Sox last Sunday.

Defeats Hicks

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 2—(BUP)—Medalist Marjorie Rowe of Michigan State has advanced to the second round of the National College Women's Golf tournament.

Miss Rowe eliminated Dorothy Hicks of Western Reserve, 6 and 4, in the opening round of match play.

Cubs Management Has Novel Scheme Help Club Batting

CHICAGO, July 2—(AP)—Chicago Cubs are going to wager $1,000 at Wrigley Field Thursday in a gamble that the club will start hitting again.

General manager Jim Gallagher said 2,000 centr.-field bleacher seats would be levied off during the Cub-St. Louis Cardinals game so that Cub batmen will be free of the "white shirt" background they insist is keeping them from seeing pitches with accuracy.

"I don't believe the white shirts have any effect on the batters," said Gallagher, "but the players believe it and we'll make this test.

The beanings of players in the park haven't anything to do with it. It's purely an experiment. Those seats, costing 50 cents each, are the most popular ones in the park, and I hope the fans remember we are simply trying to help the club."

In sixth place in the National "A" condition at the weigh-in Thursday, Davis, who scaled 180 only last Friday, was down to 168 for the official weigh-in, close to the absolute minimum agreed on for the fight. Zivic had announced he would be between 149 and 150 and hit 149¼.

Zivic and Davis To Meet Tonight

NEW YORK, July 2—(AP)—Old man weather gave Fritzie Zivic or Bummy Davis—or both—a 24-hour reprieve Tuesday. A late afternoon rain caused Promoter Mike Jacobs to postpone until tonight the 12-round non-title battle at the Polo Grounds between the welterweight champion and the cheerful little character from Brooklyn.

Both fighters reported in grade "A" condition at the weigh-in Tuesday. Davis, who scaled 180 only last Friday, was down to 168 for the official weigh-in, close to the absolute minimum agreed on for the fight. Zivic had announced he would be between 149 and 150 and hit 149¼.

Senator After Tropical Park

JACKSONVILLE, July 2—(sUP)—State Senator Ernest Graham has asked the Florida Racing Commission to refuse racing dates to the Tropical Park race track.

Graham charges that New York and Chicago gangsters are operating the track behind a respectable front. The State Senator said he appeared before the commission on behalf of aged persons in Florida who are to receive five per cent of the parimutuel money for pension for the year. Officials of Tropical Park say they will welcome an investigation.

Daily Double Pays $1,199.70

HAMILTON, July 2—(CP)—The daily double at Hamilton race track stretched into the four-figure column Tuesday when Ebony Parasol and Charley Bailey returned $1,199.70 for $2. Ebony Parasol paid off $59.95 in the opening race and Charley Bailey followed up in the second with a return of $32.60.

Jockey Mulrooney Cops Five Firsts South Side Races

Piloting home five winners on Tuesday, the first day of the forty-ninth annual Dominion Day celebration under the auspices of the South Edmonton Business Men's Association, Jockey Mulrooney established a mark for all riders to shoot at.

Mulrooney had seven mounts during the day, one in every race and he brought five of them under the wire first, once he took the place money and the other time found him in fourth position—not a bad afternoon's performance.

As a matter of fact the same jockey had two winners and a second on Saturday and on Monday he snared one first, one second and a pair of thirds.

Form followers had their innings on Tuesday and the largest crowd of the three-day meet certainly was not backward in squeezing in to the betting booths, giving the management the biggest handle so far for the $1.00 mutuels.

The biggest pay of the afternoon was $3.55 returned on nose bets in the first race to holders of Miss Kay's straight tickets.

FEATURE EVENT

The feature race of the day, Strathcona Hotel Handicap, over a distance of 1 1-16th miles was won by Monte Santo with Mulrooney up. The big black was well handled and after laying back until in the back stretch gradually moved up to win quite easily. Nose ducats paid $2.30.

Place position went to Happy Jester, ridden by Nobb, and Jos Finn was brought in third by Jockey Northcott.

The fastest 6½ furlongs of the entire meet was the sixth race on Tuesday. Jockey Mulrooney romped home in front with Buddy Kay, the favorite in 1.28 4-5 to pay $1.83, $1.25 and $1.15.

Buddy Kay was really pushed in this race although he was never headed, but Silent Rogue and Eldena finished in a dead heat for the place spot.

FAST FIVE FURLONGS

Dalemead won the final race of the day in 1.03 2-5 which was the best time made in the three days over the five furlong course.

The three day meet was undoubtedly an unqualified success and congrats are due to Manager Jimmy Smith and to President J. A. Young and to Secretary-Treasurer Chas. S. Fisher for the manner in which it was conducted.

Presiding Steward was J. McMurray, placing judges were Dr. W. A. Wilson and J. M. Douglas. Dr. F. W. Crang was the official time-keeper, Fred Snow was in charge of the pari-mutuels and the paddock judge was B. Ross.

Iceland is the 17th largest island of the world, with an area of 40,000 square miles. Ellesmere Land also has an area of 40,000 square miles.

Jockey Sporri Boots Home Three Winners at Coast

VANCOUVER, July 2.—(CP)—Farage, ridden by Sylvan Vancouver jockey Emil Sporri, nipped Dalkeith and Franworth at the wire to win the $1,000 Dominion Day handicap at Lansdowns Park Tuesday. Coaco, winner of the inaugural race Saturday against a fast field was unplaced.

Palage paid $14.05, $5.50 and $3.30 on a $2 pari-mutuel ticket.

Jockey Sporri scored the first hat trick of the three-day season by booling home two other winners. Miss Goldstream in the second race and Simonette in the seventh.

Only five fans picked the first daily double of Lilaade, a long shot in the first rac., and Miss Goldstream in the second, and shared a pot of $3461.35. Lilaade paid $73.15 straight away in the first race. The second daily double, Mere in the six'h race and Simonette in the seventh paid $10.75.

Boston Buys Athletic Hurler

PHILADELPHIA, July 2—(BUP)—The Boston Red Sox have bought right handed Nelson Potter from the Philadelphia Athletics to help bolster their wobbly pitching staff.

The Sox paid the 75-hundred dollar waiver price for the 29-year-old flinger. Potter was drafted by the A's from Columbus in 1937, and had won 19 and lost 38 for the Mackmen up to this year. He has not pitched this season since June 14th when he appeared in a relief role against the St. Louis Browns.

Collegians Going Well In Western Golf Tournament

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 2—(AP)—Five Stanford University golfers, led by Ray Brownell, got into the top rank of scorers Tuesday in the first half of the 36-hole qualifying trials for the 42nd western amateur golf tournament.

However, par 70 for the Broadmoor course refused to crack before the field of 63, smallest since the war year of 1917.

Brownell set the pace with 37-33—70.

Gordon Hough, Stanford senior, shot 35-36 for a tie at 71 with defending champion Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Harry Todd of Dallas, 1939 western winner, and John Stammer, Oklahoma champion.

The second 18-hole section will be played today.

Hands Too Large: Fight Postponed

NEW YORK, July 2—(AP)—Boxing promoters have their troubles, too.

Out at Dexter Park in Brooklyn, Ample Abe Simon, the 265-pound New York heavyweight, and Joe O'Gatty of Newark, N.J., were scheduled for a 10-round fight Tuesday. It had been postponed from Monday because of rain.

They were practically ready to start swinging and some 3,000 fans were in the stands when it was dec.ded that the makers of boxing gloves had misunderstood the order and hadn't delivered a pair big enough to fit Simon's huge hands. So there was nothing to do but postpone the fight.

Simon and O'Gatty now are scheduled to top the club's next regular card next Monday. And the promoters sadly announced that Tuesday night's tickets will be honored then.

Fourth Title For McSpaden

OYSTERVILLE, Mass., July 2—(AP)—Harold "Jug" McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., ch ged with a five-under-par 67 Tuesday to overhaul Paul Runyan of White Plains, N.Y., and gain his fourth Massachusetts open golf title with a record smashing 72-hole total of 280 at Oyster Harbors. Runyan's 71 put him three strokes behind the victor.

McSpaden, 1939 Canadian Open champion, cut three strokes off the tournament's previous low of 283 made by Byron Nelson at Worcester in 1938.

American League

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP)—Base hits continued to blaze off Joe DiMaggio's bat Tuesday as the Yankee here ran his consecutive hitting streak to 44 games, tying the all-time big league record set by Willie Keller in 1897 and helping the Yanks administer two pastings to Boston Red Sox, 7-2 and 9-2.

While he slugging outfielder was keeping his streak intact, though, another batting string of which the Yankees were almost equally proud was snapped when they failed to hit a home run in the first game. Up to Tuesday they had clouted at least one round-tripper in 25 consecutive games, breaking the previous record of 17 straight games set by Detroit Tigers last year.

DiMaggio slapped two singles in the first game and then came through with a clean blow to centrefield in his first time up in the nightcap to tie Keeler's 44-year-old mark, which was established before fouls counted as strikes.

The closest the Yanks came to continuing their home run streak was when little Phil Rizzuto smacked a liner against the left field wall. It lacked perhaps four feet of going into the crowd. Catcher Bill Dickey poled one into the right field bleachers in the second game, but it was too late then.

A light shower fell and unnatural darkness forced calling off of the second contest in the fifth inning.

Ernie Bonham limited the Sox to four hits in the second game, including a two-run homer by Joe Cronin.

EXPLANATION OF TODAY'S CARTOON

THE TURTLE OF ST. HELENA: The only still-living thing that ever saw Napoleon was a gigantic turtle, weight about 400 pounds, which was brought to St. Helena from the Island of Aldabra in 1795. Its age at the time it was brought to St. Helena is unknown, but it can safely be assumed that it was no youngster even then. It is known that it has lived in St. Helena for the past 146 years, which longevity is not unusual for this type of elephantine turtle. The great Corsican, who spent several years of exile on the island, saw the turtle and was seen by it a number of times.

Edmonton Cricketers Defeat Calgary By Score 80-64 For Inter-City Trophy

Edmonton cricketers defeated Calgary 80-64 at the Golf Links pitch on Dominion Day in the first of the two annual games for possession of the Weaver Memorial trophy. The second match will be played in the southern city some time in September. Last year each team won a game.

With the inclusion of Wing-Cmdr. Noel Smith, AC. Lukehurst, AC. Routledge and AC. McCullough in the calgary eleven the southerners presented rather a formidable team.

Noel Smith is a Gloucester county man and Lukehurst played for Gore Court, Kent, and was a well known cricket figure in and around Maidstone, Eng. Routledge for six years was a member of the grounds staff at Lords.

CALGARY OPENS

Cyril Falk, captain of the Calgary club, and Newton, who opened the batting for their eleven treated the bowling of the Legion pair, Croft and Grant, with great respect. In the ninth over, five of which were maidens, Falk was clean bowled by Croft with eight runs. Lukehurst, next man in, gave the best display for the Calgary batsmen compiling 19 runs.

Snell, Routledge and McCullough found the bowling of Croft and Grant too much for them and yielded their wickets in three overs.

Paine and Taylor made a determined stand for the last wicket, the former running up 19 in a very short time.

The work of the Edmonton players in the field was excellent in every respect from Doug Rowley's mastery of everything behind the wicket to the work of the fielder and long field.

FOUR GREAT CATCHES

Four brilliant catches, two by Edwards and one each by Drever and Cox featured the match. Croft and Grant bowled throughout the innings and returned the unusual average for an inter-city game of 6 for 26 and 4 for 38 respectively.

Drever and Jones opened for Edmonton and were at bat 20 minutes before lunch. Paine dismissed Drever with a beautiful catch in the slips and Edwards was still batting confidently when the holdup from the rain occurred.

After the resumption of the game F. Edwards eventually ran his score to 36 before being caught out by Paine. Croft scored eight and Grant and Diggins fell on close decisions on appeals from Falk. Watts made four.

The injury to Windsor was a serious set-back to Edmonton and when Edwards was caught out the home team needed three to win, with Cox, the youngest player, and the veteran Doug Rowley the only batsmen left.

Cox drove to the boundary on the fifth over to win the cup.

Calgary Champ Low Qualifier Red Deer Golf

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

RED DEER, July 2—Central Alberta's 19th annual golf tournament opened here on July 1 with an entry of 71 players. The entry is the lowest in recent years, and considerably down from last yera's total of 105. Twenty-four different points are represented.

Good progress was made on Tuesday and play will wind up on Wednesday. Fine golfing weather favored the tournament save for a shower late in the afternoon and the 18-hole course of the Red Deer Golf and Country Club is in perfect shape.

Jack Taylor, in charge of the draws, kept play moving well and Reg. M. Whyte, club president, D. W. Robertson, secretary, and R. M. Beatty, tournament secretary, were on hand to help in the arrangements.

Kemp Richardson, 1941 Calgary city champion, shot a pretty 69, one under par, to lead the qualifiers.

QUALIFYING SCORERS

Scores in qualifying round, championship flight: Kemp Richardsen, 69; Ralph Ormond, Calgary, 73; M. Zewenuik, Edmonton, 73; Joseph Welsh, Red Deer, 74; Bert Greer, Calgary, 74; Tommy Elliott, Calgary, 74; Earl McMahon, Innisfail, 76; W. Carse, Edmonton, 76; Bob Watson, Red Deer, 76; R. M. Beatty, Red Deer, 78; J. Strachan, Red Deer, 78; D. W. Robertson, Red Deer, 79; Dr. G. C. Wagner, Innisfail, 79; Harry Teare, Lacombe, 79; Bud Carter, Innisfail, 81; A. R. T. Anderson, Drumheller, 81.

There was good golf in the first round of the championship flight and two of the matches went to extra holes. M. Zeweniuk, of Edmonton, was forced to go to the 22nd to beat Dr. G. C. Wagner, Innisfail, and Bob Watson, Red Deer, went to the 20th to eliminate a club-mate, Morris Beatty. Bill Carse, Edmonton's second representative in this flight, won his first round match against Earl McMahon, Innisfail. Red Deer put three men in the second round. Richardson beating Anderson, Welsh putting out Robertson, a clubmate, and Watson downing Beatty. Bert Greer won from Jock Strachan and Tommy Elliott, runner-up for the title in 1940, took the measure of Bud Carter, to leave two Calgarians in. Harry Teare, of Lacombe, rounded out the winners, when he won over Ralph Omond, Calgary.

Both Holiday Ball Tilts End in Brisk 8-7 Victories

LOSING to Singer's Clothiers and the Canadian Athletic Club by identical scores of 8-7, the Maple Leaf Athletic Club slipped to third place in the Edmonton Junior Baseball League yesterday after being tied for the leadership.

Canadians retained their undefeated record and first place in the standings, while Singer's Clothiers climbed into second place with two wins and a loss.

The Junior League presented two games Tuesday, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. The rain hoodoo [illegible]uck right with the league, a heavy downpour starting just as the afternoon game got underway. While the rain failed to stop the game, it did play havoc with the attendance.

In the morning engagement, Singer's Clothiers started hitting early and pushed six runs across in the first three innings while the Leafs were counting one. Singer's wound up their scoring with tallies in the fifth and sixth. Leafs scored one in the fourth, one in the fifth, rallied gamely for three in the seventh, scored another in the eighth and then were unable to get the tying run.

Leo Ornest turned in a nice pitching performance for the Clothiers.

NORDSTROM FANS 12

The afternoon engagement saw the Canadians turn their big pitcher, Ed Nordstrom, loose against the Leafs for 12 strike-outs. He was nicked for eight hits but kept them well scattered. Patry and Pete Danylowich split the pitching job for the Leafs with the former going five innings and allowing seven runs and three hits.

Both clubs started firing right from the first. Bases on balls and errors gave the Canadians four tallies in the first frame, but the Leafs got three of them back in the last half of this inning when Wilson walked, D. Danylowich cracked out a triple and Barchyn followed with a double. A long fly to centre field by Richmond scored Barchyn.

The game remained close until the last out in the ninth, the Leafs scoring two in this last spasm and very nearly pushing in the tying marker.

Four From Regina For N.Y. Rovers

NEW YORK, July 2.—(CP)—New York Rovers of the Eastern United States Amateur Hockey League will be bolstered for next season's campaign by three players of the Allan Cup champions, Regina Rangers, it was announced at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night.

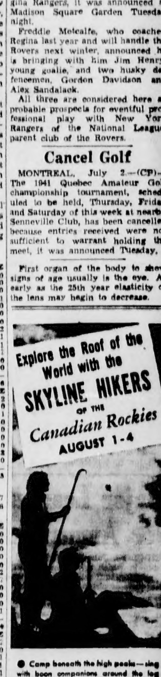

Freddie Metcalfe, who coached Regina last year and will handle the Rovers next winter, announced he is bringing with him Jim Henry, young goalie, and two husky defencemen, Gordon Davidson and Alex Sandalack.

All three are considered here as probable prospects for eventful professional play with New York Rangers of the National League, parent club of the Rovers.

Cancel Golf

MONTREAL, July 2.—(CP)—The 1941 Quebec Amateur Golf championship tournament, scheduled to be held, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at nearby Senneville Club, has been cancelled because entries received were not sufficient to warrant holding the meet, it was announced Tuesday.

Budpath Leads Field From Start to Win New Canadian Derby

Bill Cunningham's Column

Too Early to Count Indians Out of Race

It is neither polite nor profitable for bookmakers to start wheeling and rubbing their wattles before the potential corpse has really keeled over, and some of the obituaries now being pumped out in honor of the stumbling Cleveland Indians may have to be fished back and reconditioned in a hurry. From where this particular scout is parked on a sycamore limb, the Ohio Injun doesn't appear to be fatally wounded, nor any more than temporarily winged.

But, because he's had a little trouble getting through the pastures of the east, while the Yanks and the Red Sox have suddenly burst into flame, the critics are saying somebody's shot got him, and are shifting to the Yanks as the premier pennant winning prospects. Well, mebbe, but it seems to this scorer they're overlooking certain items such as injuries, principally to Keltner and Trosky, certain slumps which the ball club can ever avoid, and certain freaks in the schedule that give especially New York the better of it for a spell right through this particular interval.

The only thing is, we're rolling right up on July 4th, where, by long baseball legend, the leader must be, if he hopes to win out at the finish. As a matter of fact, the theory works out pretty accurately upon the testimony of the statistics, too, but there are just enough exceptions to give the others a shot of hope. Getting down to actual facts, and taking the races in both leagues for the last 26 years, the figuring held good a grand total of 28 times.

CURIOUS SCRIBE GOES ON QUEST

LET'S be a little plainer. Last year, a curious scribe with time on his hands and quest in his soul, went back through the records for 25 years in the old National. They gave him a total of 50 winners. Of the 50, he found that 28 had really been leading their respective herds upon the glorious Fireworks Festival. Of the remaining 22, all but six had been no worse than second place on July 4th. Of the remaining six, three had been in third place the other three in fourth.

To that, last year's report is herewith added by your correspondent. Detroit, which won American League pennant in 1940, was in a virtual tie with Cleveland for first place on July 4th, while Cincinnati, the eventual winner in the National, was in the second notch, one game behind the leading Brooklyn Dodgers.

So what you can say is that, since 1915, no team not in the first division on July 4th has won a pennant in either league (yeah, I've heard about the 1914 Braves!); and in the twenty-six years, only four first place, or almighty close to it, has ever cut that particular caper.

The standing last year, upon that fateful morn, was Cleveland, Detroit and Boston (3 games behind). The standing this year upon that equally fateful morn, seems likely to be New York, Cleveland and Boston (possibly 3 games behind again). Which do you want?

THUNDERING CHORUS PICKS YANKS

THE newly thundering chorus is now roaring: "The Yanks."

Well, maybe, but, after all, it's the team Joe McCarthy gave up on last year. It's the one he benched and broke up, saying Rolfe was too old, Crosetti was gone, Babe Dahlgren wouldn't do. They were hailing his noble experiment down in St. Pete last March when he had Gordon on first, and those two kids, Priddy and Rizzuto at second and short. They didn't might look crazy but it was all right because Marse Joe was a genius; he'd never been wrong about anything yet.

Then he was wrong on that one, one way or the other, for he's now back where he was with what he has left. And he's winning games right now, but if he were right in the first place, he won't win enough.

The Red Sox?

They've got enough power to go over and set Poland free, and not enough pitching to grease the hinges on your grandmother's sewing machine if it were all reduced to neat's foot oil. They're like the firemen who surrounded the blaze and burned it flat, then because they didn't have any hose. When they do get a little pitching, it stuns 'em so utterly they break up double plays.

The Indians have a solid offense, a tight defense, as good general hurling as the rest, plus the top of the class in young Feller. They might go into a moaning mazurka such as stopped them last year. They may get first place fever, or the nervous knocks, but if the ... do the day's work, as Calvin ... and tend to say, they still ha... y and likewise plenty of ... with which to get there, foot, horse, and guns.

Major Leagues Pick Teams For Annual All-Star Clash

CHICAGO, July 2 — (AP) — A lineup in which a brilliant, youthful pitching staff will be backed up by a crew of distance sluggers will represent the American League in the ninth annual all-star battle with the National leaguers July 8 in Briggs Stadium, Detroit.

The American League squad of 25, named by the eight circuit managers, was announced Tuesday by league president Will Harridge.

Del Baker of Detroit's American League champions will manage the junior circuit squad.

BIG THUNDER

Two of the biggest guns will be Boston's Ted Williams, who through June 29 held a .404 batting mark, and New York's Joe Dimaggio, who has been idle at record pace.

No. 1 veteran on the squad will be Boston's Jimmy Foxx, who has been named to every all-star American League squad since the inaugural in 1933.

Following is the American League squad:

Pitchers—Bob Feller, Cleveland; Edgar Smith and Thornton Lee, Chicago; Alton Benton, Detroit; Sid Hudson, Washington; Charley Ruffing and Red Ruffing, New York.

DICKEY AGAIN

Catchers—Bill Dickey, New York; Frank Hayes, Philadelphia; George Tebbetts, Detroit.

Infielders — Joe Gordon, New York; Ken Keltner and Lou Boudreau, Cleveland; Cecil Travis, Washington; Rudy York, Detroit; Joe Cronin, Bobby Doerr and Jimmy Foxx, Boston; Luke Appling, Chicago.

Outfielders—Joe Dimaggio and Charley Keller, New York; Dominic Dimaggio and Ted Williams, Boston; Roy Cullenbine, St. Louis, and Geoffrey Heath, Cleveland.

Coaches—Marvyn Shea, Detroit, and Art Fletcher, New York.

NEW YORK, July 2—(AP)—The National League squad for baseball's all-star game July 8 at Detroit was announced Monday with 15 members of last year's victorious team again on the honor roll.

Brooklyn Dodgers received most recognition with six players among the group of 25 chosen by Manager Bill McKechnie of Cincinnati Reds with the assistance of the other pilots in the circuit.

McKechnie, directing the senior loop crew for the second straight year, selected seven pitchers, three catchers, eight infielders and seven outfielders from the nominations of his fellow managers.

GREAT PITCHING CREW

Pitchers—Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer, Cincinnati; Whitlow Wyatt, Brooklyn; Lon Warneke, St. Louis; Carl Hubbell, New York; Claude Passeau, Chicago, and Cy Blanton, Philadelphia.

Catchers—Al Lopez, Pittsburgh, Harry Danning, New York and Mickey Owen, Brooklyn.

Infielders — Johnny Mize, St. Louis; Dolph Camilli, Billy Herman and Harry Lavagetto, Brooklyn; Linus Frey, Cincinnati, Stan Hack, Chicago; Arky Vaughan, Pittsburgh, and Eddie Miller, Boston.

POWER HERE

Outfielders—Pete Reiser, Brooklyn; Terry Moore and Enos Slaughter, St. Louis; Bob Elliott, Pittsburgh; Bill Nicholson, Chicago, Mel Ott, New York and Joe Medwick, Brooklyn.

In addition McKechnie named managers Leo Durocher of Brooklyn and Jimmy Wilson of Chicago as his coaches; Frankie Frisch and coach Hank Gowdy of Cincinnati as batting practice batboy, and Dr. Richard Rhode of the Reds as trainer.

Medwick, who has missed only one of the 25 in the 10 previous-year old series, and McCormick, the circuit's most valuable player, originally were not named but got the assignment when Hank Leiber of the Cubs and Dolph Camilli of the Dodgers were forced to withdraw because of an injury and illness, respectively.

There probably will be some changes made in the squad before it actually gathers in Detroit.

Air Service To Lethbridge From South Abandoned

SALT LAKE CITY, July 3—(AP)—Immediate abandonment of Western Air Lines operations between Salt Lake City and Lethbridge, Alta., was ordered Monday by William A. Coulter, Western Air Lines president, at Los Angeles, the Salt Lake City W.A.L. office said it had been informed.

The suspension was described as a temporary measure, necessitated by failure of an eastern manufacturing firm to deliver new hydromatic, full-feathering propellers ordered two months ago. The order said the propellers were delayed by national defense program demands, the order added.

Service will be resumed when the propellers are received.

Returns Home

NEW YORK, July 2—(AP)—Fatigued from many sleepless hours, Jacqueline Cochran, first woman to pilot a bomber to Britain, arrived late Tuesday at La Guardia field from Canada and announced herself at the government's disposal. She reached Canada earlier by plane from British.

Allies Capture Syria Air Base

LONDON, July 2—(CP)—Allied troops have captured Soukhne, 40 miles southeast of Palmyra, site of an important Syrian desert air base, and have taken two positions on the road from captured Damascus to Beirut, it was reported authoritatively today.

These reports said British forced Syria have now reinforced Britain's army in Ethiopia was reported to have captured 375 Italian troops near Gondar, other and six field guns in the Bardella area.

Export Control

WASHINGTON, July 2—(AP)—The United States has proposed that the 21 American republics establish an international export control system to retain vital defence materials in the western hemisphere.

F. W. Handley And Leo Campbell Win Bicycle Races

Pedalling from the corner of 82nd avenue and 106th street to Niaku and return on the Calgary trail, LAC. Frederick W. Handley, of the Royal Australian Air Force, won the Class A division of the 25-mile bicycle race on Dominion Day in 1 hour, 16 minutes and 40 seconds.

The Class B event was won by Leo Campbell of the Olympic club in 1 hour, 9 minutes and 45 seconds, with Jim McLeod second and Walt Jacobs third, both of whom belong to the Silver Spoke club.

R. Yeatheard, of the Hawks, was second in the Class A and Ivan McEachren of the Olympics was third. Other entrants were George Mayor and Alty Edwards.

In addition to the three above mentioned events, contestants in Class B were Bruce Aubrey, Bill Ewanchuk, Bob McGavin, and Bill Sanborn, all of the Silver Hawks club.

Class B entrants were sent away at 1:07 p.m. and Class A followed six minutes later; but did not finish in as good time, arriving at the finish line almost seven minutes later.

Stan Morgan was in charge of the race, with Barney Morrison, official timer, and Alex. Dumerion as referee.

Winner of the Class A race, F. W. Handley, is from Foster, in the state of Victoria, Aust., and he belongs to the cycle club at Yarram.

Mr. Handley announced after the race yesterday that he was considering a rup to be competed for in a 15-mile race to be run in the near future.

Presentation of prizes was made by Mr. Morrison.

Soviet Expecting To Fight Long War

WASHINGTON, July 2—(AP)—Russia indicated today that it expected a long war by proceeding with preliminary negotiations for the purchase of vital supplies in the United States.

Russia's decision to shop here for such materials as can be obtained is looked on as an official expression of confidence that the Soviet, despite initial Nazi successes, would be able to halt Hitler short of victory.

Informed officials said that Russian representatives in the U.S. undoubtedly are aware that, with few exceptions, delivery of any purchases they make is bound to be long deferred. Because of this fact, they believed the Russians were thinking in terms of a long-range program.

Saudi Arabia consists almost entirely of deserts.

Chips Off The Old Block

King's Plate Winner Adds Western Feature to Record

WINNIPEG, July 2.—(CP)—Budpath, Harry Hatch's three-year-old chestnut colt, was taking things easy today. The 1941 King's Plate winner pranced onto Polo Park race track yesterday and had the choicest Western Canada three-year-olds chase him for a mile and a quarter to capture the $5,000 added Canadian Derby with a good 4½ lengths to spare.

The son of Buddy Bauer out of Luress in capturing the feature race before 14,000 fans, earned $4,920 for the Toronto owner and added to the already great laurels of Trainer Lloyd Gentry. Bobby Watson, who accompanied the thoroughbred here from Toronto was astride the victor.

Only horse to show any serious challenge was Battleford, entered with Lace Broom as the Whittier Park Stock Farm entry. Battleford passed Wilkie, owned by J. N. Pitts, Winnipeg, as the horses rounded the second last turn before coming into the stretch but could only cut down Budpath's margin by half a length.

The winner ran the mile and a quarter in 2:11 4-5 on a slow track. Heavily backed by the betting public, the highly-fancied colt paid only $2.30 to win. Battleford paid $2.20 for place and Wilkie in the third slot paid $2.45. Lace Broom finished a fourth.

Gilda's Lass, making her first start here, won the initial race and with Merry Centaur, owned by J. G. Bremner of Swift Current, Sask., made a daily double woth $42.50, a modest figure compared with the two doubles of the previous day.

After Gordelius scored a popular win in the opener Monday Sporting Hi, a long shot, and Reuanepge ran a dead heat in the third. The doubles were Gordelius-Sporting Hi worth $232.00 and Gordelius-Reuanepge, $21.60.

Miss Glaxton ran the straight price scale up when she won the second race to pay $32.25 for a $2 straight ticket today.

The seventh race quinella—Prince Jr. and Odessa Beau—paid off at $101.25.

Captured German Seamen Are Put Ashore, England

A NORTHEAST COAST TOWN IN ENGLAND, July 2—(AP)—More than 200 German seamen captured in the Battle of the Atlantic were landed from a British warship today and taken to an internment camp.

Most of the captives were believed to be additional survivors of the German battleship Bismarck. Eighty-two of the Bismarck's crew had been landed in Britain May 31.

No Exceptions Will Be Made For Pucksters

OTTAWA, July 2.—(CP)—With "all the goodwill in the world towards sport," national war services officials said today that they considered training for the defence of Canada more important than hockey.

Their comment was made on the statement at Winnipeg that Mervin "Red" Dutton, manager of the New York Americans, that his team might as well "throw in the towel" if Canadians in the 22, 23 and 24-year-old classes called for four months' training for the defence of Canada were important than duration of the war.

Exemptions for hockey players and others engaged in sports are not planned under the National Resources Mobilization Act, officials said. They said the present situation called for the training of men for the defence of Canada and all Canadian institutions.

"Sport is important, but defence is even more important," one official said.

At recent joint press conference when the provisions for calling men of the 22, 23 and 24-year classes were announced, Defence Minister Ralston and War Services Minister Thorson made no comment as to how long men thus called to complete their four-month training would be kept in the service thereafter.

However, officials agreed there was every likelihood the men will be kept in service as has been the case of the 21-year-olds already called for four months training.

Gasoline Ration

LONDON, July 2 — (CP) — The British government has decided to reduce by one-fourth the gasoline ration for private citizens, cutting motoring per car from about 200 to 165 miles a month.

The Man I Want

By Rob Eden

BARY FLYNN Nevada miner, leaves his fiancee, KAY ALLISON, at the altar, in Nevada, leaving town hurriedly after the appearance of STANLEY GILBERT. CHING, Barry's valet tells Kay of events and she flies to Nevada, seeking Barry at his mine in which he is in partnership with JETTA DORNE. An unwelcome guest at Jetta's house, Kay finds Barry is not at the mine, learns to distrust Jetta. DICK MORROW, Barry's secretary and other employees. Gilbert, also seeking Barry, takes a job at the mine under an assumed name, Bill Stanley, to be near to protect Kay, whom he learned to love on the way out to Nevada. MELODY, Kay's Chinese maid and her brother, Wu, seem to be her only friends. Kay and Stan have a secret meeting. Jetta in a fit of temper, threatens Kay. Next morning she seems to have forgotten it and invites Kay to ride with her and Dick Morrow. At the top of a long climbing trail they stop. There they see Barry's mine approaching. Barry lands, immediately takes a horse and rides over the hills, followed by Jetta. Kay tries to follow but loses their trail.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

IT WAS after noon when Kay returned to the house. Unused to such strenuous riding, she was glad to get out of her habit, and thoroughly enjoyed a hot tub which Melody prepared for her with a liberal dose of pine needle bath oil.

The girl was more tired than she had thought, and slept until time to dress for dinner.

NO NEWS

"Any news yet from Mr. Flynn?" she asked Melody.

"Nothing, Miss Kay."

"What has Miss Dorne to say about that?"

"I don' t know, Miss Kay. She hasn't returned either."

So that was it. Jetta had caught up with Barry—they had gone off some place together. That must be the explanation, otherwise Jetta would have come home long since.

Discouraged and disheartened, Kay determined to put up as bold a front as she could, anyway. When she found that Dick Morrow was going to have dinner in the house, she sent word by Melody that she would eat in the dining room, too.

There was too much of the fighter in Kay's makeup to give up now. Not until Barry told her himself that their romance was over, that it had all been a terrible mistake, would she accept defeat.

Morrow, too, apparently accepted Jetta's absence as evidence that she had found Barry and that the two of them were together.

"It looks like you've had your trip out here for nothing."

Kay flushed, and again found the deep resentment Dick inspired in her welling up.

"My father, who sometimes dabbles in politics, always has said, 'don't start in cheer until the votes are all counted,'" she retorted.

"And you're taking his advice?" Morrow smiled, a bit smugly, Kay thought.

"Why not? 'a good advice. There's one vote I'm counting on getting, and it's the vote that will count."

Morrow was silent during the rest of the meal, and he waited impatiently while Kay finished her dessert and coffee. As she put down her cup, he arose, excusing himself, and left the house.

Kay amused herself with the radio in the living room for awhile, and later went out on the porch. It was a beautiful night, with a full moon bathing the grounds in a blue light.

She had about decided to go to her own room, when she heard footsteps coming slowly along the gravel patch from the direction of the stables. The steps were draggy, as though the person walking was very tired.

It was Jetta. She was alone. She didn't speak as she entered the house, although she must have seen Kay sitting on the porch.

Kay glanced at her watch, and saw that it was nearly midnight.

So the vote hadn't been counted yet. Barry was still missing. Panic suddenly seized her. Where could he be? Was he lost, off in the hills some place? She dismissed that fear after a time. Barry always had impressed her as a man well able to take care of himself, in any situation. Perhaps he had discovered that Jetta was following him, and had deliberately hidden. That must be it.

Morrow came hurrying back to the house from the direction of the mine.

"Jetta's back?" he demanded.

"Yes, she came in a little while ago."

"Alone?"

"Entirely alone."

Morrow went into the house, but reappeared in a short time, and started pacing up and down the porch. He plainly was worried. Finally, when he saw Jetta, her clothes changed, walking into the living-room, he rushed inside.

Kay heard the murmur of voices, but could not make out what was said. Whatever it was, it must have been unsatisfactory to Morrow, for he soon resumed his pacing again, this time walking into the house, and back again, then along the porch before retracing his steps.

"Jetta didn't find him!" Kay finally asked.

"How do you like to take a little walk?" he suggested. "I'm tired of the house and you must be rather bored sitting there in that chair so long."

"Sounds like a good idea."

Morrow took her arm and piloted her around to the back of the house. Then he struck off on a path which Kay hadn't noticed before.

They strolled along for some time without either of them saying anything. It was pleasant to walk, after sitting on the porch for so long.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. McKENNEY, America's Card Authority

Some months ago I wrote a series of articles on the McPherran no trump convention. At the national tournament in Asbury Park in August, the young star, Robert McPherran, will be found playing this convention with one or two favorite partners.

Duplicate—None vul.

South	West	North	East
1 N.T.	Double	Redouble	2♣
2♥	2♠	3♥	4♠
Pass	Pass	5♥	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	Pass

Opening—♠K. 2

While dangerous for the inexperienced, the convention has a lot of possibilities. McPherran can be expected to make a good showing at Asbury Park.

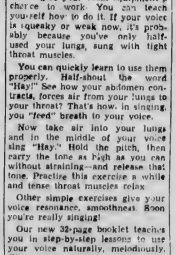

Today's hand is a "Type 2" hand for the McPherran no trump bid, a hand with little defense but one fair "suit" suit. McPherran sitting South, opened with one no trump. West doubled in order to force North and South to disclose which type of hand the no-trumper held. North redoubled, of course, showing real honor trick strength. Over two clubs McPherran bid his heart suit, anticipating that it might be necessary to save against an adverse game bid.

This very situation came about. It is interesting to note the effect of the McPherran convention in the result. At most tables North doubled four spades. South had no occasion to rescue, since in most cases South passed originally and his entry into the auction later did not guarantee any defensive strength. Still, it is only natural for the North player to hope that South will furnish some strength on defense.

McPherran's partner, however, knew from the "Type 2" opening bid that it would be folly to count on South for any defensive strength. At the same time, the assurance that McPherran had at least six hearts made the save at five hearts seem a safe gamble, as it was. McPherran was set only one trick, whereas four spades was a laydown.

You Have The Equipment For Singing Beautifully

Exercises Transform Your Voice

Yes, you can have the thrill of singing well! And it is a thrill to feel your voice pouring out melody—to know you are delighting your listeners.

Just give your vocal equipment a chance to work. You can teach yourself how to do it. If your voice is squeaky or weak now, it's probably because you've only half-used your lungs, sung with tight throat muscles.

You can quickly learn to use them properly. Half-shout the word "Hay!" See how your abdomen contracts, forces air from your lungs to your throat? That's how in singing you "feed" breath to your voice.

Now take air into your lungs and in the middle of your voice sing "Hay." Hold the pitch, then carry the tone as high as you can without straining—and release that tone. Practise this exercise a while and tense throat muscles relax.

Other simple exercises give your voice resonance, smoothness. Soon you're really singing!

Our new 32-page booklet teaches you in step-by-step lessons to use your voice naturally, melodiously. Gives many exercises for lungs, throat muscles, resonators.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Teach Yourself to Sing" to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, 60 Front Street West, Toronto, Ontario.

Please allow a week or ten days for delivery.

Insurance Talked By City Officials

Survey will be made by the city engineer's department of private crossings, vault areas, overhead signs and cornices to determine the degree of liability insurance which should be borne by the owners of property to protect the public from accidents at private crossings through cave-in of vault areas or accidents occasioned by overhead signs or cornices.

Power to make insurance assessment was given by the city in a charter amendment passed at the last session of the legislature. Monday the city commissioner, members of the city engineer's department staff and city solicitor T. E. Garside K.C., conferred on ways and means of implementing the liability insurance powers given by the charter amendment.

$200,000 For Road Repairs Is Necessary

Recent heavy rains have caused extensive damage to Alberta highways and in order to repair them, a special warrant for $200,000 has been passed, according to Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works. Last week he drew attention to the heavy rainfall and the interference in the in the season's highway program caused thereby.

Mr. Fallow said that in some sections of the province, regravelling of the highways will be necessary.

At the last session of the legislature, the house passed a vote of $774,500 for main highways maintenance and the $200,000 appropriated through passage of the special warrant will be added to this amount.

One stretch that will have to be rebuilt is between Lavoy and Innisfree from 12 to 14 miles.

West of Grande Prairie and in other sections of the Peace River highway work will be required. Between Hardisty and Hughenden, repair work will be necessary. Some work also will be necessary on the Trans-Canada highway east of Calgary toward Strathmore.

Turner Valley highways have been adversely affected by the rains and considerable work will be required to recondition them.

Surfacing of the main Jasper highway between Stony Plain and Carvell Corner will commence in the near future, said Mr. Fallow. This will get under way as soon as the surfacing project between Wetaskiwin and Ponoka is completed.

Important Farm Meetings Dated

Several important agricultural gatherings, in various parts of the province, were announced Wednesday by officials of the department of agriculture. On July 11, Lakeview pavilion will be the scene of the annual Vermilion school of agriculture alumni association get-together. All former students of this school and their friends are invited to renew old acquaintances. A suitable program of events is being arranged.

On July 14, a swine field day will be held at Meeting Creek. This is being organized by W. H. T. Mead, district agriculturist at Camrose and by farmers in the Meeting Creek district. Various topics relating to swine production will be discussed and all are cordially invited to attend.

The Lethbridge junior beef calf club and dairy calf club show and sale, will be held at Lethbridge on July 16. The combined shows of beef and dairy calves and the sale of the beef calves, will be an event of considerable importance in the Lethbridge district and members of the clubs are looking forward eagerly to the competitions, which will be conducted during the show.

On the following day, the Cardston beef calf club will hold its show and sale. R. J. Milligan, district agriculturist at Lethbridge, is the supervisor of these clubs and states that a large attendance is expected.

The Camrose dairy calf club will hold its annual show and field day on July 19 at Camrose. This event will be one of the main features of the season's activities of the club and will feature a judging competition, farm engineering demonstrations, several talks and an evening program. This club operates under W. H. T. Mead, Camrose district agriculturist.

Council To Study Rental Situation

Whether there is justification or necessity for the bringing Edmonton under the provisions of the Federal Rental Control board will be determined by city council following the compilation of results obtained from an advertisement seeking information of undue rental increases in the city since July 1, 1940.

The advertisement asking that complaints regarding rental increases seeks the following information: location of premises, number of rooms in house, name and address of landlord, former rent, and the increased rent, the date on which the increase became effective, reason given for the increase, and whether any special improvements had been made by the landlord prior to the increase.

All complaints must be submitted to the city clerk, in writing and should be addressed to the Civic Block.

The order for this survey was made at a recent city council meeting.

At that meeting aldermen were of the opinion there was not sufficient information before them to determine the necessity for acting on a motion of Ald. Lt. Col. Brown, M.M., E.D., to have Edmonton placed under the federal rental control board.

There were several individual complaints of rental increases, but spokesmen for the city real estate agents indicated there had been no abnormal or unwarranted rental increases.

Softball Tonight

First game of tonight's double-header at Kingsway Park will be between Muttart Aces and South Side Junior Pats and will be followed by a Buffaloes vs. Army and Navy Pats game, which latter may be switched to a practice between the team chosen to play the Regina Bombers and a picked ten.

Tendency On Part West Farmers To Produce More Of Necessities Of Life

By British United Press

THERE is an increasing tendency today on the part of western farmers to make their farms produce more of the necessities of life—and thereby be more self-sustaining and secure.

And the home preparation and curing of meat products has received particular attention. There are two major advantages in the farm preparation of meats. One is an economic advantage, and results in a substantial saving. And the second arises from the satisfaction of carving a high-quality roast or ham from an animal that was born and reared on the home farm.

The widespread interest in pig raising and the suitability of pork products for curing have contributed to the particular significance of pork curing as a farm operation. The killing and dressing of pigs, and curing of pork products are relatively simple processes. Simple instruction along with special care should enable any farmer to produce a truly high quality product.

J. W. G. MACEWAN, of the department of animal husbandry at the University of Saskatchewan, says the first essential in the preparation of high-quality, home-cured pork products is a suitable pig. The health of the animal is of prime importance. Size, type and condition are other factors that should be considered.

The carcass from a pig of about 200 pounds will cut and cure to the best advantage. Pigs of bacon type are favored because of their high percentage of lean. Condition, or state of fatness, is of particular importance, because, while over-fat pigs are relatively wasteful due to trimming, lean pigs yield meat that is lacking in palatability and keeping qualities. Only sows and barrows should be selected for farm slaughtering and curing.

Here are a few tips on the preparation of pigs for slaughter.

It is advisable to keep feed away from the animal to be slaughtered for twenty-four hours prior to killing. This will make dressing easier and will ensure more complete drainage of blood. And because blood is an excellent medium for growth of bacteria, thorough bleeding is an important prerequisite to successful curing and keeping of meats. The animal to be slaughtered should be handled with the utmost care and quietness. Bruising will prove costly, and excitement prior to slaughter will prevent free and thorough bleeding.

PREPARE EQUIPMENT

The vessel in which the pig is to be scalded, water scraping table and other equipment should be prepared before the animal is killed. A barrel inclined at an angle of 45 degrees and set at the end of a substantial table will be suitable for scalding. If the table is low, the barrel may be lowered by digging a hole in the ground. A large, rectangular vat or tank in which the whole carcass can be immersed will be particularly satisfactory if several pigs are to be slaughtered. A scalding vat, five feet six inches long, two feet three inches deep, and two feet six inches wide is suitable for this purpose. Other important pieces of equipment include sharp knives, steel, pig hooks, bell scrapers, gambrel and block and tackle for hoisting the carcass.

IT'S more than likely that you have a lot of frisky little lambs, calves, foals and baby porkers romping around your farm. If that's right, here's a pointer on how to make them grow.

These new additions to the scenery in your locality can benefit by a little grain before weaning. In the case of foals and calves on pasture in summer, the pasture often becomes dry and short. Before the owner realizes the situation, both mother and youngster may rapidly lose weight.

REMEDY CONDITION

E. Van Nice, of a dominion experimental station, says some chop given the mother once a day will remedy the condition to some extent. But the foal or calf should have a little too. If weight is lost at this stage of the game, it is difficult to regain it. That's why your wards need a little chop.

When weaning time comes, a foal or calf losing weight and not accustomed to chop, hasn't much chance of catching up.

The same applies to lambs. A few whole oats, provided in a creep, promotes the lamb's growth too—in spite of adverse conditions. If this is done, weaning time brings no check in growth, and early market sees a well-developed lamb in excellent condition.

Young pigs show an interest in feed rather early in life. If advantage is taken of this by providing a creep where milk and chop are always available, they will continue to gain in weight. And they will reach market weight earlier and at less expense than if they get a "set-back" at weaning time by an abrupt feed change.

Picnics Staged Over Week-End

Warm weather over the weekend added to the pleasure of two church picnics, as the St. Faith's Anglican congregation and senior Sunday school met Saturday at Nat Rowland's farm on the Poplar Lake trail. Annual picnic of First Presbyterian church, with its associated Sunday schools, Rossdale and Alex Taylor met Saturday at Victoria park.

Committee in charge of arrangements for the St. Faith's picnic included: Harry S. Hodges, Rev. W. M. Nainby, E. Currie, T. R. Cole, John Clevely and C. Thompson.

Winners of various contests included Marie Field, Vera Davies, Vernice Pinfold, Frank Starratt, David Jones, Norman Hill, Gertrude Harvey, Babs Spracklin, Stewart Neil, Gordon McNeill, Miss Mary Bissell, Walter Melynyk, Mrs. Neil, Mrs. J. Clevely, J. E. Starratt and C. Thompson.

More than 100 members of the congregation of First Presbyterian were present at the picnic for that organization. Activities included various kinds of sports events and other contests. In charge of arrangements were Dr. Fulton Gillespie, Sunday school superintendent; Fergus MacKenzie, sports; Mrs. Dr. Gillespie, refreshments; and Miss Rita Speers, prizes. Rev. J. MacBeath Miller, minister, was among those officials of the church present.

Driver Admits Was At Fault Says Witness

That Alphonse Sevigny, driver of the car in which Moise Courchaine, 70, of St. Albert received fatal injuries, near Onoway on June 18, declared right after the accident: "It was all my fault," featured testimony at a coroner's inquest at the city police station Wednesday.

This testimony was given by Fred Bullerzec, driver of a second car, which had been passed by the car driven by Sevigny. The two cars were returning home to St. Albert from a wedding dance at Alberta Beach.

OPEN VERDICT

The jury returned an open verdict after hearing the testimony of several witnesses. The verdict stated that Moise Courchaine came to his death from injuries received while a passenger in an automobile driven by Alphonse Sevigny in a crash happening when the car struck a sign post and went into the ditch. No one was named as being responsible for the accident.

Bellerose said he estimated his own speed at between 35 and 40 miles per hour and, referring to the Sevigny car, "They went by me like a shot."

Bellerose also said the occupants of the Sevigny car were "hollering and waving" as they went past. Witness said he had remarked to himself that "they won't go very far at that speed."

CAR HITS SIGN

Shortly after he saw the car strike a sign post and then slide from the road into the ditch, turning over two or three times.

Bellerose said he had seen Alphonse Sevigny take one drink of liquor at the dance hall.

Harvey Delorme of St. Albert, who suffered severe back injuries in the crash, had been driving the car to the Beach, but witness considered him too intoxicated to drive home, he stated.

Sevigny, taking the stand, denied that he was drunk. He said he was not familiar with the road and came to the corner before he was aware of it.

SIX IN CAR

There were six in the car at the time of the crash. Courchaine was sitting next to the driver.

Dr. R. E. Jesperson of Stony Plain testified that Courchaine and Delorme were brought to his office on the morning of the day after the accident. Courchaine died within five minutes. Delorme was removed to Edmonton in an ambulance.

Cause of death was given by Dr. J. W. Macgregor as multiple injuries and shock from punctured lungs.

Director Says Canada Aids Success Of Plan

Canada has contributed much inspiration and assistance toward making credit unions in the United States a success, according to Claude R. Orchard, director of the Credit Union section of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D.C., who is a city visitor and registered at the Macdonald. He is accompanied by Mrs. Orchard and is contacting credit union officials and members in an extensive trip through Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Getting Around
JOHN OLIVER

MANY Edmontonians are now engaged in the process of re-adjustment. There are two main classes affected. First, there are those who, over the holiday, shifted their place of residence. Secondly, there are those who have children home as a result of the summer vacation. The shifting population was considerable, while thousands will be aware of the reaction of having the children around.

May 1 is the officially recognised moving day and on that date of this year, an average amount of transfer was carried out from one abode to another. But, this observer is of the opinion, from the amount of moving that came directly under his notice, that more moving took place on the June 30-July 1 period than on April 30-May 1. The cartage companies can provide a definite answer, but from casual observation, I would say that this holiday saw a greater shifting of the populace.

Many people prefer to move further out for the summer and let their apartments go. Then, with an influx of teachers for the summer months and the ever-growing demand for accommodation for incoming service men, others are leasing their houses. I noticed that not only were the moving vans heavily engaged, but many many more cars to transfer their belongings. The fact that the vans were going all through Tuesday, Wednesday a holiday—gives an indication of the extent of the shifting of the populace.

Schools are closed for the summer and this becomes a season of family reunions. With young people in conditions will change somewhat and the parents will have an opportunity to reflect on the fact that, in the academic year just closed, they have aged more than the calendar indicates. They will find that their nerves are shaky and their tempers have become more sensitive. They will suddenly discover that their moral standards have grown amazingly exacting while, conversely, those of the younger generation, have relaxed lamentably. The fireside has done away with its solitude and quiet. The radio, instead of cooing sweet and low music, will swing it with "hot" numbers. The car, for months past away in the security of the garage by the time darkness fell, now will stay out until long past the neighbors' bedtime.

Also, the head of the house will find, while he figured expenses would ease off with the end of the academic year, when no more books and supplies had to be bought, he has to continue to hand out the shekels. He will have to listen as Mother points out that Junior must have some pocket money, mustn't he? He's such a good boy; he did so well at school and after all, the neighbors' children get money to spend, don't they? Father can't deny it, so he will come across.

Education for the young people may be temporarily at a standstill. But the older people will keep on learning. The summer, however, will pass by all too quickly. The young ones and the old folks will have a good time. They will get to know and understand one another fully and completely. Good qualities of character will be noted with admiration. When September rolls round, it will be with no little reluctance on the part of all, that a further re-adjustment and re-orientation will have to be made.

Social Credit Women's War Workers will meet in the Haddon hall Thursday at 2:30 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

The Officers and Members of Saskatchewan Lodge No. 92
A.F. & A.M., G.R.A., are requested to attend an Emergent Meeting on Thursday, July 3rd, at 2:00 p.m. in the Masonic Temple for the purpose of attending the funeral of our late Brother Thomas Douglas Morgan. Sister Lodges are invited to attend.

J. K. Hill, former manager of the Hudson's Bay Company store here, who has been appointed manager of the Robert Simpson (Western) Ltd. store at Regina, it was learned Wednesday. Mr. Hill already has assumed his duties. For many years Mr. Hill was the manager of the Hudson's Bay Co. store here, and resigned on January 1, 1941. He was well known in business and club circles and for many years was president of the Edmonton St. Patrick's Society.

J. K. Hill Is Store Manager

J. K. Hill, former manager of the Hudson's Bay company store here, has been appointed manager of the Robert Simpson (Western) store at Regina, it was learned Wednesday. Mr. Hill has assumed his new duties.

Well known in business and club circles in Edmonton, Mr. Hill came to Edmonton as manager of the Hudson's Bay company store here in August, 1932, and resigned from that position on January 1, 1941.

Prior to his appointment as manager here he was supervisor of the company's Nelson, Vernon and Kamloops stores in British Columbia, and was also manager of the Kamloops store. Previous to his appointment to the Kamloops store Mr. Hill worked in the company's Calgary store.

Born in Ireland Mr. Hill took an active part in the Edmonton St. Patrick's society and was its president for many years.

Economic Activity High MacKinnon States Here

Due largely to the war effort, the economic activity of the Dominion is at a higher level than ever before, it was stated here Wednesday by Hon. James A. MacKinnon, federal minister of trade and commerce and M. P. for West Edmonton.

Figures released by the bureau of statistics, a branch of Mr. MacKinnon's department, show an improvement of 13 per cent over 1940 and of 35 per cent over 1939 in the economic situation during the first five months of this year.

"While the expansion during this period was mainly concentrated in the industries engaged in war contracts, the acceleration had extended to the greater part of our whole economic life," Mr. MacKinnon commented.

OUTPUT GREATER

"Many of the plants constructed under the auspices of the Dominion government have now been completed and the output of Canadian industry is greater now than in 1918 or 1929, the two previous peak years. Steel production is 21 per cent greater, output of motor vehicles 24 per cent greater and contracts awarded in the construction industry are 50 per cent greater in the first five months of this year than in the same period of 1940," he said.

"A striking trend has been the increasing importation of raw materials," continued Mr. MacKinnon, "and the growth of Canada's export trade, particularly to the British market. Our exports rose from $447,000,000 to $574,000,000, while our imports increased only by relatively the same percentage to $530,000,000 in the first five months of this year."

Mr. MacKinnon stated that he was glad to see that the figures released showed the prairie provinces were sharing to a considerable extent in the increased activities. Employment in the prairies had increased by no less than 27 per cent, manufacturing by more than 30 per cent and the use of electric power had risen by 18 per cent as compared to 1939.

FARM PRODUCTS

Sale of farm products in the prairie provinces amounted in more than $61,000,000 in the first quarter of this year compared to $43,000,000 in the same period of 1940, and about $31,000,000 in the first quarter of the heavy stocks of wheat still held by farmers at the end of the first quarter, this gain was expected to have been maintained in the second quarter of the year.

The result of the increased farm income and the acceleration in other lines of endeavor was reflected in the increase in retail sales in the prairie provinces which averaged five per cent more for May this year, compared with May, 1940. Sales for the first five months of this year were eight per cent greater than in 1940, and were no less than 27 per cent greater than the same period in 1939.

Home Building Is Brisk Here Permits Show

Edmonton's building program continues unabated with permits for the erection of 18 homes being taken out during the final days of June and on Wednesday morning. Total of these permits was $32,000, or approximately $2,000 for each dwelling to be built.

Sales continued brisk at the city land department with 10 lots being disposed of in the month-end. The amount paid for the lots was $3,500. In eight of the sales the purchasers intimated their intention of erecting homes costing approximately $2,000 each. One purchaser bought four lots at a cost of $1,200, on three of which he will erect bungalows this year.

City land sales for the month of June showed a healthy increase over the corresponding period last year. The sales this year amount to $27,050 against $23,588 in 1940. Total sales to the end of June were $145,703 compared with $113,582 in 1940, an increase of $33,121.

Building permits taken out recently included: Susan J. Howard, 11105 University Avenue, $1,000; Mrs. C. Hesson, 11317 91 street, $2,000; F. Neil, 12742 Fort Road, $1,000; Edward Sillitoe, 9024 Walhalla Road, $4,000; Martin Hennig, 8312 111 avenue, $2,900; R. T. Parkin, 9540 101 A avenue, $3,000; John Lysyk, 10022 113 street, $2,500; Graham and Ada Colwyle, 11830 89A street, $2,800; B. Schuik, 11128 81 avenue, $3,000 and H. H. Quick, 11138 101 street, $1,200.

Frank Klohn, 12124 90 street, $1,000; Mrs. C. O. Metcalf, 11309 121 street, $2,800; C. G. Campbell, 11312 70 street, $2,700; Mrs. J. E. W. Skinner, 10534-91 street, $3,000; N. H. Farquharson, 10311 129 street, $3,000; H. W. Booker, 9859 85 avenue $3,000; H. W. Booker, 9869 98 avenue $3,000.

Liquor Stolen

EDSON, Alta., July 2.—Thief or thieves broke into the provincial government liquor store late Monday night and escaped with 40 bottles of assorted beverages. Entry was made by breaking a small pane of glass in the front door. The would-be robbers escaped through the rear door, which they opened from the inside.

Edmonton Sailors Show Them How It's Done at East Port

Edmonton boys training with the Royal Canadian Navy at the well-known Esquimalt naval base are showing up remarkably well with men from other parts of the Dominion, according to Petty Officer Tele-grapher Robert Riddell, wireless instructor.

Petty Officer Riddell

Son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Riddell, Petty Officer Riddell is visiting his parents at their home, 10446 83 avenue, in the course of a ten day's furlough.

Although he didn't get much chance to talk to many Edmonton-ians at the wireless school, Petty Officer Riddell heard much about the prowess of sailors from this city.

Riddell should be in a position to judge whether or not a man's a good seaman. He's been in the Canadian navy since the early days. He listed with the R.C.N.V.R. here. In 1929 he commenced activities with the R.C.N. and was stationed first at the west coast as an Ordinary Seaman. In the first year of the war he was a member of the crew of the St. Laurent, Canadian destroyer that made a record-breaking trip around the Canal Zone during the first ten days of hostilities.

COMMISSIONED IN 1938

He left the ship shortly before the St. Laurent was taken over for overseas work and since that time has been stationed on the east coast. He was commissioned in 1938.

Born in Ontario, the seaman is a graduate of Victoria high school. Following his leave period he expects to resume his duties as instructor.

Three High School Boys Bicycling Over Big Bend Road to Vancouver

They might make it—and again they might not. They figure they will. And they might at that.

Jack Barber, 16, of Parkdale school, Bert Hobbs, 17, of Eastwood school and Dave Jessee, 15, of Parkdale will be the lucky ones of reading be well on their way to Vancouver, B.C., by bicycle, over the Big Bend highway through Jasper and Banff. They left the city Monday night and estimate that it will take them between two and three weeks to reach their destination.

Each lad is equipped with a brand new racing bike, canned food, blankets and tarpaulin, camera and $5. They raised money for the trip in various ways. Dave delivered fliers for city department stores. Bert worked in a local meat market in his spare time, and Jack, the "plutocrat" of the trio, saved his pocket money.

They plan to sleep under the stars and enjoy nature at its best. They may stop off at the mountain resorts, and they may try to get work at the coast for the summer. Right now they figure on visiting relatives.

For experience in such living, each counts a similar expedition to Calgary recently, when the trip was made in two and a half days.

General meeting of the "France Forever" group will be held in the Memorial hall Friday at 8 p.m. All members are urged to be present since matters of major importance will be discussed.

Safe And Sane Holiday Enjoyed On Dominion Day

Edmonton really had a safe and sane Dominion Day. Not a single arrest was made by city police on July 1.

Four intoxicants, who faced the court Wednesday morning were arrested on the night of Tuesday, June 30.

The same care and decorum was observed by motorists on city streets. Only six minor accidents were reported on July 1 with no injuries incurred. There were four minor smashes reported on the evening of June 30, making a total of 10 traffic mishaps.

No serious crime was reported.

M.P.'s Parley

Alberta Social Credit members of parliament opened a two-day meeting at the legislative building Wednesday and were joined in their deliberations by Premier William Aberhart and members of the cabinet.

The agenda includes a review of the past parliamentary session and plans for the interval between it and the next session. All Social Credit members were present except Wallace Kuhle, M.P. for Jasper-Edson, and A. Hylynka, M.P. for Vegreville.

Fatal Shooting Declared To Be Clear Accident

Death of Arsene Castor, Lac La-Biche district halfbreed, who died of a bullet wound allegedly inflicted by his camp partner, named Anthony Wollers, more than a week ago, was clearly accidental, Chief Coroner Dr. A. E. Braithwaite stated Wednesday.

No inquest will be held, the chief coroner said. The R.C.M.P. investigation has cleared the affair up entirely. The shooting was purely accidental," he stated.

The shooting took place at Christine Lake, 20 miles northeast of Conklin.

POLICE REPORT

R.C.M.P. headquarters officers here stated that a report by Corpl. Hanna, of the Lac LaBiche detachment, states that Castor was shot as he stepped from his tent to greet Wollers, who had been away doing a period of army training.

The men had been trapping partners together for some years.

It is said that Wollers approached the tent, carrying his rifle in his right hand while holding some article in the other hand.

GREETED PARTNER

Castor stepped from the tent and said:

"So you're back!"

Wollers just started to reply to his partner's greeting when the gun discharged, the bullet striking Castor and killing him instantly.

A third man, named Birch, who was present, told a similar story to Col. Hanna.

THE QUESTION

It may seem a trifle revolutionary, but the rush and bustle of going and coming that consumes so much time and energy gives rise to the suggestion. When national holidays fall through the week, how about an automatic switch to Saturday or Monday? Seems that folks would be able to get some real good out of a holiday if this were done.

THE ANSWERS

MIKE HUMEN, electroplater: I think you've really got something there and I'll second the motion with great enthusiasm. If business didn't suffer Saturday I'd cut too much from the receipts, how about making every holiday a Monday?

I. ROBERTSON, mechanic: I've always thought that every holiday should be on a week-end. Of course we might make Christmas Day an exception because of its religious significance.

BLACKIE WOODS, lumber expert and philosopher: Having every holiday on Monday wouldn't be so good for those who celebrate not wisely but too well. A Saturday-Sunday combination would be far better."

* * *

MRS. E. PENNYFATHER, police matron: The idea is fine for those who work regular eight-hour shifts. If you are on duty for 24 hours at a time, however, a two-day-holiday would be no good.

City Folks Kin Dies In Calgary

Eldest son of the late Walter Hazyard and Mrs. Hazyard of Edmonton, Allan Campbell Hazyard is dead in Calgary, according to word received here Wednesday. Mr. Hazyard was born in 1883 in Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Surviving are his wife and two children, Allan and Margaret, all of Calgary, his mother in Edmonton; three brothers, Williston of the city, Arthur of Seattle and McNair of Chicago; two sisters, Mrs. D. D. Harris of Edmonton and Mrs. Arthur Smith of Wembley, Alta.

Janet Blades, Sgt. Furnell, Are Married

St. John's Anglican church was the scene of a lovely wedding ceremony on Monday afternoon at the hour of three o'clock, when Janet Marjorie Blades, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Blades of Camrose became the bride of Sgt. Donald Furnell, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Furnell of Riley, Alberta. Canon G. P. Gower officiated.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Lawrence Blades, the bride was charming in a frock of dainty white figured organza, styled with a bouffant skirt, a sweetheart neckline and worn with a tiny jacket. At her throat she wore an air force locket, a present of the bridegroom. A floor-length veil fell softly from a coronet of orange blossoms in her hair, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and white carnations.

BRIDESMAIDS

Dressed alike in gowns of turquoise blue net over taffeta fashioned with short sleeves, bolero jackets and full skirts, Miss Dorothy Elvidge, the bride's neice, and Miss Helen Furnell, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They carried sheaves of Picardy gladioli.

Mr. Bernard Blades, brother of the bride, assisted the bridegroom as best man.

Ushering the guests to their places in the church was Mr. Leslie Blades, another brother of the bride.

For the wedding of her sister, Mrs. Alfred Elvidge chose a tailored suit in teel blue completed with crisp white accessories. At her shoulder she wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Furnell, the mother of the bridegroom, wore a soft blue gown fashioned with a flared skirt and three-quarter length sleeves. She, too, wore a shoulder corsage of pink carnations.

During the signing of the register Miss Barbara Elvidge, another neice of the bride, played violin music. Miss Edith Hutchinson was at the organ.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Elvidge entertained at their home on University Avenue at a reception for more than fifty guests in honor of the bridal couple. Fresh orange blossoms and the three-tiered wedding cake centred the wedding table.

Mr. and Mrs. Furnell left after the reception to motor to the Pacific coast where they will spend ten days. For travelling Mrs. Furnell chose a skirt of Churchill blue and a soft white polo jacket completed with white accessories. They will make their home at Rivers, Manitoba.

FROM OUT-OF-TOWN

Among the out-of-town guests that were in the city for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Furnell, Riley; Mr. and Mrs. R. Blades, Camrose; Mr. and Mrs. Heuston, Riley; Mr. and Mrs. L. Blades, Ohaton; Mr. and Mrs. E. Blades, Rat Hill; Mr. and Mrs. R. Blades and Mr. L. Blades, Alder Flat.

Coast Girl Is Bride Former Edmonton Man

Miss Norma de Graves, Mr. Howard Stevenson, Are Married

VANCOUVER, July 2—(CP)—The wedding took place on Monday evening of Miss Norma de Graves, daughter of former Alderman and Mrs. H. J. de Graves Vancouver, and Mr. Howard Stevenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Stevenson of Edmonton, Alta., at Chown Memorial church. Rev. E. F. Church officiated.

The bride is a niece of Major W. A. de Graves, D.S.O., former managing editor of the Edmonton Bulletin and now overseas, and Mrs. de Graves of Edmonton.

The bridesmaid was Miss Betty de Graves, cousin of the bride. The best man was Mr. William Gardner. Ushers were Mr. R. Bailey, Mr. J. Fairhurst, and Mr. R. de Graves.

The bride wore a honey beige French boucle suit with fur lapels and a rose-tan off-the-face hat and matching shoes. Her bouquet was talisman roses and brown centred marguerites.

Mrs. de Graves wore a sea-foam green redingote, a black straw hat and black accessories with a corsage of gardenias. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Stevenson, was dressed in a blue afternoon dress with wine hat and matching shoes and carried a corsage of gardenias.

A reception was held after the marriage in the home of the bride where the guests were received by Mrs. H. J. de Graves and Mrs. J. Stevenson.

The couple left by airplane for Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, for their honeymoon and will make their home there.

Trout are able to move through the water at a rate of 30 miles an hour.

Trailer Life Provides Variety, Interest, City Visitors State

THIS is a story of endless variety and adventure. This is the story of indominable courage and the desire to see life from all angles. This is the story of Marguerite and Bill Watson.

Your reporter paid the Watsons a visit one day recently, not in a hotel room nor a private home, but to a Highlands garden where the Watsons home rests during its stay in the city. For the Watsons live in a trailer. Your reporter found it to be no ordinary trailer but a real home on wheels, with all the comforts of home, done in green and cream and boasting electric lights, a radio and running water.

Marriage opened the door of a new world for Miss Marguerite Martin, second daughter of Mr. H. Milton Martin and the late Mrs. Martin of Edmonton when seven years ago she married Bill Watson a graduate of the University of Alberta in law, for Bill was no ordinary graduate. Born with a physical handicap which deprived him of the use of his arms, Mr. Watson has overcome his handicap and has obtained success and happiness in his personal and public life. Faith in his ability to succeed was an essential and this life-giving faith Mr. Watson got first from his parents and then from his wife, who is his "right hand man."

SEVENTH ANNIVERSARY

On Saturday of this week the Watsons will celebrate their seventh wedding anniversary in their trailer, and in the seven years of their married life they have never had a steady income—and what is more they don't want one. In 1934 they were married with $150 between them and no job. In 1937 they planned a trip to the British Isles and Europe with $2.33 in their pockets. But the Watsons have proved that where there is a will there is a way, and they started for England nine months later.

TO EUROPE

With $2.33 and plans for a trip on the continent, Mr. Watson was commissioned by the Canadian Club to give talks across Canada. According to his statistics the couple travelled 10,000 miles in 75 days on 40 trains, 17 busses and 2 boats, and at the end of that tour they had funds for a trip to England.

January is not the ideal month for ocean crossings but the season nor the time make no difference to Mr. and Mrs. Watson who became the only passengers on a small freighter carrying apples, macaroni and coal to Scotland. Docking at Newcastle, they were affronted with new financial problems and so Marguerite took a position in Canada House while her husband made a tour of Scotland and England lecturing and visiting institutions for the physically disabled.

With the proceeds from six months' work the Watsons began a tour of vocational training centres for the disabled in France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Switzerland and Czecho-Slovakia. It was in these places that Mr. Watson collected the material for a brief on proper methods of vocational training for the physically disabled, which he has submitted to the general advisory committee of demobilization and rehabilitation at Ottawa. With a good speaking knowledge of French, 300 words of German and very limited financial resources the couple saw Europe.

ROUTINE UNKNOWN

Routine to the Watsons is unknown and the vagabond life they are leading in their home on wheels suits them to a "T". In the maroon and cromium trailer compactness is the pass-word. None of the comforts of home are missing . . . no, not even the inevitable "Fibber Magee" cupboard. Drop windows, venetian blinds and odd tables that appear from nowhere are only incidentals in the last word of completeness that "The Firefly" personifies. A jolly English setter with the name of "Keltie" has accompanied the couple on their 10,000 miles of trailer travel.

Housekeeping on wheels has its problems, for space, as one can well imagine, is limited; but Mrs. Watson has achieved perfection in home management. Their dining room is the great out-of-doors and the Watsons are the proud possessors of a large green and white sun umbrella and out-door tables and chairs that fit compactly in the back of their roadster. From a two-burner gas stove Mrs. Watson can serve dinner complete with three vegetables, meat and coffee, piping hot . . . and that is an accomplishment.

TRAILER HITCH-HIKER

It is typical of the couple that they had the trailer for two months before they had a car. Imagine hitch-hiking with a trailer, which is exactly what the Watsons did! Jack-of-all-trades as she is, Marguerite is the Watson chauffeur and handy-man when the trailer has to be hitched or un-hitched.

Photography has provided an interesting hobby for Marguerite and Bill, who buy and roll their own films, develop and enlarge their own pictures. On such occasion the trailer becomes the workshop. The Watsons have sold many of their picture studies and although they have not made money on the hobby they have managed to break even.

BILL IS AUTHOR

Besides his lecture work Mr. Watson has compiled the interesting story of his life into an autobiography, "My Desire". The tale of Mr. and Mrs. Watson's life in Europe and since is on many bookshelves titled, "I Give You Yesterday."

Time means nothing to this couple, who may stay a day or a month in a place accordingly as the spirit moves them. It is the fate of most civilized human beings to go through life the slaves of ordinary routine, time and finances, but occasionally in this old world one finds a rare couple like Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Watson whose life story is truly "stranger than fiction."

Dominion Day Holiday Draws Many To Seba

SUNNY skies and a soft summery breeze loaned a note of true holiday spirit, as many pleasure-seeking Edmontonians took advantage of the Dominion Day holiday, and flocked by car, bicycle, bus and even on foot to the many scenic lakes and beaches that lie in the outlying districts of Edmonton.

At Seba Beach, the holiday started for many at the week-end, when a large gala dance, marking the opening of the summer season, was held in the pavilion. All week-end holidayers continued to arrive. Noticed in the cottages along the beach at the weekend were:

At "Saugeen," Mr. and Mrs. J. Blue and son Eric. Miss B. Dobson spent the week-end at her cottage. Mr. F. F. Arken and family had as their guests Miss Hazel Penn and Miss Mary Peke at "Mie Mac" Lodge.

"CLAYTON COTTAGE"

Mr. and Mrs. D. Clayton, Miss Maxine Clayton, Mr. Gordon Cormie, Miss Evelyn Cormie, Misses H. and A. Cormie and Mr. Donald Bowen spent the week-end at "Clayton Cottage". Mr. and Mrs. R. ARRID

Dorothy Dix Says:

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — What can one do to lift oneself out of complete boredom? When everyone else is having a good time I am an absolute dud. I couldn't muster up a hearty laugh over anything, yet I don't feel sad. I have no troubles. My mind is simply black. My thoughts are at a standstill. What can I do to get myself out of this valley of despond?

MARYLIN.

Dorothy Dix Answer — You have been so self-ish and self-centered and thought about nothing but yourself so long that you have run out of material for entertainment and amusement. That's why you are bored.

So if you want to get back to normal, snap out of your self-absorption. Get busy. Do something of work that will keep you interested, and especially do something for other people. If you do not have to work for a living, join up with the war-work clubs.

Dear Miss Dix—Nearly every Sunday before any plans are made by my fiance and myself, his mother must be consulted as to her wishes for the day. If she wants to go riding, her son must take her. So I am always invited to go along. I do not begrudge her that one day in the week, but here is what gets me.

I have a mother who is in just the same position as my fiance's mother, dependent upon her two children. She lives with my married sister, but I help support her, and in the years that I have gone with this man he has never suggested that my mother go for a ride with us, or to a show, or to dinner.

He wants to marry me this Fall and, if we are married, a fair share of my mother's time will be spent with us, but to relieve him of any financial burden I will continue to work. Here is my problem: Do you think our mothers will continue to present this problem, if it is not settled before our marriage? Do you think I am being small or petty in wanting to give my mother a few changes in scenery and incidentally giving my sister and her husband a few hours alone? Both mothers are entirely innocent of this problem, and there never were two finer women. Can you help me?

DAUGHTER.

Answer—I have long held that it would do much to promote domestic felicity if all engaged couples would have a lawyer draw them up a marriage contract, with all the whereases and wherefores and other legal trimmings, which would set forth explicitly and in detail the duties and obligations of each, and what each should expect of the other, in return for affection and services received and rendered.

I thing that before marriage you should tell your fiance that you are going to treat his mother as well as you know how, but you would like a little reciprocity in the matter and for him to be good to your mother, too. Probably he has never realized that he was being unfair in the matter. —DOROTHY DIX.

Debunker

Hollywood, like all other places, is very conscious of the "rank" people hold. While the general public may call almost any one a "star" if he or she has appeared in a film, Hollywood does not do so. The term is reserved for the select few whose names are placed above the title of the film in which they appear. If the actor's name is billed following the title, he is not a star. Such is the rigid rule of the film world, and it means that most of our favorite Hollywood stars are not stars at all.

Minute Make-Ups

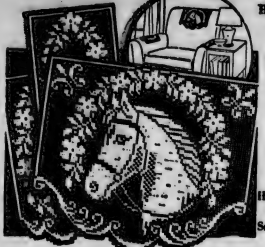

Unless your midriff is flat, smooth and a nice brown color, do not bare it to the world! If yours is flat but not brown, use brown-toned make-up lotion on your midriff so that it tones in with your bare arms and legs. Be sure you can "bare it" before you invest in the open-front play suits and pyjamas.

BREMNER—Mrs. Frank Latan entertained members of Bremner Red Cross branch on Tuesday afternoon. During the meeting the society discussed plans for a picnic to be held on Friday, July 11, at the Bremner Recreation Grounds.

McCoy Health Service

With half the world up in arms and in a battle to the death, we are brought to a realization of the necessity for preparedness in armaments to defy any attempt to change our way of life which pertains here before us fought and died to maintain. However, it is a good plan for each one of us to help that national effort by making a concerted attempt to raise the standard of health in our country, and this will perform the two-fold purpose of increasing the nation's resistance against disease, and consequently raising the standard of defense against any enemy.

The number of military rejections goes to show that too little has been done in the past toward the prevention of disease, and too few of the natural laws of living have been observed by our citizens. Ignorance of the laws of nature results in decreased efficiency and consequent ill health. The stress and strain of modern life is also a contributing factor in producing sickness, and is responsible for much emotional unbalance and nervous trouble. Rapid methods of transit, the use of the automobile and the luxuries available today all play a part in our lowered resistance against disease. Those unfortunate enough to be the victims of some disease condition may trace back the origin of their trouble to incorrect habits of living and eating, and many times, if this is recognized at the beginning of the symptoms, much suffering may be avoided. The battle for health must be fought thinking and a suitable environment. The one who makes a determined effort to follow the laws of life and carries this out, usually wins the battle against disease, in other words, the correct mental outlook and morale will and must conquer.

I have seen many cases which were considered incurable, raise themselves from the depths of despair to radiant good health by sheer force of will and a determination to put up a really good fight for health. Once this goal is reached all that is required is to continue with good living and eating habits in order to maintain health. As I have stated on so many previous occasions, a great deal of sickness and disease is brought about by careless eating, eating too much, eating good food in the wrong combination, and indulging in excesses of the carbohydrates, such as sugars and starches. I suggest that those interested in the battle for health, send for Dr. Frank McCoy's articles entitled, "Habits for Health" also "Good Food Combinations" and the one entitled "Constructing a Menu." Just address your request to the McCoy Health Service, enclosing a large self-addressed envelope and six cents in loose stamps.

Questions and Answers

Question: Mrs. W. L. writes: "My nails are very brittle and break off frequently. What is the cause of this and is there anything I can put on my nails to harden them up."

Answer: The condition which you describe is often due to a calcium deficiency or lack of the minerals necessary to produce firm healthy nails. The best natural food source of calcium is milk. There is no satisfactory preparation which you may apply locally, as the cause is systemic and must be treated accordingly.

Question: Mr. G. O. writes: "I have had bad attacks of rectal hemorrhoids and have been told that an operation is the only way out. Before going ahead, would you give some advice on the matter."

Answer: The meager details you have given in your letter preclude any chance of my giving you a complete answer for your particular case. However, surgery is sometimes indicated and quite successful in this disorder. I would suggest that you have an examination by a doctor who specializes in the use of the injection method, which often saves the use of the knife.

All questions regarding Health and Diet will be answered. Large, stamped self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sleeveless Frock and Bolero

"Having a wonderful time", this sunny style seems to say. It's Pattern 4752 by Anne Adams and the perfect ensemble for vacation wear. The bodice of the sun-frock is soft and bloused, with plenty of roomy freedom. It buttons down the front and has young curved revers. There is an optional suntan cut-out in back, in the form of a triangle. The wide set-in girdle nicely shows off your little waistline, and the flaring two-section skirt may be either street or knee-length. The jaunty short-sleeved bolero makes a useful addition to this style—let it match or contrast. You might make a suntan dress in gay cotton; then attach up another closed-back style in a cool shantung or linen, to wear with the jacket.

Pattern 4752 is available in junior miss sizes 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, and 18. Size 13, street length dress, takes 2¾ yards 35 inch fabric.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

A journey with children is never an easy task.

To be a success, each day of the journey should be carefully planned. It makes little difference whether a journey be by bus, auto, train, boat, or airplane, the chief considerations for the baby or small child are food and water.

Changes of these, along with the natural upset to be expected from constant motion, can bring nothing but trouble. So start your plans with your decision as to how to make the child's formula and his drinking water as nearly uniform as possible.

Fluid canned milk or dried milk offers the best solution, if the journey is to last beyond 24 hours. If less, fortune it a short one, and by train, the baby's own formula can be boiled and cooled and transported in a large glass container which has likewise been boiled and can be kept in the dining car refrigerator. But for longer journeys it is unwise to trust that the formula will remain sweet and usable up to the last meal.

If the baby or child is not used to evaporated or dried milk, it's wise to start one or the other a week or so before leaving home. There then will be no conflict once the journey has begun. However, it isn't unusual for a child to lose his appetite on a trip and later make up for it after being established in motionless surroundings.

Water is the next consideration. It must always be boiled. Put thumbs down on this practice of letting the child make countless journeys to the water cooler, or drink water from every wayside stand. The water may be good enough, but the constant change is apt to upset the child. Water can be so different.

Boil up a sufficient supply before leaving home. Transport it in a tightly-covered glass container which has been boiled. Serve the child this water in a paper cup. It may not be cold, but it will be more thirst-quenching than ice water. And much safer.

If the child is a runabout, you can depend upon the dinner or wayside eating places to provide fruits, vegetables, and packaged cereals. Canned milk can be used to drink. If these don't do it by having stewed vegetables and fruits, carry a supply of those for the journey and depend upon the good nature of the proprietors of eating places to warm the vegetables for baby.

Think everything through carefully, from the meals the child will eat and the changes of clothes and diapers, down to the simple playthings which will brighten the tedium of the trip. Then you may expect the journey to be strenuous, but uneventful.

Our leaflet, "Traveling With Children", suggests other requirements for a comfortable trip. It is available free on request. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, and enclose a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing.

Points For Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Father: "Well agree there is one way in which the world is progressing. The first is celebrated in a more safe and sane way than it was when we were boys."

Father: "I'm going to get some giant firecrackers some place. It makes me mad to have a law denying my son the fun of celebrating the first on I did."

Progress is often impeded by parents who are over-emotional about their own childhood.

Your Figure, Madame!

By IDA JEAN KAIN

The scales and tape are not the only measures of your figure. Weight and proportions may check perfect and still you may have a debutante slouch, dowager's hump and too prominent derriere.

All these unsightly defects can be charged to poor posture. But since the real fault lies with certain groups of weak or lazy muscles, the thing to do is to find out which ones. Like as not, a protruding stomach is caused by muscular weakness in the chest or shoulders or even at the small of the back.

A shelf-like derriere is often the complement to a pronounced curve at the lower spine, rather than the sign of excess hip inched. The trouble with many back may be weakness of the abdominal girdle.

There are a few simple tests for determining which muscles are in blame for this lack of alignment. Here is a good one:

Lie flat on the floor on the back. Stretch the arms straight up on floor overhead with upper arms close against ears. Have the legs straight down. Try to lie so flat that the arms, entire back and legs are in contact with the floor. Now, ask someone to slip her hand under beneath the small of the back. If this can be done, there's your trouble. If you cannot place your arms against the floor, the difficulty is with the chest and shoulders and there is tension in the area of the chest.

Notice how flat your stomach is when you are lying in that position? It should be. The weight of the chest, shoulders and arms has been removed from the abdominal muscles.

Now for the real test: See whether you cannot transfer this relaxed lying position to sitting, standing, working and playing. Your muscles should be strong enough to hold your body in line while you are performing every-day tasks. You can test the strength of your muscles by the following lying-standing test:

Lie flat on your back on the floor, feet unburned, and have someone measure your length. Then stand against a wall in your natural posture, with heels, body and head touching the wall, and measure height. The difference in the two measurements is the amount you slump.

With strong, resilient muscles you won't have any slump or even the suggestion of an extra fat pad at the nape of your neck and there is nothing so slimming to the hipline as good muscular girdling.

Milk And Cheese Vital Part Of Defence Diet

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Milk and cheese contribute important food values in the Canadian diet. They are protein foods that fit right into the main part of the meal. Both are useful in cooking, combined with either cereals or vegetables. Cheese combined with vegetables supplies protein to make a main dish.

PREPARING CHEESE

The first caution in cooking cheese is to keep the temperature low. In fact, cheese should not really be "cooked", but merely heated enough to melt it. Over-heating toughens the cheese and makes it stringy.

When the cheese is used in a baked dish, such as scalloped vegetables or macaroni and cheese, it is best to blend the cheese in the sauce before it is mixed with the other ingredients. Then it is not so likely to become stringy when heated. But be sure to take the sauce off the fire first.

Here is an excellent cheese dish for lunch or supper. Serve it with crisp bacon, a green salad, and some simple fruit dessert.

CHEESE TOAST

(12 to 14 Slices of Bread)

One pound cheese, 1 cup rich milk or cream, 2 tablespoons flour mixed with 2 tablespoons water, 2 eggs, 4 drops tabasco sauce, or a few grains of cayenne pepper, a little onion juice, if desired, 1½ teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons baking powder.

Shave the cheese into thin, small pieces. Heat the milk or cream in a double boiler, thicken with the flour which has been mixed with the water, and cook for 5 minutes. Add the beaten eggs, the cheese, and the seasonings, and cook slowly until the cheese has melted and the mixture is thick and creamy. Allow it to cool; then add the baking powder.

Toast one side of the bread. Spread the cheese mixture thickly on the untoasted side to the very edge. If the cheese mixture does not come to the edges of the bread, they become brown and hard. Brown the cheese delicately under a low broiler flame or in the oven. If desired, place a strip of crisp bacon across each slice of cheese toast. Serve it hot from the oven.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Stewed strawberries, corn bread, honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Cheese toast, crisp bacon, mixed greens salad, sliced fresh peaches, tea, milk.

DINNER: Baked tomatoes, stuffed with spinach and cheese, summer squash, carrots with parsley butter, scalloped potatoes, enriched bread, butter, blackberry cobbler, coffee, milk.

TO PREVENT PAINT RUNNING

To prevent paint from spreading on a mirror, a glass door panel, brass outlet covers, door knobs and such, rub a thin film of glycerine over the areas to be protected before you begin painting. The glycerine will prevent the paint from spreading onto the surfaces thus protected and may easily be removed with water after the paint has dried.

Boys' Work Board Opens Annual Camp At Moonlight Bay

Summer camp of the Edmonton Boys' Work Board under the direction of Hartford Cameron opened Tuesday at Moonlight Bay, Lake Wabamun. A record attendance of 40 boys is reported for the eighth day camp. Thirteen of the campers are from Vegreville, four from Mannville, one from Paradise Valley, and the remainder from Edmonton.

Other leaders in charge of the camp are Cyprian Cyprien, Jack D. McInnis, D. Carr, and Rev. W. H. Huston. Crauford Gray is business manager of the camp, and Ray Payne is cook. Transport from Moonlight bay to the camp is by motor.

Provincial boys' camp at Kasoka Beach, Sylvan Lake, also opened Tuesday, under the direction of George Miles, Alberta boys' work secretary.

Dr. George Tuttle will be the assistant director. Others in charge will be Rev. F. B. Rickes, Bentley; Rev. J. Collet, Taber; Harold Robinson, Calgary; and Arthur Knudsen, Irma.

Fuehrer, Duce In Laugh Acts For Fire Fund

Hitler and Mussolini, dictators extraordinary, in chains and under guard of a brawny Highlander, invaded Mayor John W. Fry's office Saturday morning.

The duo were being dragged through the Civic Block during a canvass for donations to the firemen's tag day in aid of British firefighters, and lagged an ash tief netted many a quarter for the fund.

Hitler and Mussolini signed many of their bombastic qualities during their tour, but always the brawny Highlander had the upper hand and made the "Dictators" jump to his skipping rope.

Cafe Blaze

An overheated motor in the refrigerator caused a small blaze at the Paris cafe, 10070 97 street, at 10:07 p.m. Tuesday. Firemen had the fire extinguished within minutes after they arrived. There was practically no damage.

Assistance For Returned, Crippled Ex-Servicemen Proposed By Speaker

Urging the setting up of properly maintained institutions to govern the return of the crippled ex-serviceman to his normal place in life, W. R. "Bill" Watson, Toronto, journalist, author, traveller and lecturer, was in the city this week in the course of a lecture tour across the western provinces.

Mr. Watson advised Canadians to "keep a civilized attitude to life by remembering always that your troubles are probably fewer than the other fellow's."

Bill Watson is in a position to know. Born without the use of his arms, he refused to allow this handicap to stand in the way of a successful, happy life. His native city was Clydebank, Scotland, and with his parents he moved to Macleod, Alta., in 1911, to attend public and high school. He wrote his lessons by spreading out his books on the floor and holding the pencil between his toes.

UNIVERSITY GRADUATE

With the same stubborn refusal to let his armless state get him down, he went on through University here, graduating in 1926 in the faculty of arts, and in 1928 in law. He had the makings of a brilliant law student, but the call of this up-feeling that it was up to him, in some way, to assist others to overcome similar handicaps to help them maintain a steady and proper perspective. This he has done on both sides of the Atlantic and border, on both sides of the Atlantic. He has worked with big people and small people and everyone will go when he has come in contact has left Bill's company with a new resolve to carry on as best they may, happily.

Mr. Watson addressed the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club Monday in connection with his work and his ideas on rehabilitation.

Bill's feelings with regard to the problem of the crippled ex-soldier are based on his own experiences.

SPECIAL TRAINING

"Special institutions," he says, "should be set up with a teaching personnel specially trained to teach the physically handicapped soldier the proper psychological approach to life under his disability, and to help him readjust himself, both mentally and physically to his handicap and to give him a course in vocational training in what limbs he has left, so that he can go out and earn a living in society, commensurate with his ability."

Mr. Watson believes that if this is done properly, four out of five physically handicapped men can circulate back into normal life and become good tax-paying citizens.

TRAVELS IN TRAILER

Mr. Watson makes his tour with a car and trailer, travelling always with his young wife, Marguerite, who types the manuscripts for his books.

In addition to using his feet for writing, Bill shaves with an electric razor, needs no aid at mealtimes and fills his own pipe and lights it. He can unlock doors, dress himself and is said to be a good hand at bridge. Mrs. Watson says he can do almost anything—except help with the dishes. On few occasions he has driven a car.

882 Recruits Are Enlisted In Army

Total number of new men enlisted in this city since the recruiting drive opened on June 4 was boosted to 882 as a result of holiday activity, according to Lt.-Col. Allan H. Elliott, officer commanding No. 13A District Depot. On first count were sent before medical boards at the Prince of Wales Armory and on Tuesday there were 13.

This marks a considerable drop over the daily average in the last week.

Efforts are being directed toward obtaining the full quota of 35,000 men in the Dominion by July 12. Alberta's quota is 4,100. This city already has made a valuable contribution to the total.

Maj. A. J. Davie, district records officer, M.D. No. 13, Calgary, is a city visitor Wednesday and is holding a muster parade of Garrison troops. He was scheduled to leave Wednesday afternoon for Camrose, where he will muster troops at the Infantry Training Centre.

Activity at the recruiting centre at 101 street and Jasper is continuing and officials there are kept busy answering inquiries and giving information.

A detachment of 33 men arrived at the Prince of Wales Armory Wednesday morning from the Peace River area, where they were recruited by Lt. Col. R. Walter Hale, M.C., officer commanding the 2nd Battalion, Edmonton Regiment (R.C.A.).

They were immediately sent before medical boards and given equipment, bedding and other accessories.

Summer School Opens Thursday

Registration for the joint summer session of the provincial education department and the University of Alberta was in full progress Wednesday. Officials expect that a total of 1,500 students will complete registration. Classes start Thursday.

The summer school sponsored by the department of education gives teachers an opportunity to further their learning, and at the same time qualify for higher teaching certificates. The U. of A. summer session also provides an opportunity for teachers to work towards a university degree.

This year's school differs from previous ones in that university committee asked for accommodation in past years have now been taken over by the R.C.A.F. As a result self-contained buildings have been obliged to find lodging in city homes, apartment blocks and hotels.

Theft Of Cheque, Cash Reported At Bowling Premises

Theft of $10 in cash and an endorsed cheque for $20, belonging to Mrs. R. L. Smith, 11507 95A street, is reported from the club rooms of the Patricia Bowling club green, 95 street, between 4 p.m. and 6.30 p.m., Tuesday.

The cash was stolen from a purse in the kitchen, while the cheque was taken from a small change purse. The cheque was made payable to Murray Smith and signed by R. Mosher. It was made out on the Imperial bank.

Green-Keeper James Bagnell, 11311 96 street, told police he saw a youth leave the club house hurriedly. He said the suspect was about 16 or 17, 5 feet 4 or 5 inches tall, and weighing about 120 pounds. He has sandy hair and was wearing blue overalls with no cap or hat.

Horses Are Given Vaccine Treatment

As a precautionary measure against spread of sleeping sickness among horses in this province, all horses on provincial farms are to be vaccinated it is announced by J. R. Sweeney, deputy minister of agriculture. Although Saskatchewan has reported some cases of this malady, none has been reported here.

Mr. Sweeney said that all horses at the provincial farm at Vermilion have been vaccinated. Treatment has also been given animals at Olds. At Brooks, vaccinations will also be done.

It was estimated that about 50 per cent of the horse population of this province of animals was to be vaccinated last year. Statistics on the degree of immunity thus provided are not yet available.

Rev. J. Wiznuk Leaving Here For Manitoba

Associate minister at All People's Mission, 96 street, for the past five years, Rev. J. Wiznuk left the city Tuesday for Snowflake, Manitoba, where he will have charge of five churches.

Mr. Wiznuk came to Edmonton from Smoky Lake to accept the position at the mission and has specialized in work at the Bissell and Buchanan Institutes. He has been in Alberta for eight years.

Members of the three congregations of the mission entertained recently at Bissell Institute where a farewell party for the minister was held. Rev. J. T. Stephens paid tribute to his work in the city, and a gift was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Wiznuk and their son.

Red Cross Gets $1,350 Through Tag Day In City

Proceeds of the annual Primrose tag day, held by the Junior Red Cross in aid of crippled children on June 21, totalled $1,350.51, it was reported Wednesday. Mrs. Simon Israel convened the tag day as in past years, assisted by Mrs. Fred Marshall, superintendent.

The Red Cross thanks all school children who tagged in districts the girls and women who tagged down town, the members of the committee and the general public for the splendid assistance and response.

Highest taggers for the day were Miss Marjorie Savage, Miss Mollie Rosenberg and Miss Sylvia Rosenberg.

Thousands Enjoy Holiday At Nearby Lake Resorts

Favored by near-ideal weather, Edmontonians Tuesday celebrated Dominion Day in style befitting the significance of the occasion. Scattered showers fell throughout the district, but these were brief and served the dual purpose of laying the dust and keeping the air cool. In the city, thunder was followed by showers between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m., after which skies cleared and Old Sol beamed magnanimously on the holiday-makers.

For the most part the celebrations of the national holiday were of an orderly character. Thousands either went to nearby lakes and other resorts or else took part in various sports events carded in the city.

Main attraction was the South Side sports, which rounded out a three-day program of horse races, track, field and other events staged under the auspices of the South Edmonton Business Men's Association. This event maintained the leading role it has played for many years as a Dominion Day attraction.

Sports events were many and varied. Tennis clubs were going all day. Golf and bowling clubs were unusually active. Swimming pools drew many patrons. Parks were crowded with picnickers.

The annual provincial bicycle championship race over a 25 m.-course was held. There were two baseball games at Renfrew Park. Canoes, rowboats and launches were on the river. Many hikers were seen walking along favorite paths west of Capitol Hill and toward Whitemud.

Fishermen spoo to favorite nooks and corners for a quiet time. Many hiked themselves to the mountains over the Jasper highway and down to the Columbia icefield. There were dances at favorite recreation spots. Many spectators viewed airplanes taking off and landing at the schools along Kingsway. Some visitors viewed huts and equipment at the Edmonton Garrison, although activity was reduced to a minimum over the holiday.

Carnival Of City Leagues On Thursday

Edmonton's Federation of Community Leagues' annual summer carnival will open on Thursday night on the old Tivoli site, on 100 street, just north of Jasper avenue. The carnival will continue Friday and Saturday night.

Proceeds from the Community League welfare fund and to the funds for air raid victims of Britain. A feature of the carnival this year will be the attendance prizes given every hour during each of the three nights.

Canadian Pacific Officials In City

L. B. Unwin, Montreal, vice-president in charge of finance of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is an Edmonton visitor. He was attending Wednesday inspecting air line facilities controlled by the C.P.R., including United Air Service and Yukon Southern Air Transport.

On his trip here he is accompanied by Mrs. Unwin and their daughter, Miss Unwin.

J. N. K. McAllister, Montreal, chief commissioner of the C.P.R. in charge of immigration and colonization, and T. O. Davis, general manager of the Canada Colonization Association, also are in the city.

Anglican Church Has Annual Fete At Borden Park

Members of St. Stephen's Anglican church Sunday school held their annual picnic at Borden Park on Saturday. Mrs. J. Swaffield was in charge of the picnic, and H. Allen organized and conducted the games and sports.

Winners were: Foot race, girls, 11 and over, Teresa Caron; boys, 11 and over, Roland Wright. Bobbie Baker, John Henderson; girls, 8 to 11, Rita Caron, Joyce Donaldson, Margaret Bacon; boys, 8 to 11, David Benton, Lincoln Benton, Allen Hadley; boys and girls under 8, Keith White, Shirley Donaldson, Laurie Hall.

Sack race: Boys, Norman and Malcolm Hadley, Roland Wright and Leonard Udrick, Teddie Patterson and John Henderson; girls, Teresa Caron and Joyce Donaldson, Cecilia Henderson and Edna Patterson, Loretta Henderson and Africia Higginson.

Three-legged race: Boys, Norman and Malcolm Hadley, John Henderson and Teddie Patterson, David Benton and Bobbie Baker; girls, Edna Patterson and Cecilia Henderson, Ivy Belcher and Joyce Donaldson, Africia Higginson and Margaret Koyich.

Tug-o-war: Girls' team, Mrs. Koyich's team, Teresa Caron's team and Miss Hall's team. The tug-o-war was won by the girls.

Adjournment Given On Training Count

Charges of failing to report for military training against Gunnard A. Holm and Henry Ankerstein, both of Calmar district, were adjourned until Friday of this week by Magistrate Lee Wednesday afternoon. An application for bail was refused.

Holm asked if the two might be permitted to see their parents in private. They were told their parents might see them at any time at the R.C.M.P. barracks where they are being held.

Superintendent Of City Market Retires

After 23 years of civic service, Edgar Kendall, superintendent of city market, retired on vacation Monday and will leave shortly for the Pacific Coast where he intends to make his home.

He will be succeeded by C. J. Ingram, superintendent of the civic employment service. Mr. Ingram will continue also in the city employment office in addition to superintending the market.

Monday Mr. Kendall was bid "Godspeed" by the regular renters of space in the city market and by civic officials with whom he has been so long associated.

Boy Is Injured

Suffering a dislocated toe when playing around the merry-go-round at the South Side Athletic grounds on Monday afternoon, Ronald William, 9, of 6813 16(b) street, was treated in the city hospital. According to a police report the child had removed a belt from the machinery and his foot was caught in the equipment.

Rudolf Zavadil, of 12206 54 street, secretary of the Czecho-Slovakian Legion in Edmonton, has received word that his brother, Jaraslav Zavadil, pilot with the Royal Squadron of the R.A.F., has been killed in operations against German bombers, over England. He was a member of the Czech air force for several years.

Enjoy Holiday In B.C.

Harrison Hot Springs Ideal Vacation Spot

With the salt, sea breezes from the mighty Pacific lending zest to every breath, the pleasures of sailing aboard ships, launches or sailing craft, as well as boating and sports in the setting of the beautiful mountains, British Columbia offers one of Canada's prize vacations.

The Spa of Canada, at Harrison Hot Springs, British Columbia, offers facilities for the enjoyment of vacation pleasures and health recuperation under conditions comparable with many of the famous spas of Europe.

Without leaving their home shores, Canadian and American travellers alike may benefit from the richly mineralized hot spring waters of this premier spa of the Pacific Northwest, administered under supervision of a highly skilled personnel.

IMPRESSIVE GRANDEUR

They may enjoy the services of a modern yet charmingly old-world hotel amidst surroundings of impressive grandeur — snow-peaked mountains, verdant wooded slopes, a 45-mile island-studded lake—a tranquil scene, cool, evergreen and peaceful at any time of year.

Here also they may enjoy the fullness of fine living . . . the cuisine is directed by expert chefs and food preparation and cooking is an art.

If your "perfect vacation" is to indulge your favorite sport under ideal conditions, Harrison Hot Springs Hotel is the ideal holiday headquarters. Here conditions are as near perfect as the beneficence of nature and the art of man can devise.

On this 700-acre private estate the well-kept tennis courts and badminton courts are flanked by rose-decked pergolas; bowling and croquet lawns are set in the lovely 20-acre English landscaped gardens; beautiful Harrison lake, 45 miles long, invites supreme enjoyment of sailing, speed-boating and day-long motor-launch trips; swimming on private beach; fighting, big trout (in season) challenge the ardent angler's skill; cool, green woodland trails, mile on mile, afford a never-ending delight for the riding enthusiast and the hiker; a first class sporty nine-hole course provides a perfect morning's golf.

Between times, and especially before dinner, enjoy your favorite apéritif or refresher at the smart clubhouse. Then, after dark, dancing in the ballroom or musical entertainment in the spacious lounge.

Luxury Hotel 'Midst Lake, Woodland, Mountain Scenery.

Sailing, Fishing, Motor Boating on Harrison Lake.

Play Golf, Tennis, Lawn Bowls, Ride or Hike the Trails.

Take Spa Waters and Baths, Swim in Hot Springs Pool.

If you enjoy meeting interesting people, discussing affairs, getting a new slant on current problems, you should make Harrison Hot Springs Hotel your vacation headquarters. This premier Spa of the Pacific Northwest is frequently host to royal and distinguished travellers from many countries, who come to enjoy British Columbia's magnificent lake-and-mountain scenery while taking their ease and perhaps a course of hydrotherapeutic treatments . . . At this versatile resort your holiday may be quiet or gay, active or leisurely. Besides the various sports on land and water, there are dancing and music, licensed club-house, indoor hot springs swimming pool and a complete Spa establishment under highly qualified physician and staff.
